'NOT READY TO DIE'

Veteran Of War Rebuilt In Agony

By PAT ANGLE

It may be the most difficult battles of the Vietnam War are fought, not on the field, but in hospital rooms and homes throughout the U.S. where badly wounded men struggle to repair shattered bodies and interrupted lives.

A case in point is Bernard (Bernie) Pietrosilli, a pleasant, athletic-looking young man who lives in Corte Madera. The large cast on his leg could easily be the result of a football or basketball injury. But is isn't.

It's the result of one terrible day in Vietnam which ended when Army doctors gave the 24-year-old Army captain up for dead. The doctors were mistaken.

"I guess I just wasn't ready to die," said Pietrosilli. "There are too many things I want to do in life, too many places in the world I haven't seen."

When he reached Long Binh hospital— after the rescue helicopter which was carrying the already wounded man out of the battle zone was shot down—his chances looked grim. In addition to a skull fracture, broken hip, pelvis, leg and jaws, Pietrosilli had a collapsed lung and several shrapnel wounds throughout his body. He had lost a lot of blood and his strength was ebbing fast.

Two days later, he awoke to find he could not see or hear. His jaws were wired shut and he was breathing through a tube in his throat. The pain, especially in his right leg, was "pretty bad."

"I thought I was going to die, but I just couldn't resign myself to the fact," he recalls. To keep up his morale, he said he thought of his fiancee, a Los Angeles teacher, and of the children they would have.

For as long as he can remember Pietrosilli, a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and the University of San Francisco, has wanted to be a father "with two or three children." As he lay critically injured, he remembers thinking over and over about those future children, "what they would look like — little red-haired kids — and the fun we would have together." The young captain attributes his survival to those thoughts.

Even after he was off the critical list, the future of his leg, or what was left of it, was still in doubt. In addition to an infection, a four-inch portion of the leg was without bone or the artery which carries blood to the foot.

Doctors in Long Binh wanted to amputate immediately, but decided to wait until he returned to the U.S. At Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco, 14 doctors agreed the leg must go; only one doctor held out—because he thought he detected a faint pulse in the foot.

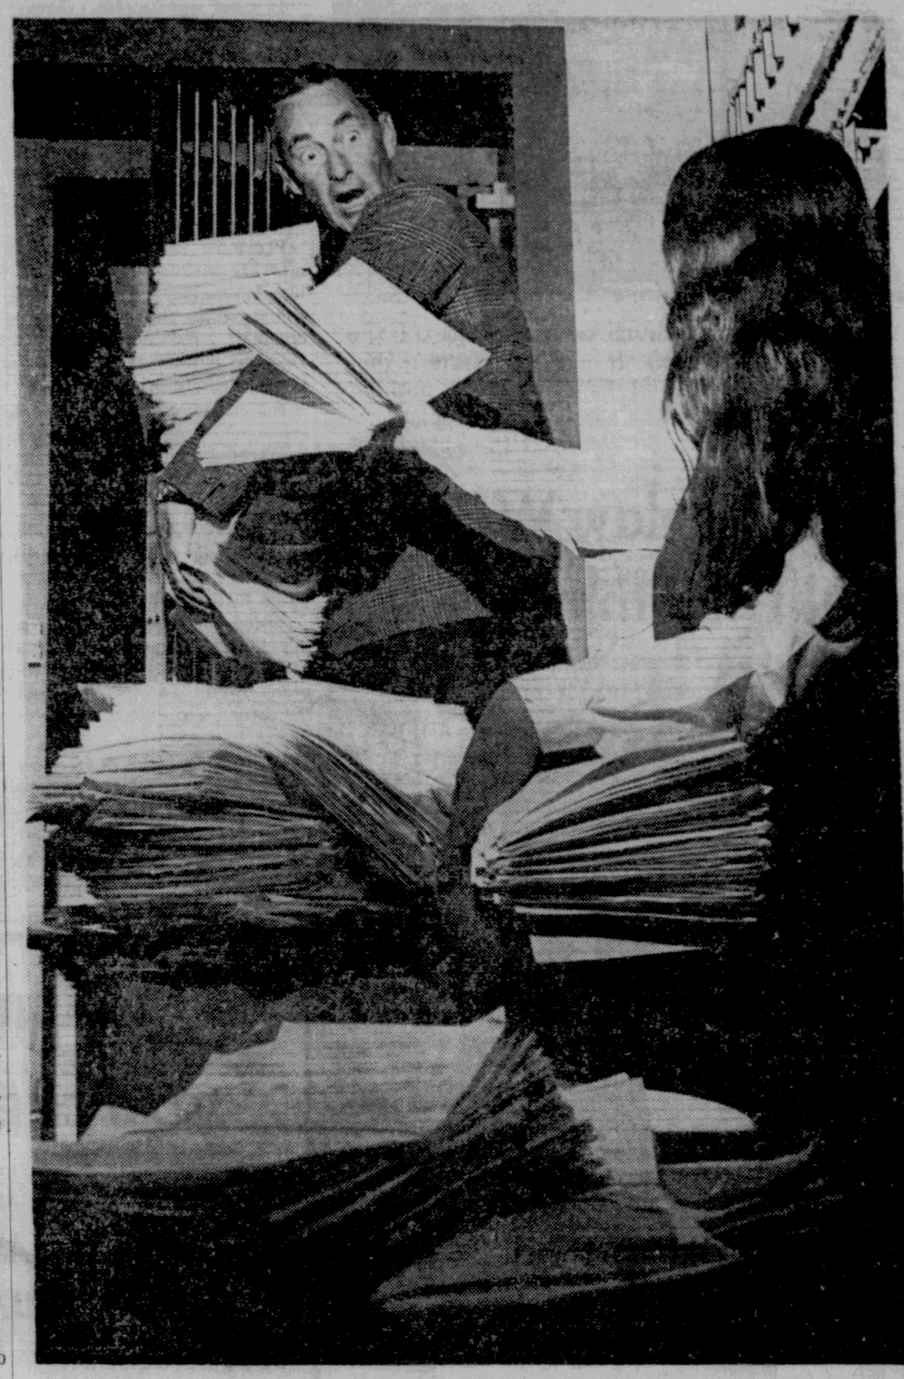

It was a big gamble, but one which appears to be paying off. Pietrosilli still has his leg and doctors are hoping the bone will grow back. Veins in the leg appear to be carrying blood to his foot "I can move my toes now and it's a great sight.") and the infection is beginning to heal.

The outcome is still uncertain, and there have been times when he wished doctors had taken it off, especially when the missing artery meant no pain-killers could reach the injured limb.

Pietrosilli is no stranger to bravery on the battlefield, either. He has received two Purple Hearts and the Bronze and Silver stars.

A Vietnam volunteer ("I felt at the time our country had a committment there"), he spent two months in Japan recovering from a leg wound received in November 1968, two months after he first arrived in the war-

GOOD HEAVENS! MORE?

Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, chairman of Save Our Seashore, and volunteer Betty Prange of Tiburon struggle with some 10,000 petitions bearing more than 250,000 signatures asking President Richard M. Nixon to spend $38 million to complete Point Reyes National Seashore. Behr and Miss Prange dug the petitions out of a San Rafael bank vault today to ready them for shipment to the White House. With about 58,000 petitions still circulating, Behr expects to reach SOS's goal of a million signatures. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Cong Open Heavy Fire Around Saigon

Attacks Most Severe On Outposts In 18 Months

SAIGON (AP) — An estimated 100 Viet Cong guerrillas assaulted government outposts defending Saigon early today for the first time in 18 months, while other enemy forces made 68 rocket and mortar attacks across the country.

The shelling was the heaviest in more than two months. The South Vietnamese military commander for Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces said the sharply stepped up attacks marked the beginning of the enemy's winter campaign. His American counterpart said, "I don't think he's going to get very far with it."

Most of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon or in the central highlands. Casualties included two Americans killed, six wounded, three Vietnamese civilians killed and 20 civilians and 18 soldiers wounded.

Viet Cong guerrillas attacked two outposts manned by South Vietnamese combat police on the southern fringe of Saigon with AK47 rifles and hand-fired rockets shortly after midnight. The posts are about a mile apart.

There apparently was no attempt to infiltrate into the city, as earlier reports had indicated; instead the mission was to destroy the outposts, and it did not succeed, although the posts were lightly defended.

One South Vietnamese combat policeman was killed and seven were wounded. The bodies of three barefoot guerrillas dressed in black pajamas were found alongside one of the posts. Five assault rifles and one rocket launcher were found nearby.

It appeared the Viet Cong were local force guerrillas who live in the swamps on the southern edges of the city. The attack was typical of the Viet Cong guerrilla warfare during the early 1960s.

Government forces made no apparent attempt to pursue the guerrillas, but outposts were reinforced.

Meanwhile, about 150 North Vietnamese soldiers attacked a South Vietnamese militia outpost 30 miles northwest of Saigon and six miles from the Cambodian border early today. Headquarters said 84 enemy soldiers were killed, 50 of them by American helicopter gunships and artillery, while South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and nine wounded.

Ferry To Set Sail Monday

Commuters who prefer traveling to San Francisco by ferry can abandon their cars Monday and return to the water.

The long-awaited return of the ferryboats will begin with a 7 a.m trip from Tiburon in the first of a 90-day experiment by the Golden Gate Gridge and Highway District, approved a week ago.

The ferry has been idle since June 4 when crews went on strike.

Fares for ferry service will be 75-cents one way and $1.50 round trip, Dale W. Luehring, bridge general manager said. Prior to the strike, fares were 80 cents one way and $1.50 round trip, with a commuee rate of 67.5 cents one way. The bridge district will not have commute rates.

The schedule effective beginning Monday includes three trips each morning and four each evening Mondays through Fridays, except holidays.

The ferry will leave Tiburon at 7, 8:30, and 10 a.m. for the 35-minute trip to the San Francisco Ferry Building. Evening trips will leave the ferry building at 2:30, 4, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. Luehring said.

Nixon War Effort Pushed In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today he hopes for prompt Senate action on a resolution supporting President Richard M. Nixon's Vietnam peace efforts and calling for a mutual cease-fire.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who joined Scott in introducing the resolution, said, however, "It's not going to be pushed," but will be considered by the foreign relations committee as part of a broad review of the Vietnam situation.

The Scott-Mansfield resolution, which may be cosponsored by as many as half the senators, is similar to a proposal pushed through the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday. It differs in one provision added at Mansfield's behest, which "requests the President to call upon the government of North Vietnam to join in a proclamation of a mutual cease fire."

"It seems to me," Mansfield told the Senate, "that the way to stop the bloodshed is to take the initiative to try to stop it now, if at all possible, by a mutual cease-fire."

Scott told reporters the resolution "was suggested to me by several senators, not the White House" and added "it would be my desire to have it acted upon as promptly as possible."

Both Mansfield and Scott previously have proposed cease-fires, but without specifying they should be "mutually observed."

Mansfield said last Oct. 2 he thought the United States should adopt an immediate standfast and cease-fire policy in which U.S. troops would shoot back only when attacked. The Montana Democrat has suggested the war just may fade away if the United States doesn't stir it up.

While he has been mildly critical, Mansfield also has urged that Congress and the people give Nixon their backing.

Speaking of Nixon's efforts to end the war, Mansfield said in the Oct. 2 interview: "He sure as hell wants out. He is just finding the ways and means difficult."

Scott made what appeared to be a proposal for a unilateral cease-fire in Vietnam last month. But after the idea was denounced by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Scott issued another statement saying that he intended to propose a mutual cease-fire.

Turnips, Talk Aimed At College

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin Junior College District trustees were rapped last night by community representatives who called for strong leadership and a halt to disruptive behavior by students.

The criticism came in the aftermath of a tumultous session three weeks ago when angry students shouted, cursed and swept papers from the board table.

Olney Hall was nearly filled last night, with about 350 persons, mostly county residents and students, who vigorously expressed opposing views but aside from a few shouts and some gavel rapping, it was comparatively calm. (Another Marin Junior College board story, page 5.)

The explosive potential of the session was dampened at the outset when Board President Robert E. Rogers explained the board wouldn't be taking up the cases of four suspended students or the financial aid program, which has sparked previous student outbursts.

Appeals by suspended students are still being considered by committee, and the I-J erred in reporting that a decision would be made last night, he said.

For security purposes, entry to Olney Hall was by a back door and two law enforcement officers were stationed near the main entrance.

Rogers advised that law enforcement officers would be summoned if necessary to insure that the meeting would be completed.

Community representatives lit into the board in one breath, but pledged support to improve conditions in the next breath.

Members of the Irate Taxpayers of Marin held up placards reading, "We've Had It. . .We Work for Our Turnips, Do You?" and "You Can't Get Blood Out of a Turnip," and laid a bag of turnips on the board table.

Eric Lane of the Irate Taxpayers read a resolution calling for trustees to "take immediate action, in the name of the taxpayers, to regain control of the College of Marin or resign forthwith."

From the Marin County Real Estate Board came a resolution asking trustees to "take more definitive steps to put a stop to the objectionable actions on the part of a few," and enact a specific program for administering campus discipline.

The realty board also suggested that a committee be established to seek solutions "to legitimate campus problems" and make recommendations to trustees, and it pledged to assist.

"It is our observation that a very small group of dissident students, nonstudents and faculty have been allowed to interrupt normal educational processes," said Robert A. Roumiguiere, president of the realty board.

". . .The repulsive manner of conduct on the part of a few has been allowed far too long on the College of Marin campus. We suggest it is high time that the board of trustees and the administration take definite steps to eliminate the types of actions which the majority of students, faculty and people in the community find so objectionable."

Then came a letter from the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce saying, "We feel that the board of trustees hasn't guaranteed to the majority of students their right to an education in an orderly atmosphere, and have therefore possibly lost the confidence of the community."

The Jaycees too pledged to aid the trustees, administration and students "in any positive action to improve existing conditions."

George V. Oliva, president of the College of Marin Alumni Board, presented a list of criticisms from the alumni association, which charged that the board "has been lax in providing a definitive policy which is necessary to provide adequate leadership."

Oliva said the committee system of the college "is totally inadequate to provide any realis-

College President Is Named

Grasham will succeed Louis H. Herkenhoff, acting superintendent-president, who has been filling the top post at a salary of $23,058 since William K. Ramstad resigned in April 1968. Ramstad received $26,100.

Trustee Charles W. Gray chairman of the screening committee, said a score of candidates were interviewed before Grasham was recommended, ending a search that lasted more than nine months.

Trustees authorized a contract extending until June 30, 1973, and Gray said he hoped that Grasham would start by January.

He was dean of instruction at Los Angeles Harbor College from 1958 until 1967.

From 1948 to 1958, he had worked at Los Angeles City College starting as a speech instructor and later serving as assistant dean of instruction and acting dean of special instruction.

He holds a bachelor's degree from Arizona State College, and a master's degree and doctorate from the University of Southern California.

Before entering the educational field, Grasham was an announcer and writer for radio station KTAR in Phoenix, Ariz., from 1939-42.

He is the co-author of "Improving Your Speech," a former director of the California Junior Rainfall readings for the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today were: Sausalito, .05 of an inch; Mill Valley, .26; Tamalpais Valley, .32; Bolinas, 12; Tiburon, traces, and Petaluma, .20.

A total of .21 of an inch fell on downtown San Rafael in a 24-hour period which ended at noon.

Chicago Court Denies Bobby Seale Bond

CHICAGO (AP) — Judge Julius J. Hoffman denied bond today to Bobby G. Seale, chairman of the Black Panther party, pending his appeal of a contempt judgment.

The judge described Seale as a "dangerous man," and said it would be "gross error to permit him to be free on bail."

Mississippi Told Desegregate Now

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court, rejecting a Justice Department plea for delay, has told 30 Mississippi school districts to prepare now to desegregate by Dec. 31.

"When we say you have to get started immediately, that is what we mean—tomorrow," said Judge Griffin B. Bell of Atlanta during a conference yesterday with the district school superintendents.

The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judges gave the superintendents a rough outline of what they must do and said the official orders would be issued today.

For the most part, districts were told to follow guidelines laid down for them last Aug. 11 by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

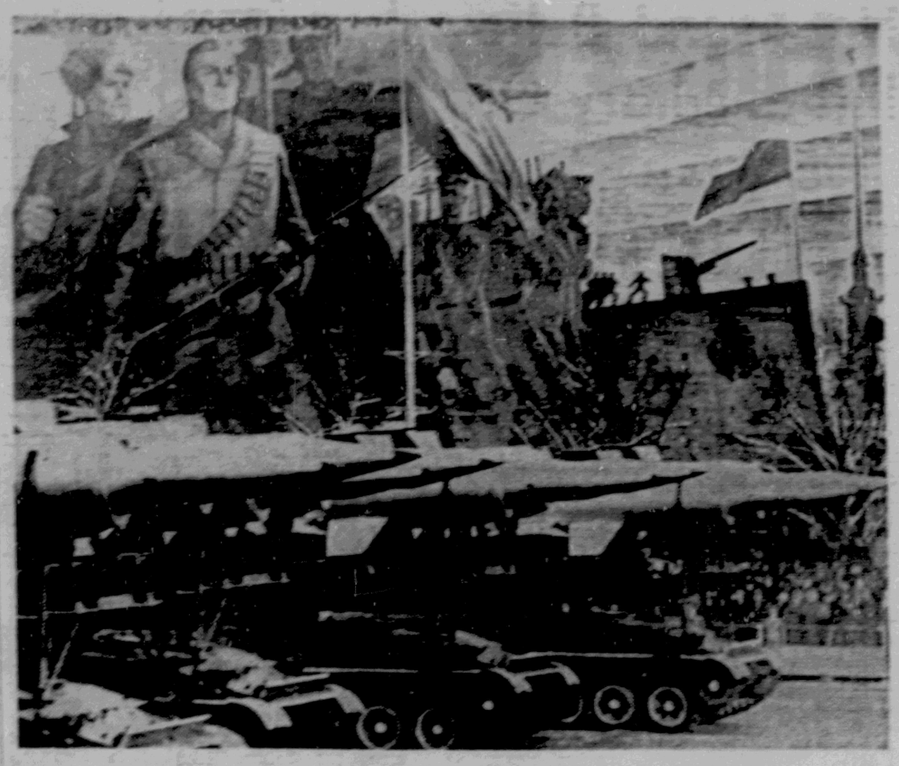

A Justice Department proposal that the appeals court delay a little longer to enable the school boards to draw up their own desegregation plans, with HEW assistance, was rejected.

The Supreme Court, in a decision Oct. 22, ordered immediate desegregation of the districts.

Judge Bell, the spokesman for the three-judge appeals court panel, stressed that school officials should begin the reassignment of pupils and faculty, the revamping of school bus routes and other services and facilities as soon as the formal order is issued.

By Dec. 31, the judge said, the plans should be in complete operation.

"I think it will be impossible to implement the plan by the Dec. 31 deadline," said Supt. A.R. Koon of Noxubee County. "I seriously doubt we can continue public education as they have presented it here in this court."

U.S. Plans Freedom Airplanes For Asians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to produce as many as 325 relatively inexpensive, easy-to-fly fighter aircraft for Asian allies including South Vietnam over the next five or six years.

Officials yesterday reported this is the foreseeable demand for the new jet as Sen. J. W. Fulbright attacked the program as "backdoor foreign aid."

The plane would go not only to South Vietnam but also to South Korea, Formosa and other countries eligible for U.S. military aid, Pentagon officials said.

Many would be sold but an unspecified number of others also would be given away under the aid program, they said.

Fulbright chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the Pentagon's proposed development of the plane implies the United States expects to be involved in Southeast Asia "for a good many years to come."

Fulbright sharply criticized the plan as a Senate-House conference group completed action on a $20.7 billion military procurement bill containing $28 million for the aircraft.

The Pentagon put in a request for development funds for the plane earlier this year at the suggestion of Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Although the design has not been chosen, Pentagon officials expect the plane to follow or be a revamped version of the Northrop-produced F5 "Freedom Fighter," the standard American giveaway plane which more than a dozen countries have received over past years.

The F5, similar to the Air Force's T38 supersonic trainer, has been popular among the smaller nations because it is not laden with complicated electronics gear requiring intensive training.

Defense Costs Critics Plot New Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate defense costs critics are plotting new drives to cut arms spending, including curbing the Safeguard antimissile system, despite their largely unsuccessful efforts with the $20.7 billion military procurement authorization bill.

Leaders of the bipartisan coalition opposing the administration's missile defense proposal began laying their latest plans even before yesterday's 58-9 Senate vote sent the compromise procurement bill to the White House.

Their new target is the $70 billion-plus defense appropriations measure scheduled for consideration next month.

But the efforts to amend the money bill by limiting Safeguard funds to research could be hampered by pressures to end the year-long congressional session and adjourn for the Christmas holidays.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., announced the plans to make new assaults not only on the Safeguard but on other items in the appropriations measure.

"We do expect to make a fight to cut substantial amounts when the military appropriations bill comes before us," he told the Senate.

President Richard M. Nixon is expected to sign within the next few days the authorization measure that drew some criticism during a three-hour final debate Thursday. The House approved it in just a few minutes by voice vote Wednesday.

Reds Display Weapon Might, Nothing New

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government put on another display of missile might in Red Square today for the 52nd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, but Western military experts said they spotted no new weapons.

Defense Minister Andrei Grechko, in his annual address preceding the parade, echoed a new tough line toward the United States by accusing it of "aggression" in Vietnam. It was his only attack on the United States, however.

The military display has been virtually the same for the past four years. U.S. intelligence has reported the existence of new, more powerful Soviet missiles, including the SS9 which can carry up to 25 times the explosive power of America's Minuteman. Western experts said obviously the latest and most lethal Soviet weapons were kept out of the Red Square show for security reasons.

Grechko did not mention the United States or Vietnam at the ceremony last year, when the Kremlin apparently was trying to get off to a good start with the incoming Nixon administration.

The new line was illustrated at a Kremlin reception last night by President Nikolai Podgorny. He accused President Richard M. Nixon of taking "nonconstructive" positions on problems discussed with Moscow, and he expressed particular disappointment with U.S. policy toward Vietnam.

"The whole world now sees the hopelessness of the aggression of ruling circles of the United States of America in Vietnam," Grechko said today.

"Imperialism is undertaking frenzied attempts to prolong its existence. It tries by any means to slow down the development of the countries of the Socialist community and the world workers and national liberation movements."

The marshal assured the Soviet people that their government "is showing constant concern for strengthening our country's defense might. The gains of the October Revolution and the cause of peace and socialism are reliably protected by our glorious armed forces, which are equipped with first-class arms."

Grechko made no attack on Communist China, and Podgorny said the night before that the Kremlin hopes the Soviet-Chinese border talks now going on on Peking "will favor further normalization of relations" between the two Communist powers.

Senate Votes Credit Report Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed without dissent a bill to protect consumers against arbitrary and erroneous credit reports.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chief sponsor of the bill, hailed its passage yesterday as "the biggest consumer victory this year" in Congress.

The measure now goes to the House where sponsors of similar legislation said the subject would be considered in the banking committee later this year or early in 1970.

Any House floor action will not come before next year, they said.

Proxmire said credit ratings now are maintained on 110 million Americans and that the bill would for the first time give individuals a federally guaranteed right to correct false information in their files.

The measure should "prevent consumers from being unjustly damaged because of inaccurate or arbitrary information," the senator said.

During committee hearings on the bill last spring, senators heard witnesses charge erroneous credit reports had cost them jobs and ruined their careers.

One witness told of a case where a credit rating company had circulated an extremely unfavorable report about a man based on information provided by a known crank and never verified by the firm.

Missile Fired

VANDERBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A Minuteman I intercontinental ballistic missile was launched from this seaside base at 11 p.m. yesterday in what the Air Force termed a routine test operation.

A spokesman said preliminary indicatios were that the launch was successful and the missle went on course down the Western Test Range.

Base's Importance

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato indicated today that if the Vietnam War continues after Okinawa is returned to Japan, expected in 1972, the island base could continue to play a major support role in the conflict.

Sato will begin talks Nov. 19 in Washington with President Nixon on the return of Okinawa, which the United States has governed since 1945, and the status afterward of the island's huge U.S. military bases.

Sato told American correspondents he is confident he and Nixon can "settle to the satisfaction of both parties" the question of Okinawa's future place in the American security system in the Western Pacific.

Closing Hospital

TOKYO (AP) — The U.S. Army is closing a hospital for Vietnam War casualties that triggered demonstrations and violence when it opened in a Tokyo suburb 20 months ago.

An Army spokesman said the $3 million Camp Oji hospital will be deactivated by Dec. 31 because of the Defense Department's program to cut back military spending overseas.

Injured Slightly

Gorton Reelected

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Prime Minister John Gorton overcame two challengers today to win reelection as leader of the Liberal Party and assurance that he will remain head of the government.

Voting by secret ballot, the 65 Liberal members of the Senate and House of Representatives chose Gorton over Treasurer William McMahon and Minister for National Development David E. Fairbairn. The vote was not announced, but reliable sources said Gorton got 34 votes to a total of 31 for his opponents.

Gorton told a news conference that he believed the new coalition cabinet he will form with the Country Party will be able to carry on in unity and grow in strength.

Subjects Want To Keep Their Queen

Officials Ignoring Violence Report?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials who refused to issue a permit for a mass march to protest the Vietnam war admit they have not read a report contending a similar rejection helped trigger violence during the 1968 Democratic convention.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said again Thursday the government would not allow a march of t housands along Pennsylvania Avenue and around the White House Nov. 15 because of "a substantial likelihood of serious violence."

Although the National Violence Commission reported earlier this year Daley's permit refusal was a key factor in confrontations that followed, both Kleindienst and a key aide, John W. Dean III, said they were unfamiliar with the findings.

But Kleindienst added the decision to bar a mass march was a "collective decision of the executive branch of government," including President Richard M. Nixon, made in accordance with facts and circumstances as they exist in Washington, D.C.," and "not necessarily in relation to Chicago."

Ron Young, an official of the New Mobilization Committee to end the War in Vietnam, coordinator of next week's activities, said the group would continue efforts to obtain a permit.

There "is a possibility," he said, the committee will attempt a mass parade to the White House even if the government stands by its decision to forbid the march.

Kleindienst, the Justice Department's No. 2 official, acknowledged the New Mobilization Committee had pledged to keep the demonstration peaceful.

But some "pro-violence groups," he said, "are seeking to infiltrate the mass march'.' He identified only the militant Weatherman section of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Dean added: "In fairness to the New Mobe committee, they have not brought under their umbrella any one known to have been involved in violent activity."

New Mobe spokesmen, meanwhile, disputed Kleindienst's predictions of violence, claiming the charge was made to frighten would-be participants.

Congressman Blasts Phone Rates Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman says a government-business decision to cut interstate long distance telephone rates could end up costing phone users more, not less.

Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., says he may try to block what he called an "outrageous deception" by the Federal Communications Commission and the giant American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

AT&T said Wednesday it had reached agreement with the FCC to cut its interstate phone rates by nearly $240 million starting early next year. At the same time, the FCC said it would allow the company to boots its profits from the present 7 or 7.5 per cent to 8 or 8.5 per cent.

Bingham charged in a speech yesterday to the House that AT&T will use the FCC ruling to win approval of pending rate increases in 16 states and the District of Columbia to more than make up for the cut in interstate rates.

Requested rate increases for New York State alone would, if approved, bring in $175 million in added revenues, Bingham said. And, if the increases for local rates in the other states are approved, it would increase the figure to at least $300 million, he said.

The FCC's authority is limited to interstate service. Local rates are governed by the individual states.

Seal Drive Sets Kickoff

The 1969 Christmas Seal drive will open in Marin Tuesday at a kickoff luncheon to be held in Greenbrae for directors of the drive.

Jerry Jensen of San Anselmo, KGO television newscaster and honorary Marin chairman, will speak on "Cigarettes and TV: A Progress Report" at the lunch in the office of the Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Goal for this year's campaign is to raise $5,614 more than last year's total of $56,137, announced Dr. Joseph J. Alderson, campaign chairman.

Additional funds are needed to finance accelerated efforts to eradicate tuberculosis in California, to increase services offered by the outpatient clinic for chronic respiratory diseases financed by the drive and to step up the fight against air pollution and cigarette smoking, he said.

Ho Friend Believed Intermediary On Note

WASHINGTON (AP) — A World War II French resistance hero who was a close friend of the late Ho Chi Minh appears to be the secret intermediary who conveyed President Richard M. Nixon's peace initiative to the North Vietnamese President in July.

U.S. officials indicate he is Jean Sainteny, a private citizen now but once Gen. Charles de Gaulle's minister of veterans affairs and a French government expert on Indochina, which includes Vietnam.

During World War II Sainteny headed a French intelligence unit operating from Kunming in the south of China into Indochina. At that time he was serving through M-5, the British military intelligence system.

Last September it was Sainteny who represented France at the funeral services in Hanoi for Ho.

In his Vietnam policy speech last Monday, President Nixon said that in mid-July he became convinced it was necessary to make a major move to break the deadlock in the Paris talks.

"I spoke directly with an individual who had known Ho Chi Minh on a personal basis for 25 years," said the President. "Through him I sent a letter to Ho Chi Minh."

Nixon said he did this outside the usual diplomatic channels with the hope it might lead to constructive progress in bringing the war to an end.

While there was no official confirmation that Sainteny is the man Nixon turned to for relaying his message to Ho, officials indicate Sainteny was approached by the administration in late July.

The answer signed by Ho, which in effect rejected the peace bid, was received Aug. 30, only a few days before Ho's death was reported.

It was not the first time Sainteny had been used by a government to bridge the gap between Hanoi and the West.

When World War II ended Sainteny was ordered to return to Indochina as soon as possible to re-establish French rule.

He was reported frustrated by what he considered a deliberate maneuver by the United States, Britain and Nationalist China to prevent the French return.

He has been quoted as writing "at the present time the allied attitude is more harmful than the Vietminh (the independence movement)." It was during this period that Sainteny and Ho established a close friendship.

On Feb. 28, 1946, Sainteny and Ho signed an agreement under which France recognized the Republic of Vietnam as a free nation but still a member of the Indochinese Federation and the French Union.

Demos Launch Control Drive

FRESNO (AP) — California Democrats, hitting hard on the war and economy issues, launched a drive today to oust Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and recapture control of the Legislature in 1970.

The party's prospective candidates, statewide leaders and grass roots representatives gathered for a two-day "Project '70" conference to set down the issues for next year's campaign.

The highlight will be a panel discussion tomorrow featuring the two major gubernatorial prospects, San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse M. Unruh. Likely U.S. Senate candidates also will participate.

Sabin Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Albert B. Sabin, developer of the oral vaccine against infantile paralysis, was awarded the Walter Reed medal of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene at the organization's annual meeting last night.

LONG HOURS — Bernard Pietrosilli, wounded Corte Madera Vietnam veteran, studies Russian to help fill the time necessary for recovery. Doctors estimate it will be more than a year before Pietrosilli's leg, which doctors originally wanted to amputate, will be healed. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Vietnam Veteran Rebuilt In Agony

torn Asian country, then asked to be sent back.

Pietrosilli went back, this time not because of his convictions about the war, but because "I wanted to get back my men; we trusted each other and I thought maybe I could do more for them than another officer."

Despite his terrible experiences (he was wounded the second time when South Vietnamese soldiers mistakenly fired on his platoon, killing 10 of his men and wounding 27) Pietrosilli is bitter about only one thing.

He is very angry with President Richard M. Nixon for not "spending at least a half hour" to visit wounded men at Letterman when he came to San Francisco Aug. 21 to meet with the South Korean president.

The word was out at the hospital that Nixon was coming, and according to Pietrosilli, "the boys were all very excited: they spruced up and waited." But they waited in vain, because the President never showed up. "He had time to go to parties, ride the cable cars and play golf, but not enough to visit these kids, many of them without arms and legs," he said angrily. "It was so demoralizing; some of the men even had tears in their eyes when they realized he wasn't coming."

A high point of his hospital stay was his Oct. 15 visit and lunch with Gov. Ronald Reagan's wife, Nancy, whom Bernie termed "almost fascinating and charming woman—she even called Jeanne (Jeanne Moran, his fiancee) to tell her how I was doing."

He is hopful the United States will not become involved in any more wars like Vietnam ("I think we learned our lesson there"). He doesn't want his children to go through what he has had to face. But if he manages to keep his leg, the captain is thinking of making a career of the Army, perhaps training young recruits, because "I've always enjoyed working with young people and would like to teach."

Meanwhile, the captain is practicing the courage it takes to endure uncertainty and the long, tedious months of recovery, especially difficult for a man so active.

He alternates between Letterman and the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Pietrosilli of 1441 Casa Buena Drive. He spends his time listening to music on his tape recorder, reading, writing letters and planning for his Feb. 14 wedding. Still, time hangs pretty heavy.

Public Factions Urge Tighter College Rules

tic line of authority or direction," and the board should strenghen the position of the president.

"For the administration to create a haven from civil authorities is clearly a mistake in judgement," Oliva said. "Any time that our law enforcement agencies do not have access to public property is an unbelievable situation."

Student speakers contended that any disruptive behavior was a reaction to conditions created by the community.

Showmanship by the students was limited to a few wearing what might best be described as "street play" costumes, one with his head covered with white bandages and wearing dark glasses.

Brigardo Groves, one of four students suspended for disrupting the last board session, said students didn't arrive then with the intent to disrupt the meeting.

The students, were seeking food, shelter and books and "all this was ignored and we felt intimidated," he contended. "People are too quick to put up defenses," he said.

He asked the residents "to listen to any and every side," and added, "if you'd listen, we wouldn't have to get nasty. We know what wakes you up."

Student Harry Gilbert felt there was a lack of understanding on the part of the community, and he invited residents to visit the campus.

Student Dan Lochman said "education has never been disrupted on this campus, and we don't throw typewriters out of windows."

The students take their gripes to the board, Lochman said.

There were laughs and guffaws when one resident told of hearing a rumor of sexual activity on the "College of Marin lawn with 200 students standing there."

Several students groaned and one called out "Do you believe that?"

Counselor Charles Sizemore said the students want to explain to the community what their needs are, and the college needs everyone's help.

After an hour of discussion, Lothar Salin of San Rafael suggested a followup meeting with residents and students joining in small discussion groups. "We have to break this impasse and not orate to each other," he said.

Trustee Theodore C. Wellman endorsed the idea and students collected names of those who would join in the discussions. At first count they had about 60 signatures.

Trustees Order Landscape Plans

Master planning of landscaping for the Old Adobe School District schools, Petaluma, was authorized last night by the board of trustees.

William L. Kapranos, San Rafael landscape architect, was told to make a preliminary study of the needs of the four schools and report at the Nov. 20 meeting.

Superintendent Dean D. Magowan said the board will then consider what services it will require of the Kapranos firm.

The Old Adobe School District board also:

HEATING — Signed a contract with Empire Plumbing Co. of Santa Rosa to maintain and service furnaces in all schools at $540 per year.

LAND — Approved the purchase of 1.3 acres of land from Perma-Bilt Inc. at $8,580 for an access road off St. Francis Drive for a future elementary school.

HIRED — Employed as reading teachers Georgia Fowler at $7,500 and Wanda Ward at $6,144.

Pedestrian Path Urged For Children

The Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission last night asked the city council to authorize clearing of a pedestrian path between Reed Ranch Road and Jefferson Avenue so that school children in the Reedlands can walk to Bel Aire School, Asst. City Mgr. Russell L. Melquist reported.

The commission also directed Melquist to ask Northwestern Pacific Railroad to clear junk from its property in downtown Tiburon, Melquist added.

The tiny principality of Liechtenstein has no army, daily newspaper, customs service, train station or airport.

Suspect Check's Passer Is Killed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An off-duty policeman, moonlighting in a bank, shot and killed a young man who fled while a $150 check he offered was being verified.

Killed in the shooting among pedestrians outside the Bank of America branch at Geary and Market streets yesterday was Robert Joseph Johnson, 24, on probation after being convicted of robbery in Oakland and petty theft in San Francisco.

Police said they found on the victim's body a stolen wallet with a driver's license and a Selective Service card belonging to William Price of Redwood City.

Ken Manley, a homicide inspector who is investigating the case, said the one fatal shot was fired by officer William D. Taylor, 33, a three-year veteran of the force.

Taylor called three times for the fleeing man to halt, then fired, said Manley and inspector Jack Rajewsky.

Market Entered

Employees arriving for work yesterday morning at the Santa Venetia Supermarket at 71 San Pablo Avenue, Santa Venetia, discovered that someone had entered through a skylight and stolen about $12 to $14 in rolls of pennies, sheriff's deputies said today.

POSITION

dent of the Los Angeles Association of Junior College Administrators, past president of the International Brotherhood of Magicians, a trustee of the United Methodist Church of Sepul- College Association, past presiveda, and a member of the Rotary Club of Southwest Los Angeles.

Grasham is married and has three sons, and twin daughters.

His appointment was unanticipated, since the matter wasn't on the agenda, and caught the audience by surprise.

It is not known yet what position the acting president-superintendent, Louis H. Herkenhoff, will assume under the new administration.

Board Chairman Robert E. Rogers said today that Herkenhoff will stay in the district if he wishes, but with other duties which "have not yet been decided." Herkenhoff's slot will depend on the needs of the new president, Rogers said.

"The new man has to be given a chance to pick his own personnel, and put them in the slots where he needs them," Rogers said.

Herkenhoff was off campus at a conference in Santa Rosa today and unavailable for comment.

Bridge Cracks Halt Traffic

VIENNA (AP) — Traffic along the Danube River was halted last night when cracks appeared in a bridge that workmen had completed in an official ceremony only hours before.

Rudolf Koller, chief of the Vienna construction office, said there was no danger that the $12 million structure would collapse. But river traffic in the area and a railroad along the shore were halted as a precaution.

Koller said radical temperature changes were believed to have caused the material covering the bridge to crack and that the structure itself was not affected.

Guilty Plea In Girl's Drug Case

Deolinda Francesca Phillips, 19, of Sausalito, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing amphetamine Aug. 14 in Sausalito.

She was ordered to appear in superior court Nov. 17 for setting of a sentencing date on the felony charge.

Weed Case To Superior Court

Martin Gerald Bida, 24, of no known address, was bound over yesterday to Marin Superior Court on charges of possessing and cultivating marijuana when arrested near Point Reyes Sept. 27.

He is to appear in court Nov. 17 for arraignment.

Sheriff's deputies said that Bida had a marijuana plant, a machete and three books describing how to grow pot in his car when arrested.

Stolen Auto Found Wrecked In Park

A car stolen from a San Anselmo woman was found wrecked a few hours later at Crystal Springs in Samuel P. Taylor State Park, San Anselmo police reported today.

The car, a 1961 Fiat convertible, was reported stolen from Joan E. O'Connor, 17A Humboldt Avenue, at 10:45 a.m. Wednesday and found at 9:20 p.m.

Widow Awarded $203,510 In Surgery Suit

A 27-year-old Petaluma widow was awarded more than $200,000 yesterday by a Sonoma County jury which decided that a Petaluma doctor was responsible for the death of her husband two years ago.

The $203,510 awarded to Linda Thompson was the largest judgment ever given in Sonoma County in a malpractice case, according to her attorney, Leonard B. Shaw of San Rafael.

The verdict was against Dr. E. Wayne Lewis, who performed brain surgery on Martin Bruce Thompson, 30, at Sonoma County Community Hospital in Santa Rosa eight days before he died on Nov. 28, 1967.

A jury in the Sonoma Superior Courtroom of Judge John H. Moskowitz heard seven days of testimony before coming to a decision.

Mrs. Thompson, who is the mother of four young children, was also represented by Charles L. Convis. Dr. Thompson was defended by Robert D. Huber of San Francisco and Edward Dermott of Santa Rosa.

Sonoma State Cultural Events To Be Stressed

A plan to encourage Rohnert Park and Cotati youngsters to take advantage of cultural events at Sonoma State College was approved last night by the Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission.

Secretary Nancy Thiesfeld said the commission will invite youngsters in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades to attend the matinee performance of the opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors" on Dec. 13.

Bus transportation will be provided for 120 youngsters and admission tickets offered at greatly reduced prices with the commission budget funding the project.

Mrs. Thiesfeld said letters about the opera trip will be circulated through all elementary schools. She said that in the future, the commission may sponsor cultural trips to Bay Area museums.

The Rohnert Park Cultural Arts Commission also:

UNDERGROUNDING — Recommended that the city council use funds for undergrounding utility lines first in areas around schools, parks and civic buildings.

HISTORY — Proposed that a committee be formed to begin writing the history of Rohnert Park and collecting photographs.

EMBLEMS — Approved dropping the $50 charge for service organizations to hang emblems from the city welcome sign.

Term Lengthened Due To Weapon

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court yesterday sentenced San Quentin inmate Samuel Thomas Waldron, 23, to a term of not less than three years to run consecutively to sentences he is already serving.

A jury last week had found Waldron guilty of having a stabbing weapon in the prison.

OBITUARY

RENO LUCCHESI

Reno Lucchesi, 73, of 215 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness.

Survivors include his wife, Laura Lucchesi.

Requiem Mass will be offered at 10 a.m. Monday at Sts. Peter and Paul Church, San Francisco. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at Valente-Marini-Perata and Co., San Francisco.

Teachers Move For Sanctions In Mill Valley

Mill Valley School District teachers voted yesterday to ask the California Teachers Association to investigate the district for a possible application of sanctions, according to Mill Valley Teachers Association president Pat Assimakis.

The sanctions alert came after teachers' representatives and school district trustees failed to reach agreement Wednesday at a closed negotiation session over a 3 per cent salary increase requested in September.

In a sanctions alert, the California Teachers Association usually has a hearing panel investigate dissatisfaction among district teachers, Miss Assimakis said.

Depending on the panel's findings, the district could be placed under sanction by the CTA and the district's "inadequacies" would be publicized and teachers would be discouraged by the CTA from applying for a occepting employment in the district, she explained.

Price Of Gold At Lowest Level Since Year Ago

LONDON (AP) — The price of gold was fixed at $38.85 an ounce on the free market here today, the lowest level in more than a year. Dealers predicted the price would drop further.

There was general agreement among dealers here that last year's speculative rush into gold was over and that confidence in the strength of paper money was returning.

One well known dealer here was advising clients that the free market price of gold could drop to $35 an ounce, the official level. Others were more conservative, but agreed there had been no speculative buying of gold here for at least three months.

Youngster Treated After Bike Mishap

A 15-year-old San Quentin boy was treated for a broken knee and nose last night at Marin General hospital following a bicycle accident on a hill near the prison.

Gerad D. Weber of House 144 said the chain on his bicycle fell off, causing him to crash into a stone wall.

Trustees Endorse Antidrug Project

Irwin P. Diamond, dean of instruction, said the project proposal was initiated by college personnel, but isn't affiliated with the college.

Under the project a "drop-in house" to provide diagnostic, therapeutic and educational services would be established and operated with a staff, under a tenative annual budget estimated at $44,300.

Diamond, serving as chairman of the planning board, Marin Open House, said the aim is to have the project adopted by one of the existing mental health agencies and included in the county budget next year.

Trustees heard a report from John H. Myers, chairman of the music department, that because of budget limitations, acquisition of records and reference scores is cut nearly to zero, some classes are overloaded, and there is a shortage of certain musical instruments.

Marin Junior College District Board Also:

ECOLOGY — Agreed to discuss on Nov. 20 a suggestion by Trustee Charles W. Gray that the college consider establishing a center for ecology and environmental study and a resolution by Theodore C. Wellman urging President Richard M. Nixon and other officials to enact legislation dealing with population increases, pollution, open space, conservation education and authority over air, land and water.

ELECTIONS — Heard a report from Acting Supt.-President Louis H. Herkenhoff that vacancies on the board will have to be filled by special election, unless they occur within 120 days of a regularly scheduled election, thereby eliminating the system of having the board appoint replacements.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS — Received a report that 40 high school seniors from Marin are enrolled in 44 classes for the fall semester.

STUDENT SUPPORT — Approved applying to the state for $141,800 to provide grants, work-study experience, tutorial services and bus transportation for disadvantaged students.

DRAMA GROUP — Approved formation of a Citizens Advisory Committee for the Drama Department, which would raise funds, on the condition it would be agreeable to the College of Marin Foundation, a major fund raiser.

LEGAL ACTION — Agreed to take legal steps to seek return of $7,917 paid to instructor Irene Clark Moeller while she was on sabbatical. She failed to return to the college after the sabbatical and is now living in Pennsylvania.

LEAVE — Granted Diane Howell, instructor in the communications department, leave of absence for the 1970-71 academic year.

COLLEGE CABINET — Asked that minutes of meeting of the College Cabinet be forwarded to board members.

Collision Hurts Motorcyclists

Two southern Marin youths were injured yesterday when their motorcycle sideswiped a car on Paradise Drive near Trestle Glen, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

Kurt Alsman, 14, of 4071 Paradise Drive, underwent surgery for a broken knee and was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today. He was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by James Graham, 17, of 635 Meadowsweet Drive, Corte Madera, who was treated for scrapes and cuts on an arm and leg.

Their motorcycle hit a car driven by Christine Agnes Lynch, 17, of 4085 Eden Lane, Tiburon. The patrol said Miss Lynch had pulled her car across Paradise Drive and was in the wrong lane when the 3:30 p.m. mishap occurred.

Theft Of Two Bikes Reported

Two bicycles were stolen in San Rafael during the last two days, police reported today.

A 10-speed blue bicycle owned by Mary Ellen McNeil, 17, of 1629 Fifth Street, San Rafael, was stolen yesterday from the grounds of San Rafael High School.

A $50 blue bicycle belonging to Edward T. Boisson, Jr., 7, was taken Wednesday night from the garage area near his home at 24 Glenaire Drive.

Volunteer Approved

The Tiburon fire district board last night accepted the application of Frank Brooks as a volunteer fireman, secretary Wendell P. Topham reported.

Sleepy Hollow Seeks Substation

The board asked Arrigoni to investigate the possibility of opening such a facility with use of the clubhouse to be donated, Merritt A. Robinson, association vice president, reported.

The board also passed a resolution asking the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board to immediately implement a bus system, rather than waiting for ferryboats.

The board also reviewed its highway policy adopted last month with Arrigoni. The policy asks that no road connection be built between Sleepy Hollow and Lucas Valley until the state fixes the Highway 17 route.

The association received a $700 check from its auxiliary to redecorate the older part of the clubhouse, Robinson said.

Blood Donors Drive Set As War Protest

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Antiwar students and faculty at San Francisco State College will donate blood Monday as "a positive protest" against the war in Vietnam.

Spokesmen for the sponsoring Student Mobilization Committee, which is also organizing the November Moratorium at the end of next week, said the blood donation drive will demonstrate the humanitarian aspects of the antiwar movement.

The blood will be collected by Irwin Memorial Blood Bank Monday morning at the Ecumenical House Chapel across the street from the college.

Similar blood drives are planned for many campuses throughout the country next week.

Blood donors will be allowed to credit their blood either to themselves, other individuals or organizations or hospitals. The American Friends Service Committee and the Committee of Responsibility to Save War-Burned and War-Injured Children have also made arrangements to collect blood for North Vietnamese victims of the war.

City Denies Golf Course Is Only First Step Of Major Sports Area

A startling statement in a report on a municipal golf course for San Rafael was as much a surprise to San Rafael City Mgr. James H. McCown as to everyone else.

The statement says the proposed golf course "is the first phase of a planned sports and recreation center which will be located on a site approximately four miles north of downtown San Rafael."

Questioned by the Independent-Journal yesterday, McCown said he believes EBS Management Consultants may have picked it up from an offhand remark at a meeting or in private discussions with the late Dan E. Andersen, McCown's predecessor.

At a council meeting last Dec. 16, former Councilman Louis H. Baar did say development along Gallinas Creek eventually could include a swimming pool, tennis courts and boating facilities.

However, the council didn't act on the suggestion, and none is currently planned.

Asked about claims by Norman P. Higby of San Rafael that the golf course would be a drain on city tax revenues, McCown said that Higby was comparing a municipal operation with private ones.

Municipal courses are tax exempt and there are many in the Bay Area which are profitable, he said.

McCown also denied reports that the council had had the golf course study for two months before it surfaced at Monday's Council meeting.

The letter of transmittal in the report is dated August, but the report and another letter were not received at city hall until Oct. 6, McCown said.

McCown also said the decision made by the city council last month was to proceed with planning. A final decision on the course has not been made, he emphasized.

He said there are a series of steps that must be taken before the council even knows whether it can authorize the golf course, such as whether the Internal Revenue Service will grant tax exempt status to the corporation which would be involved in the lease-purchase plan for the golf course.

Hub Chamber To Canvass Ballot

Vote counting for 1970 directors of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce will be held at 5 p.m. Monday in the chamber office, the chamber's directors were told yesterday. Ballots have been mailed to chamber members.

The directors also agreed to dissolve its executive committee, which had met once a month, and return to its former system of board meetings at 12:15 p.m. every Thursday at the Pepperwood Restaurant.

The committee was composed of the board officers plus chairman of the four standing committees.

Allen Says Dismissal Never Contemplated

Dismissal of Asst. Police Chief Alex Mendoza, who resigned from the Ross Police Department Wednesday, was never contemplated, Ross Mayor Frederick S. Allen reported today.

The mayor said the Independent-Journal erred in reporting that dismissal was possible as a result of a closed hearing held Wednesday on charges against Mendoza. Only the possibility of demotion was being weighed, said Allen.

Pleas Set Today On LSD Tablets

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Mill Valley youth and a New York City man were to enter pleas in U.S. District Court today to charges they sold 4,000 LSD tablets to federal narcotics agents in Sausalito Oct. 23.

The pair, Robert L. McKnistry, 19, of 40 Millside Lane, Mill Valley, and Daniel L. Marcus, 22, of New York City, were arraigned yesterday before U.S. Commissioner Richard Goldsmith.

Agents said they bought 4,000 tablets from the pair in the Seven Seas Restaurant and negotiated to buy another 4,000 tablets. When the second buy was about to be made, the two were arrested, agents said.

Both have been indicted by a federal grand jury.

A deeper trust

As we grow in our understanding of the nature of God, it leads to a deeper trust in Him. It happens through the calm of prayer, the joy of song, a thoughtful searching of the Scriptures, reason and inspiration. For one hour every Sunday morning, Christian Science church services provide a sanctuary for these channels to a deeper trust. They are open to everyone. You are always welcome.

As most of us know, truly fine antiques are difficult to come by these days. Unlike ordinary adaptations, fine reproductions like this desk are duplicates of rare antiques expertly copied and finished to resemble the original finish of its antique counterpart. Utilitarian as well as beautiful this five drawer desk is topped with black leather hand-tooled in gold. The back is finished as beautifully as the front so can be used to face in any direction.

BLACK MARK FOR HALL OF JUSTICE

The ill-starred Hall of Justice had another disaster yesterday—a $10,000 fire in the newly opened cafeteria. Mopping up after the 1:30 p.m. blaze, which drove patrons from the eating area, is Cecil Rollier of the public works department. Leslie Wider, superintendent of building maintenance who made the $10,000 damage estimate, said the fire started when the deep fry and grill overheated and set the grease ablaze, burning that equipment and the oven, scorching the wood paneling over the grill and blackening the ceiling. Painters working across the hall doused the fire, confining it to the kitchen area. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Counter Waterfront Plan Draws Council Skepticism

By CHARLES YOAKUM

A seemingly unimpressed Sausalito City Council sat in near silence for two hours last night while members of the Sausalito Coalition for an Open Waterfront attacked the city's proposed waterfront plan and offered an eleventh-hour proposal of their own.

Councilmen asked only a handful of questions of six separate coalition members who paraded into the speaker's spotlight supporting their last-minute proposal which includes a park strip almost a mile long along the waterfront, limoted vehicular access into the city and a revolutionary traffic pattern.

What few questions the council did ask, however, reflected obvious skepticism and two of the councilmen voiced outright opinions after the meeting that the new plan was unfeasible.

The council did, however, schedule still another — the sixth — public hearing on the waterfront issue for Nov. 17 to allow planner William E. Spangler Jr., who drafted the city's plan, to rebut coalition charges that the city's plan is "out of balance" and "does not cope with the city's desires."

The key to the coalition's plan is to remove the majority of parking to the outskirts of Sausalito and provide a maximum of "open space" in the waterfront development. Their plan calls for 50 per cent open space while Spangler's calls for 20 per cent.

The coalition believes that Spangler's plan is tourist rather than resident oriented, a failing which they say will be resolved if its plan is adopted.

The coalition calls for the closing off of Alexander, Spencer Avenue, and Rodeo Rodero avenues and Monte Mar Drive to tourists, routing them all into the city via the Marin City entrance. Only Sausalito residents would be allowed to use the blocked off entrances.

Coalition members claim that the City of Sausalito actually subsidizes tourists. Dennis V. Canning told the council last night that according to his figures it cost the city $320,305 for tourism.

Councilmen Jan P. Dyk and Alexander R. Imlay each said they felt Canning's figures were "erroneous" but declined to debate them at last night's meeting.

Both councilmen did howerer take issue with Wayne Wedell's suggestion that the city should build a day care center and then charge admission to a park the coalition has proposed be built on the waterfront.

Wedell said that by having a day care center at the park the city could qualify for federal funds to pay for the park's construction because a low income group would be attracted to the park.

"How can you tell us to qualify for federal funds by attracting low income families with a child care center and then turn around and suggest we charge admission," Dyk challenged?

Councilman Robin Sweeny noted that the coalition's plan seemed to hinge on the city being able to acquire property now owned by the United Sand and Gravel Co., for a huge parking lot at the north end of town.

"How can you be sure we can get the land or how long we can have it," she asked.

After the meeting, Dyk and Imlay both said they saw little merit in the coalition's plan because of the huge amounts of open space called for.

"We've been through this all before," Dyk said, "Just who is going to pay for the construction of the park? We can't even get a $60,000 bond issue through now and it would take much more than that to develop this plan."

If the coalition's plan drew little council support, it drew even less from the audience. None supported it and several spoke against it.

One observer called it "a dream" and challenged the coalition to show how the open space plan could be financed.

Carl W. Spring of Sausalito said that the limited road access portion of the plan would be something that "firemen and policemen just couldn't live with" saying that they's be unable to respond quickly to emergencies.

At the outset of the meeting, Imlay — acting as mayor in the absence of Earl F. Dunphy — said that last night's session would be the last public hearing on the waterfront plan. However, after hearing the coalition's plan, he set the sixth hearing.

Students Told Of Loans Deadline

Applications for financial aid to students entering Sonoma State College in the spring semester must be filed at the financial aids office before Dec. 15.

William Frenaye, financial aids officer, said loan applications may be picked up at the office or requested by mail. Applicants will be notified of their loan status in January.

Frenaye said National Defense Act student loans may be substantially increased this year and the Sonoma State allocation increased by 30 to 40 per cent.

The long-term loans are available to students who demonstrate financial need. They are interest-free while the student attends school. A 3 per cent interest rate is charged after leaving school.

Long-Hair Forces Halt Drive For A Turnout

Reassured by the course of events in Tamalpais High School District's haircut controversy, the long-hair forces have halted a drive for a mass turnout at Monday's board meeting.

Gordon Pusser, a leader in the group, told the Independent-Journal yesterday that "it is not necessary for people to turn out on a group basis for the Nov. 10 board meeting. No show of hands is needed at this point."

Pusser had sent out notices last week to district parents urging attendance at last Monday's scheduled board meeting to prevent the short hair forces from overinfluencing the board.

When Monday's meeting was postponed a week, Pusser and a group of 40 met instead with Supt. Robert D. Torrey and Director of Instruction James L. Pierce, who explained a proposed new policy on athletic regulations giving individual coaches responsibility for grooming of their teams.

"We feel the school board has done a very thorough job of exploring the issue," Pusser said, "and if left alone will be able to work out a solution satisfactory to us. The important thing is not what rule is adopted but the spirit with which it is implemented."

Pusser added that in discussing the grooming issue with opponents, his group had found both sides had more in common, in their desire to improve the district, than they had to disagree about.

Prof Says Emotions Ousting Scholarship

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A shift by students away from a "concern for scholarly values" toward a "stress on emotional experiences" underlies disruptions on campuses in this nation, a Harvard University professor says.

Dr. Samuel P. Huntington, professor of government, told the World Affairs Council yesterday. "There is a definite shift away from an academic orientation, from a concern for scholarly values."

Nasser Less Serious In Annual Talk

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's speech to the Egyptian National Assembly yesterday contained emotional references to blood and fire but nothing to indicate a new Middle East war is imminent.

The sound was more colorful and businesslike than usual, but it was basically a repeat performance of an address he delivered three months ago.

Despite references to "the inevitability of the battle of destiny" with Israel which would be fought "on a sea of blood and a horizon of fire," Nasser did not specifically say he was abandoning efforts to reach a political settlement.

The fact that two years of international negotiations had proved fruitless, he said, led him to the conclusion that war was the only way out. His attacks on the United States and praise for the Soviet Union have been a staple ingredient of all his postwar speeches.

This could reflect Egyptian interest in new proposals reportedly forwarded by the United States in bilateral talks with the Soviet Union on the Middle East conflict.

As Nasser spoke in Cairo, officials in Washington were reported to have said America and Russia were inching closer to a common position on the crisis.

Mrs. Meir Bows To No Sabbath Television

JERUSALEM (AP) — Faced with difficulties in forming a new coalition government, Prime Minister Golda Meir bowed to religious party pressure today and blacked out the nation's television screens a few hours before they were to light up for the first time on the Jewish Sabbath.

Mrs. Meir had asked the state-owned television broadcasting authority to delay the inauguration of Sabbath televison shows — set for tonight —pending formation of a new government. But the semiautonomous broadcasting authority voted yesterday to reject the plea and go ahead with televising on the Sabbath, as scheduled.

Mrs. Meir, acting on an appeal by dissident members of the broadcasting authority—mainly religious party people—postponed the broadcasts pending a cabinet decision Sunday.

Had television shows gone on the air tonight, Mrs. Meir would have found it that much harder to form a new government, because of the objections by the religious parties.

Prior to the national election last week, Mrs. Meir's Labor coalition government agreed that the state-owned station could add Friday night, the beginning of the Sabbath, to its six-night-a-week schedule. That was when the Laborites held a majority in the Knesset, Israel's parliament.

After the election, Labor emerged with only 56 seats in the 120-member body, five short of a majority, and must conclude some alliances.

The National Religious Party, a member of almost every coalition government in Israel's 21-year history, won 12 seats. When Mrs. Meir approached it for help to form a government, its leaders said they would cooperate on one condition: no Sabbath television.

Mrs. Meir asked the broadcasting authorities, to delay Sabbath telecasts until a new government is in office, but the officials, who have considerable autonomy, refused.

Said one TV executive: "Let those who think that television is a sin simply refrain from switching on their sets on Friday nights."

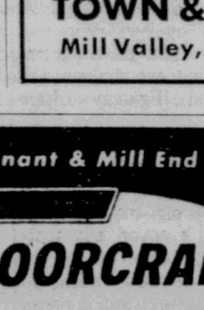

Most Israelis favor nightly—including Sabbath—television. The state radio has always broadcast every night.

Meanwhile, the military command in Tel Aviv reported that Israeli warplanes crossed the Jordan River again today to pound suspected Arab guerrilla positions in Jordan. A spokesman said the planes were sent up after four Israeli army patrols were fired on in the Beisan Valley south of the Sea of Galilee.

The U.S. has about 150 national forests.

MONSTER CONCRETE PUMPER

Billed as the largest, fastest, concrete pumper on the west coast, this machine is working to live up to its expectations on a Sausalito building site. The pumping capacity is 100 cubic yards a minute. The 65-foot articulating boom allows placement of concrete in awkward places, such as hillsides, that formerly were handled by hand, or not at all. $14 Million Lawsuit Over A Family Feud

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A wealthy Philippines businessman, who maintains a home in Tiburon, was sued for $14 million in superior court yesterday by his son and daughter-in-law.

The actions were filed by attorney Marvin E. Lewis in behalf of Norman Aguinaldo, 23, and his wife, Julie, 22, who live in San Francisco. The defendant is Daniel P. Aguinaldo, whose business interests reportedly include real estate, pearl farming, lumber, marble, copper, oil and shipping.

The wife charges that her father-in-law slandered her by saying she had been a call girl in Las Vegas and a dope addict. Claiming mental suffering and humuliation, she asks $2 million in damages.

Her husband seeks $12 million damages, charging his father with conspiracy and conversion of stocks and personal property that had been given him before his marriage. Aguinaldo said his father disapproved of the couple's marriage.

Lewis said the couple was married about two years ago and both are in the U.S. on student visas, making them ineligible for employment. The son is a student at City College of San Francisco, while his wife is taking courses in dress designing.

The elder Aguinaldo, who has a home at 4131 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, and an office in San Francisco, was served with papers yesterday as he alighted from a flight from the Philippines at San Francisco International Airport.

Bagley Sees Try To Trim Property Tax

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A shift of at least $1 billion in taxes "off the back of the property taxpayer" will be the goal of the 1970 Legislature, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said today.

"A program that will achieve public acceptance, that is politically practical and makes good tax sense" should be ready by January, he said, adding "we must do this to forestall irresponsible iniative ballot measures that would cripple government in this state and crucify our taxpayers."

Bagley, addressing the annual meeting of the California Manufacturers Association, stressed that "tax reform is not tax relief or reduction. What we are trying to do is plug existing tax loopholes, raise revenues from broader-based alternative sources, and use this money to relieve the property tax, including the personal property tax on business inventories."

Horse Show Is Slated Sunday

The Marin Mounted 4-H Club will holds its second annual horse show, open to junior and novice riders, Sunday at 9 a.m. at the Circle V stables in Fairfax.

The show, which will include both English and Western class events, will be held rain or shine, according to Jon Tompioner, show manager.

Dump Solves Pollution— Temporarily?

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Water pollution at San Qunetin Disposal Site has been eliminated, but only temporarily, the San Francisco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board's staff reported today.

As a result, said executive officer Fred H. Dierker, Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales will be asked to keep the legal heat on the dump by retaining jurisdiction over the matter.

Court action to force the operator of the dump, Martin Bramante of Belvedere, to stop pollution was postponed last month by Bales after Bramante agreed to eliminate the problem.

One part of the problem, a leaky "cell," was eliminated by filling it with dirt, Dierker said. But the other part, a cell accumulating water, was only temporarily solved by partial filling with stockpiled rubbish.

Dirt should have been mixed with the rubbish or spread over it so that future rains can run off, Dierker said. But what probably will happen, he explained, is that the rains will accumulate as they saturate the rubbish.

When that happens, rubbish will begin to decompose, creating odors — and thus, a nuisance, Dierker said.

Anniversary Of State Uproar Is Uneventful

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A gift tape recorder mistaken for a bomb caused the most excitement on the anniversary yesterday of the start of a violent four-month student strike which shut down San Francisco State College.

A security officer opened a package sent to college President S. I. Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, took off the tape recorder's black cover and spotted wires and batteries.

The package was rushed to a vacant room which was sealed off until an Army bomb squad arrived and examined it.

The Black Students Union, organizer of last year's four-month strike, announced rallies and press conferences in calls to news media, but none materialized.

Students chatted and studied under sunny skies.

The scene was in sharp contrast to Nov. 6 the past two years at San Francisco State.

On that date in 1967, nine black militants beat up the white editor of the student newspaper, wrecked the paper's office and touched off a month of intermittent violence.

Nov. 6, 1968, was the start of a strike which led to closing of the campus for a week, confrontations of hundreds of police and students, mass arrests and the replacement of President Robert Smith with Hayakawa.

Planners Back Public Coastal Access Route

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A new southerly public access route through the proposed Cape Bodega Reyes subdivision was approved yesterday by the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

The question of more public access to the coastal area through the development was brought before the board of supervisors last month and a recommendation to require more public access was made and the plans returned to the planning commission.

The development planned by Transcentury Corp., south of Bodega Bay near the Marin County line, had come under fire from Citizens Organized to Acquire Access to States Tidelands. The conservation group had charged that only requiring the subdivision roads to be open to the public would not assure access.

Paintings At Bank

Oil landscapes, seascapes, portraits and human interest paintings by San Rafael artist Corinne Rawitser are on display through November at the Redwood National Bank, 1447 Fourth Street in San Rafael.

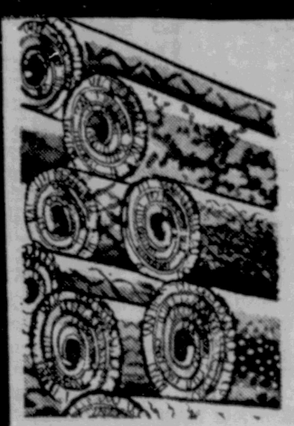

Check Case To Superior Court

Robert Wayne Kitzmiller, 33, of San Rafael, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on three counts of possessing checks with intent to defraud.

He was told to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Kitzmiller was arrested Oct. 24 by San Rafael police who said that he had passed allegedly stolen checks earlier this month at two San Rafael bars.

CONTINUES IN BANKING — Arthur C. Latno of San Rafael, a banker for over 50 years, has joined the Bank of Marin as a vice president, after retiring from Crocker-Citizens National Bank. He joined Crocker-Citizens predecessor in Marin, the First National Bank in San Rafael, as a teller in April 1919. Through successive promotions he became executive vice president in 1958 and continued as vice president after its merger with Crocker Anglo National Bank and later with Crocker-Citizens.

Business Vocabulary

CHICAGO (UPI)—The vocabulary of the average businessman consists of between 4,800 and 6,000 words, according to Albert-Josef Schardl, president of Schardl Linguistic Systems, a company specializing in teaching foreign languages to businessmen transferring overseas.

THE WEEK IN BUSINESS

Chico Investment Firms Taken Over By Portsmouth Square

Two more investment firms have been acquired by Portsmouth Square, Inc., which took over Crowe Investment Services four months ago and York Securities Corp. last week.

The two new firms, Sidney J. Call Investments, Inc. and J. Wayne Loveless Securities, both headquartered in Chico, will become divisions of Crowe. Like Crowe, they specialize in the sale of mutual fund and life insurance. Their heads, Sidney Call and J. Wayne Loveless will become Crowe vice presidents.

The Chico firms have had a mutual funds sales volume of approximately $2.5 million annually. The marger brings the total annual mutual sales volume for Crowie and York to about $15 million.

AMERICAN BUILDING MAINTENANCE INDUSTRIES has contracted to acquire Oser Exterminating Co., a Denver-based pest control Co. on Jan. 2 for an undisclosed amount of cash and notes. Oser operation will remain under present management. The company is the largest exterminating company in Colorado and also operates in Wyoming and Nebraska.

IMPERIAL CORP. OF AMERICA'S application to acquire Summit Savings and Loan Association of Santa Rosa has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Negotiations are expected to be concluded early next year. Summit also operates branches in Napa and Sebastopol. Imperial owns 12 other associations in four states and is the nation's third largest savings and loan holding company, with assets of about $1.2 billion.

SWIFT AND CO., Chicago, is acquiring for cash a major portion of the assets of Mobil Chemical Co., Richmond, Va. The operations of Mobil, engaged in the retail fertilizer business, will become part of the Swift Agricultural Chemicals Corp.

ROOS ATKINS, San Francisco will open four more stores during the coming year in San Jose and Merced and in Yakima and Everett, Wash. The new San Jose store will be located in the new Eastridge Shopping Center. It will be Roos Atkins' fourth in San Jose. The Merced store will be located in the new Merced Mall being developed by Codding Enterprises of Santa Rosa.

GENERAL MOTORS CORP. directors have elected Stephen D. Bechtel Corp., San Francisco, since 1960 and is also board chairman of Bechtel's overseas subsidiary companies.

HELMER O. JOHNSON has been elected chairman of the board of both Fidelity Savings and Loan Association and of Fidelity Financial Corp., succeeding Philip H. Angell, who continues as a director. Johnson was executive vice president and senior administrative officer of United California Bank before taking an early retirement to join Fidelity.

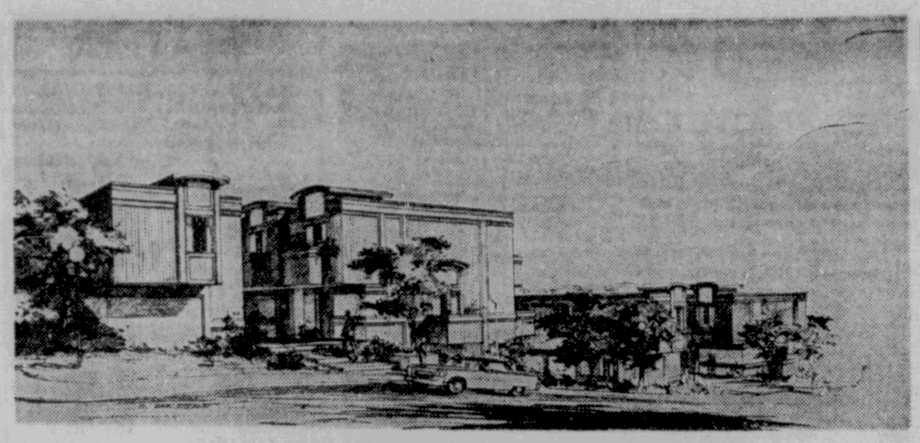

SHELL CHEMICAL CO. agricultural chemicals and ammonia divisions will be moved into headquarters at San Ramon, Contra Costa County. A modern office building is expected to be ready for occupancy by late 1970 or early 1971. Shell's agricultural chemicals division is now in New York. The ammonia division is in San Francisco.

CAPITAL FUNDING CORP., San Francisco, has consummated its acquisition of R.J. Baker and Co., Inc., a mutual fund broker-dealer in Palo Alto, and the recently formed Hakman, Dahl and Co., San Francisco, engaged in the institutional brokerage and block trading business.

MEMOREX CORP., Santa Clara had record sales and earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30. Sales of $54.8 million were 37 per cent greater than a year ago. Net income after taxes rose to $4.8 million an increase of 60 per cent.

Turtle Catches

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The turtle catch by Mexican fishermen increased 46 per cent in 1968 over the 1967 catch, according to the Fisheries Bureau of the federal Commerce Department. Mexico leads the world in production of turtles for meat and oil, the department said.

NEW CONDOMINIUM PROJECT

The Coach House, a new condominium development designed by Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van De Weghe, and located at the corner of Via Casitas and Via Belardo in Greenbrae, is expected to be ready for showing in another 60 days. The developer is Jade Construction Co. of Silverado Country Club, Napa. Grubb and Ellis Co., San Rafael is the exclusive agent.

Transamerica's Plans Revamped

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Transamerica Corp. filed new plans for its headquarters building yesterday, providing for a cigar-shaped top, rather than a triangular spire.

Although the city Planning Commission had approved plans for the pyramid-shaped structure, architects and others had objected to the building.

If commissioners approve the new plans, they will urge that the board of supervisors grant permission for the company to buy part of a city alley for the building.

The building would be 853 feet tall and contain 48 stories in the midst of the financial district.

Consolidated Foods Best To Replace Two Losers

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We bought American Bakeries at $30 and United Park City Mines at a cost of $10. Both are worth half what we paid. We are in a position where the loss would hurt. What should we do? —L.R.

A. You have unfortunately purchased both issues at the top of a speculative surge. Moves by new management at American Bakeries to increase depleted working capital included omission of the September dividend and shutdown of marginal plants. Translating management's economy measures into improved profits and ultimately high stock price levels will be a time-consuming process.

United Park, a highly speculative and deficit -ridden situation, is dependent on fluctuating silver and other metal prices and sufficient snow for its ski resort Share are 18 per cent owned by Anaconda and 13 per cent by American Smelting & Refining.

For more rapid recovery of capital I like recession-resistant Consolidated Foods. In the fiscal year ended June 30 net moved up 12 per cent to $2.06 a share on a 15 per cent gain in sales. Company's impressive product line includes such varied names as Sara Lee, Electrolux, Chicken Delight and Conso.

Q. Please give me your opinion on Ecological Science Corp.—F.M.

A. This company, headquartered in your home state of Florida, has aggressively expanded its participation in the pollution-control field. Pollution-related business, which accounted for around 60 per cent of 1968 revenues, was achieved primarily through acquisitions. This year full or controlling interest has been acquired in five firms with sales of about $25 million. Ecological Science reported sales of $14 million in 1968 and $12 million in the first half of this year.

A hard line on pollution has been adopted at both state and federal levels. Enforcement of the 1965 Water Pollution Control Act implemented by adequate appropriations — $1 billion has been proposed for 1970—which would be highly favorable to firms such as ECO. While shares are speculative, a growing earnings base, 50 cents a share estimated for 1969, justify purchases for investors able to assume some risk.

Demand For AT&T Helps Stock Level

NEW YORK (UPI)—Aggressive demand for American Telephone, the most widely held issue in the country, helped carry the market higher today in stepped-up trading.

Turnover of around 13,000,000 shares ran well ahead of yesterday's pace.

Strength in AT&T, high on the 15 most active list, largely reflected indications that the Federal Communications Commission would allow the giant utility a better rate of return than the 7 1-2 per cent proposed in an agency study two years ago.

Also heavily traded were Lums, Inc., Monroe Auto Equipment, Plough, Inc., Computer Sciences, Victor Comptomer, and American Motors.

Chemicals ranged to more than a point higher, while steels and oils also showed scattered strength. However, a number of fractional losses cropped up in the oil group.

Airlines and aircrafts moved forward in a number of instances. Motors traded narrowly

Water-Soluble Plastic On Way

TOKYO (UPI)—The Denki Kagaku Kogyo Co. has announced it will shortly market a plastic that easily dissolves in water.

The company said the plastic is a polyvinyl alcohol film made of water-soluble resin and polyvinyl alcohol and will eliminate the serous disposal problem now existing with the chemically inert character of plastics.

The new plastic will be used mainly in manufacture of laundry bags so that they will dissolve when put into a washing machine.

Nixon Seeking Additional Air Traffic Help

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon asked Congress today to authorize the hiring of an additional 1,000 air traffic controllers, saying they're needed to speed flights and help prevent midair collisions.

The 1,000 would be in addition to 2,800 new controllers Nixon had asked Congress to authorize earlier in the year. About 22,000 persons already are employed in the air traffic control system.

Nixon made his request in a letter to Republican and Democratic leaders of Congress, saying the added controllers could be paid out of funds already included in the $180 million budget request for the Department of Transportation.

The President and some of his key cabinet advisers are spending a long Florida weekend mixing relaxation with serious talks about Vietnam, and arms curb negotiations with the Soviets due to begin Nov. 17 in Helsinki, Finland.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler also took the rather unusual step of making public letters from presidents of three Latin American countries who responded favorably to Nixon's Oct. 31 Latin American policy address. The letters were from Emilio Garrastazu Mecici of Brazil, Carlos Lleras Restrepo of Colombia and Jose Joaquin Trejos Fernandez of Costa Rica.

The President and Mrs. Nixon flew to their bayside home last night and will remain at least until Sunday.

With them were Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's assistant for national security affairs.

Arriving later were Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

The three Cabinet members and Kissinger were quartered at a nearby hotel where the Nixons often stayed until they leased, then purchased, their present waterfront home.

For all the gathering of administration brass, relaxation seemed likely to be the keynote of the weekend.

Nader Condems Nixon Consumer Bill Drafts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has charged President Richard M. Nixon's proposed consumer protection legislation is "farcical in part and deceptive in the remainder."

Nader launched his attack yesterday by releasing drafts of two administration bills and the text of a letter he was sending to Mrs. Virginia Knauer President Nixon's special assistant on consumer affairs.

Mrs. Knauer could not be reached for immediate comment.

The letter declared a bill giving statutory standing to the existing White House Consumer Office "adds little to what the office can do presently."

Nader also condemned a proposal in the bill to include representatives of business on a 20-member consumer advisory council to be appointed by the President.

He said in his letter industries obviously would be happy to "advise and assist your office. The tenor of this entire bill suggests a relationship to the consumer movement similar to company unions vis-a-vis the labor movement a few decades ago."

Nader said it would be wrong to establish a Consumer Protection Division within the Justice Department as the President proposes because the department already represents agencies the new division is supposed to monitor.

He said a second bill, the Consumer Product Testing Act of 1969, "is a step backwards and a serious one at that." Nader contended the measure is vague and gives industrial and commercial standards groups exactly what they wanted.

"This bill would lead to quasi-official status to private standards groups, an undermining of the policy of governmental standards arrived at independently for public health, safety and credibility," he said.

Body, Empty Motor Life Boat Found

BOSTON (AP) — An unidentified body and an empty motor life boat with the name Keo on it were recovered last night about 40 miles southeast of the area where the 629-foot Liberian tanker Keo broke apart Wednesday in a storm and its 36 men were stranded on the stern.

A Coast Guard spokesman said this morning the body was recovered by the USS Fox during an intensive search of 20,000 square miles of ocean off Nantucket.

Five Coast Guard and five Navy ships searched yesterday and through the night, and planes were to rejoin them at dawn.

"The chances are that if they are found now they will be in lifeboats or on rafts," a Coast Guard officer said.

Most of the crewmen were Greek nationals, said the Keo's New York agent, Crestwood Shipping Agencies. Four were South Americans, thought to be from Colombia.

Mill Valley Woman Is Found Dead

The body of Alura Leana Hurvich, 27, of 7 Heuter Lane was found at 7:45 a.m .yesterday by her husband, Fred A. Hurvich, in a shed underneath a parking area adjacent to their home.

She had been seen last Wednesday evening by a friend who was babysitting at the Hurvich home. When she did not return later in the evening, she was reported missing by her husband.

According to the coroner's office, Hurvich said his wife had tried suicide several times before.

The gun used by Mrs. Hurvich was found beside her body. It had been purchased by her Oct. 5 at a sporting goods store, police said.

A native of Ohio, Mrs. Hurvich had lived in Marin County for one year. She was employed as a teacher with the Novato School District.

Midafternoon Crash Injures Motorist

LaVerne Nelson, 34, of 253 Union Street, San Rafael, was treated for acute neck sprain and a cut knee suffered yesterday in an automobile accident around 3 p.m., according to Marin General Hospital.

Pill Victim Mends

Cecile D. Lawrence, 57, of 112 Palm Drive, Novato, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novat General Hospital, where she was admitted last night for an overdose of pills.

TEXANS IN A TIZZY

'Indian' Gives $100 Bills In Chance Encounters

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — He's dark haired, in his 20s, probably bearded and driving a silver-green Pontiac. He gives away $100 bills.

Nobody knows why, except maybe the Indian, if he is an Indian, and he isn't telling.

It's a complete mystery to a college professor, a retired farmer, a service station attendant and a teen-age girl who got the bills.

"It's really weird," John Tackett, editor of the Stephenville Daily Empire, said yesterday. "We call him the Phantom Philanthropist."

He said residents of the Stephenville area, southwest of Fort Worth, still are "buzzing with excitement over the possibility he may return and unload a $100 bill on them."

The mystery gifts were bestowed on four persons Sunday but the story only came to light after the recipients visited banks to check the legitimacy of the bills.

Newlin said the man gave him a $100 bill to pay for $6 worth of gas and told him: "You lucky boy, go ahead and keep the change."

Noting Newlin's dumbfounded look, the man added, "Go over there and see the Indian and he'll tell you what this is all about."

Newlin said he approached the man indicated, who was standing near the service station, and asked him for an explanation.

Corporation Yard Contract Due Today

A contract for construction of a city corporation yard, to house city vehicles and equipment, will be awarded today at 5 p.m. at a special meeting of the San Rafael City Council, to be held in city ahll.

Also on the agenda is a call for bids for 10 police patrol cars.

"Camelot" — Humor and depth make this lavish screen version of a Broadway musical impressive. Superb songs and music. Love affair delicately portrayed.

"Darby O'Gill and the Little People" — Leprechaun antics, magic, comedy and pleasant romance all woven together in this lively Irish fantasy by Disney. (Reissue)

"Gone With the Wind" — Famous film classic now transposed to super screen with stereophonic sound remains one of the landmarks in American filmmaking.

"Never a Dull Moment" — In this Disney farce, Dick Van Dyke a struggling young actor is mistaken for a notorious thief and forced to steal a priceless oil painting. There is a hilarious finale.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Bandolero" — Well made and well cast, very violent western has a fitting background of fine desert scenery.

"Battle of Britain" — Air battle over England in 1940 is recreated in this dramatic semi-documentary film. Photography and direction are exceptional. Very large cast of best actors in Britain.

"Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" — True story of two bank and train robbers in the late 1900's that were popularized by the news media is treated as comedy. Robbers move to Bolivia to continue their trade with mixed results. Delightful scenery, imaginative camera work, clever score and memorable performances from cast.

"The Desperados" — At the end of the Civil war, a feud between a father and son who are members of a renegade outlaw band, is basis of this story. Violence of the period abounds from beginning to end.

"Mad Woman of Challiot" — Fantasy comedy tells of an elderly countess who gathers a group of social outcasts to save Paris from the clutches of the oil-hungry, greedy Establishment. A brilliant cast and effective color photography.

"Stalking Moon" — Moody, overlong western with violence intrinsic to the plot. Tense suspense story in which terror steadily mounts.

"War and Peace" — The Russian dramatization of Tolstoi's epic novel is a film of gigantic scope and visual power. As an historical document, this film should be preserved and shown to students in generations to come.

BORDERLINE
(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Rosemary's Baby" — About a young woman who is marked by witches to conceive and bear Satan's baby. Brutal rape scene, nightmares during pregnancy and hospital scene during delivery add up to 90 minutes of sensationalism, shock and terror. Parents shouldn't be misled by title.

ADULTS ONLY

"Can Heironymus Merkin Ever Forget Mercy Humppe and Find True Happiness?" — A man has recorded his decadent life on film. He shows it in this movie within a movie. It is erotic and pornographic — totally destructive of human values.

"Easy Rider" — Two dope pushers take a motorcycle trip from L.A. to New Orleans. Film relates their experiences which provoke much soul searching about man's inhumanity to man.

"Goodbye, Columbus" — A rich and spoiled college-age girls' summer love affair with a young man who is not ready for commitment and their dispute about using contraceptives. Their choice of values make a very frank and sophisticated film. Acting and photography good.

"I Am Curious, Yellow" — Complex movie within a movie structure is somewhat confusing and laborious. A Swedish social expose which received undue publicity when seized by customs because of explicit treatment of sex, depicting intercourse and oral-genital contact full view, full length and minus strategic shadows or cut-aways, Even for sophisticates who aren't offended, there is just too much "bare" sex for one film. (Parents Magazine).

"Midnight Cowboy" — An offbeat film peopled with the dregs of society is somber and hard hitting. A crippled small time chiseler first exploits and then befriends a vain Texan who comes to New York to be a male prostitute. Sordid story told in an uncompromising way and tempered by directors technical skill gives meaning to the term "Adjult movie." (Parents Magazine).

Exhibit In Concord

Works by Leoma Brugaletta of San Anselmo will be on display Nov. 15 and 16 at a Bay Area art show at the Concord Inn, Willow Pass Road, Concord. Half of the proceeds will go to Diablo Scholarship Inc. to help students in the Diablo Unified School District attend college.

County Employee League To Meet

Delegates from Northern California counties will attend the fifth North regional conference of the League of County Employee Associations Nov. 15 at the San Rafael Holiday Inn.

The meeting will open at 9:30 a.m. with a welcome address by John F. McInnis, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

"The Northern Bloc and the League" will be discussed at the morning session and "The Professionals and the Small Employee Assiciations" will be studied in the afternoon.

'Moderately Strong' Alaska Earthquake

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A "moderately strong" earthquake occurred yesterday about 60 miles from the Aleutian island where the U.S. exploded a one-megaton hydrogen bomb a month ago.

It was felt only slightly at the nearest populated area, Adak Naval Station, where a Navy spokesman said they were more concerned about heavy winds which have buffeted the island this week.

Concert To Dramatize U.S. Music

Sacramento State College Music Department will present an American music lecture-concert under the direction of Dr. Daniel Kingman at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Caleruega Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael.

The concert, spanning three centuries of representational American music, will open with four of the "Seven Songs for the Harpsichord," composed in 1788 by Francis Hopkinson, first American composer and signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Ten Shaker songs of the 18th Century will be performed by the vocal ensemble under the direction of Lorna Adams. Music of Aaron Copeland from the 20th Century will round out the program.

The lecture-concert is sponsored by the American Music Research Center at Dominican College.

Ethnic Studies Review Slated

Multi-ethnic studies in Marin County schools will be discussed by the education committee of the Marin County Human Rights Commission Wednesday.

Anthony Medrano, chairman of the committee, announced that the meeting will start at 8 p.m. in Room 400 at the Civic Center.

Speaker will be Larry Lindberg, director of instruction in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Sausalitans To Be In Oakland Exhibit

The works of two Sausalito craftsmen will be displayed at "The Excellence of the Object" show opening tomorrow and scheduled to run through Dec. 14 at the new Oakland Museum.

Fabric painted with dyes by Ragnhild Langlet and bassetaille enamel on copper by June Schwarcz will be displayed in the special exhibits gallery of the Museum at Tenth and Fallon streets. The museum is open Tuesday through Sunday. The crafts may be viewed from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., except on Friday, when the museum is open until 10 p.m.

Chamber Seeking To Improve Canal

How can the San Rafael Canal be made a useful, beautiful front door to the city? And how can taxing jurisdictions help pay for it?

These problems were explored yesterday by a committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, meeting at the Kettle Restaurant.

There were no immediate solutions, but a subcommittee was named to investigate the problems thoroughly before going to the city and county.

A major problem, according to Bruce Thompson, a member of the committee, is trash and garbage. He reported firms place trash behind their buildings and it scatters on the banks and falls into the canal.

Thompson said his efforts to persuade businessmen to clean up have been futile because the merchants don't believe it will benefit them personally.

Another committee member, Leonard Majore, claimed the canal area currently pays $300,000 annually in taxes and recommended the taxes that go to the city and county from the canal be set aside for the canal — future dredging, widening the channel and other improvements.

Majore maintained the Army Corps of Engineers would never dredge the canal again. Others at the meeting disagreed, contending the corps would participate in future work, including beautification.

"They should consider boating not as a hobby but as a large industry," Majore said.

Herbert Hotchner, San Rafael planning director, suggested other problems and needs such as banking to reduce silting, retaining views of the canal, parking and access, anchorage and small boat launches.

Hotchner reported the city has done some preliminary exploration of sites along the canal for public boat launching and berthing facilities. If the city would acquire the land, the state would probably pay for construction, he said.

Hotchner predicted such facility a "reasonable possibility" if there is support for it.

He indicated support for canal improvements, commenting, "We have a facility here that many communities would give their eyeteeth for and we've sort of made it a back door."

Some members of the committee wanted to contact the city and county immediately, but agreed to make the investigation first.

The subcommittee was asked to check on the amount of taxes that go to the city and county, and if there is any law governing their distribution and draw up a priority list of capital improvements.

In other business, Paul Ciampi, committee chairman, commented on the danger of flooding this winter due to the Highway 101 construction. He said the canal is blocked off and there has been flooding even though there hasn't been much rain.

66 Gold Miners Are Feared Dead

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Sixty-six miners were feared killed today when cases of explosives went off one and one-half miles underground in one of South Africa's richest gold mines, authorities said.

Six miners were confirmed dead, four at the bottom of the devastated mine shaft and two of those who were rescued. Sixty men were trapped.

"Anyone down there at the time of the blast hasn't a hope in hell," said a spokesman for General Mining and Finance Corp., which owns the rich Buffelsfontein mine. "It is highly unlikely that anybody caught in a blast like that could survive."

"They were sinking a shaft and at the bottom of a shaft, there is nowhere to hide. The chances of them being sealed up but still alive are nil."

Sixty of the missing miners were Africans. Two were white.

Rescue workers pulled 29 injured miners to the surface, some in serious condition. Two of the survivors are white, and the others are Africans.

The spokesman said the blast occurred in a shaft being sunk off another shaft 7,700 feet below the surface.

The blast was not in a regular working area of the mine, he said, and would not affect production.

The mine 100 miles southwest of Johannesburg at Klerksdorp is in one of the richest gold mines in the world. Last year it produced gold worth $17.71 million. It also is a big uranium producer.

South Africa's worst mine disaster occurred in January 1960 when 436 workers were killed in the Coalbrook Borth Colliery.

Famed Trustbuster Thurman Arnold Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurman W. Arnold, famed trustbuster of the New Deal era, died today at his home in nearby Alexandria, Va. He was 78.

Arnold was a partner in one of Washington's prestigious law firms—Arnold and Porter. An earlier partner was Abe Fortas who severed his connection with the firm when he was named to the Supreme Court. Fortas later resigned from the tribunal under fire.

As an assistant attorney general in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division from March 1938 to March 1943, Arnold instituted 230 suits—more than the total in the previous 50-year history of the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Earlier, Arnold resigned a lifetime job as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia because it provided no competitive activity.

As a trust-buster, Arnold grapped with giant business interests, the medical profession, labor unions, food producers, and even other government agencies.

Arnold said he considered that his most important suits were those against the American Medical Association, Standard Oil of New Jersey, the Associated Press and building trade unions.

Arnold had not been in the best of health in recent months.

His survivors include his wife, Frances, and two sons, Thurmond Jr. and George. Six grandchildren also survive.

Family services will be held Monday in Laramie, Wyo.

Arnold's antitrust suit against the Associated Press was based largely on his stated regard for the A.P.—which he described as the only fully adequate news service.

He insisted the A.P. was so necessary that it stood in the category of a public utility and should be made available to any newspaper willing and able to pay the assessments. He won the case.

When Arnold returned to private law practice he urged Congress to bring labor unions under antitrust laws.

"It is a very dangerous thing," he told a Senate committee, "to permit unions to monopolize the labor supply without any curbs whatsoever."

Thieves Loot Boat

Thieves stole two tool kits and a brown leatherette case Monday from a cabin cruiser owned by Jack Barley of 575 School Street in Cotati, and berthed in the Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor, according to San Rafael police today.

Room 13 Jinx Strikes Again

Thirteen is an unlucky number and a would-be Sausalito burglar was given graphic proof of that early today.

Sausalito police said that at 3:46 am., today the manager of the Sausalito Hotel reported he thought a burglary was in progress in Room 13. When police entered Room 13 they found an open window and a ladder leading to the next building.

They also found, under the bed, Egan Suhr Knudsen, 25, of 678 Bridgeway, Sausalito. He was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary to appear in municipal court this afternoon.

"Kurtas" (Indian-style shirts) worth $267,000 were exported to France and the United States in 1968.

Unions, Prefab Home Firm Sign Pact; Romney Happy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three labor unions have agreed to build low-cost, prefabricated homes on an assembly line basis under a contract the government praises.

A three-bedroom house with one bath and all utilities would cost well under $10,000 according to a top official of the company that signed a contract with three building-trades unions yesterday to mass produce the structures.

George Romney, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, hailed the contract as a significant start in reaching former President Lyndon B. Johnson's goal of 26 million new housing units in the next decade.

HUD also yesterday announced its venture of providing mortgage subsidies to help low-income families afford home ownership has passed the one-year mark with all the earmarks of success.

Some 16,500 families with average annual incomes of $5,600 are buying homes thanks to the program.

The prefabricated home contract calls for carpenters, plumbers and electrical workers to join in eventually producing 2,500 homes a year for Prestige Structures, Inc., of Charlotte, Mich.

Romney said the interunion arrangement might force other manufacturers to seek similar agreements with organized labor if they are to remain competitive in the prefabricated housing field.

Skyjacker, Family United In Rome

ROME (AP) — Raphael Minichiello was reunited with his family today in the Rome jail where he has been held since he hijacked a jetliner from California to Rome last weekend.

Minichiello was visited by his 76-year-old father Luigi, who lives in a village near Naples, and by his mother Maria and sister Annamaria, who flew to Italy yesterday from the United States.

GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Impala's hidden persuaders:

①350-cu.-in. engine
A new more powerful standard 250-hp V8 makes the 1970 Impala move with all the more assurance.
On good ol' regular gas.

②Anti-theft column lock
A locking system is built right into the steering column. When you take your key with you, you lock not only your ignition, but your steering wheel as well.

③Aluminized exhaust system
It simply means that your original muffler, tailpipe and exhaust are going to last longer than you'd probably expect them to.
Fair enough?

④Side guard beams
They look like highway guard rails, and they're built into both sides of the car for extra protection in case of impact.
Not too many cars have them.

⑤Inner fenders
Up inside every fender is another fender to protect against slush and mud and help keep your Impala looking young.

⑥Flush and dry
We build the car so that rain and wash water can run down through the inside of the rocker panels, then out.
Air follows to do the drying.

⑦Full Coil suspension
Huge coil springs at all four wheels are four big reasons why a Chevrolet Impala rides smoother and quieter than a low-priced car has any right to.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Ancient Mariner Restaurant Set For Strawberry Town, Country

About the first of the year, look for another new dinery in Southern Marin, the Ancient Mariner Restaurant at Strawberry Town and Country Village.

This is a project of a Southern California corporation with restaurants in Newport Beach and Santa Ana. The company is leasing the space at the south end of the village formerly occupied by Inn Marin and has applied for a transfer of its on-sale liquor license.

Considerable remodeling will be done, enlarging the cocktail lounge which I recall was usually a busy place. There is ample square footage in the dining room which can be spared for the conversion.

Decor will be on the nautical side to go along with Ancient Mariner restaurants in the south, but this should not pose too much of a conversion problem. In fact, it was the present construction of this site that caused the company to choose it.

At the start, the Ancient Mariner will serve only dinners and I understand its style of menu runs to steaks and seafoods.

Douglas Rys, treasurer of the company, is in Marin to oversee the remodeling work and he will also be in charge when the restaurant opens, He plans on living in Marin.

PEACOCK GAP COUNTRY CLUB now has a Chinese oven which offers an excellent opportunity for some new additions to the dinner menu.

Among these are barbecued spareribs; barbecued squab, ducks and chicken; barbecued pork loin; French-cut double lamb chops and barbecued suckling pig. The pig is a special treat for groups of 15 to 30, requiring a week's notice.

Other tempting dishes are Oriental vegetables and side dishes of oyster beef, barbecued pork and ginger beef.

Continental side of the menu names such selections as turbot a la Mason (I detect the fine hand of catering manager Louis Mason in this), mahi mahi, scampi, squab, medallion de boeuf with sauce Bernaise, several steaks, broiled lamb chops, veal and pork.

After an absence of three years from Peacock Gap, that canny Scot Jim Davidson has returned as chef. Both Jim and Lou Mason did their restaurant apprenticeship in Europe.

I would like to see more evenings a week devoted to dinner here, except just Friday and Saturday. But club manager Gene Wallace reports that this is the most efficient operation of all those tried. He's now in his seventh year at Peacock Gap and should know.

JOHN WEILAND has a new Sunday brunch menu at Blue Rock Inn, Larkspur, and John himself finds it so tempting he's seriously considering forgetting all about that diet, whether or not he drops the remaining 10 pounds he's been told to lose.

One item particularly appetizing is the turkey Eugene — a casserole of broccoli covered with breast of turkey and served with sliced ham and Mornay sauce. Another is the chef's special seafood omelet with tiny bay shrimp and Dungeness crab meat.

Others ideally suited for early Sunday fare are eggs Benedict, huevos rancheros, griddle cakes, French toast and steak and eggs. Three sandwiches are featured: Monte Cristo, club house and Reuben.

THERE HAS BEEN some talk of Eugene Lackenbach giving up Eugene's Country Club Restaurant at the Country Club Bowl in San Rafael. But the latest word is that he will continue.

However, some changes will be made. The snack bar, which has been near the other end of the building, will be moved to adjoin the restaurant. Remodeling will take place near the entrance from the lobby to accommodate the changeover. Some of the counter and a booth probably will have to be removed. There will also be a change in Eugene's menu, with his popular hamburgers and similar items getting increased billing.

Meanwhile, he is negotiating for the Griddle at Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue for a company in which he will be a principal. Lease terms remain to be settled. But when everything is completed, the Griddle will be remodeled and Eugene plans to operate both places. Don't look for a reopening of the Griddle, however, much before the first of the year.

THERE ARE MORE remodeling changes in store for Anjo's, at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael, where Joe Scotto's partner Angelo Camilleri has sold out his interest.

Mario Ferrari is tending bar. He's formerly of Franchini's and San Rafael Joe's.

THERE ARE SAID to be some 800 standard recipes for straight and mixed drinks, each of which the man behind the bar is supposed to be able to prepare without an instant's hesitation. It's quite an accomplishment. In recent years, customers have become more inventive and widened their choices to include new concoctions. I salute Marin's many fine bartenders, one of whom, Henry Blencke, is now at the Pepperwood in San Anselmo. He's formerly of Buckeye and at Gregory's

LEE VALENTINE, bartender at Taberna, has more than one kettle of fish on the stove. He's also an excellent and experienced cook. If you'd like to know just how good — try his lunches, which have been resumed at Taberna.

SUDDENLY REALIZING that the number of requests for food service on Monday nights has some significance, Al Barthel has decided to serve Monday dinners at Senor Alfredo's Mexican Restaurant adjoining the San Anselmo Post Office. This puts him in service seven nights a week. It's too bad there isn't more of an outside color contrast between Alfredo's and the Post Office for easier identification. Some people don't even know there is a restaurant,

DONOVAN J. FANDRE of Sausalito and his partner York K. Fischer have decided against opening their proposed French Quiche restaurant at 256 Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley. They are now looking for another more suitable location.

Meanwhile, they are selling their quiche dishes through delicatessens.

NEW CHEF at Bernard's Executive Lounge, San Rafael, is Wally Price, who was last at the Seven Seas in Sausalito. The entire kitchen is being rearranged and the menu is also being changed.

Bernard is displaying paintings, rotating the work of different artists every 30 days. Being shown this month are the oils of Lorraine Stevens of San Rafael, covering a wide range of subjects.

PIER 15 in San Rafael starts its annual Liars Dice Tournament again this week and 64 entries are already in. Finals will be early in January. Last year's champion Norman Peterson is ready to defend his title against all comers.

PATERSON'S in Sausalito (formerly the Plaza Bar), named after Bill Paterson of Pier 15, who designed it as a Scottish pub and is one of the owners, is getting more and more wall decorations. Partner Peter Wells, now traveling, has been sending in lithographs and original prints, some over 100 years old.

With its beamed ceilings and Scottish black carpeting, this place has a quaint touch. Now being planned are a fireplace and a dart room.

Millionaire's Art Journey Marred

GENEVA (AP) — An American oil millionaire and his wife flew from California to Geneva in their private jet yesterday bought five French Impressionist paintings for $375,000 at an auction, then were offered a $20 room without bath.

Declining politely, Dr. Armand Hammer and his wife Frances boarded their jet and flew back to the United States.

A hotel source said their room was mistakenly given to another man called Hammer who arrived at about the same time.

"Dr. Hammer wasn't really upset—he just thought the organization was a bit fouled up," the source said.

Hammer, chairman of the board of Occidental Petroleum and owner of the Hammer Gallery in New York, was attending the sales by Christie's, the London auction house.

Taxpayers Filed By Zip Code Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has broken down by zip code areas information on the nation's taxpayers but says it will not provide the data to bulk mailing firms.

In its announcement yesterday the IRS said information on the number of taxpayers—joint and single—the number of dependents and the number of incomes in various brackets is available for all 34,000 zip code areas. The information breakdown is designed, the IRS said, to assist federal agencies and state and local governments plan for their various projects and programs.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., and others have called the practice an invasion of privacy.

Allergy Used To Fight Off Skin Cancers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new treatment of skin cancer in which the body is "trained" to attack malignant tissue has been used successfully on 120 patients, a Buffalo, N.Y., physician reported yesterday.

"This is the first evidence the body has defense mechanisms against cancer which can be triggered," said Dr. Edmund Klein, 47, chief of the dermatology department of Rosewell Park Memorial Institute.

"If they can be triggered against one form of cancer, it ought to be possible to get the body to react against other forms of cancer," he said.

But Klein emphasized the technique—which involves stirring up the body's natural defense mechanisms—has been used successfully only against three types of cancer and precancerous conditions on the surface of the skin or close to the surface.

He described it as a "touchstone" in the widespread research to utilize the body's allergic reactions to suppress malignancies.

However, he said standard therapeutic techniques such as surgery and radiation couldn't be used when large areas of skins were involved with persistently developing tumors.

Western GOP Leaders Defend Agnew Remark

HONOLULU (AP) — Most Western Republican leaders attending a conference here say the voters want Vice President Spiro T. Agnew to keep firing away at antiwar demonstrators. But one GOP governor thinks he should tone down his words.

Gov. David Cargo of New Mexico told a newsman some of the organizers of the Vietnam Moratorium Day are "a mess."

But he added: "I'm not so sure they are all intellectual snobs. I'm not so sure they all don't have anything to offer. Young people have a lot to say. They have noble ideas."

Cargo and other party leaders were interviewed yesterday at a session of the Western States Republican Conference at which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., strongly defended Agnew for calling the leaders of the demonstrations "impudent snobs."

Goldwater got his biggest ovation when he said of Agnew, "The vice president's crime, it seems, was to describe an effete corps of impudent snobs as 'an effete corps of impudent snobs.'"

Goldwater's fellow Arizonan, Gov. Jack Williams, agreed, saying of dissenters: "If they want to engage in vitriolic debate, let's give it to them. If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen."

"I couldn't agree more with Vice President Agnew," said Gladys O'Donnell of California, president of the National Federation of Republican Women. "I think he speaks out. I think he is right. He is his own man." However, Cargo remarked that "we've done a lot of talking about lowering voces," referring to a phrase used by President Richard M. Nixon, and "Why not do it?"

Marinite's Opera Slated For Premier

A one-act opera written by a Fairfax man will be presented for the first time next week by an amateur musical club in New Jersey.

The forty-minute opera, "Wings of Icarus" will be presented Friday and Saturday by the Musical Club of Westfield at the Terrill Road Junior High School in Scotch Plains, N.J. Belcher, who was born in Westfield, N.J. is flying east to see his work premiered.

Belcher, a six-year resident of Marin who lives at 39 Iron Springs Road, describes his work as "neo-romantic" and hopes to see it produced eventually in Marin County.

The Law Says 'Public'; Bureaucrats Stamp 'Secret'

"The measure I sign today . . . springs from one of our most essential principles: a democracy works best when the people have all the information that the security of the nation permits. No one should be able to pull curtains of secrecy around decisions which can be revealed without injury to the public interest . . .

"I have always believed that freedom of information is so vital that only the national security, not the desire of public officials or private citizens, should determine when it must be restricted . . .

"I am instructing every official in this administration to cooperate to this end and to make information available to the full extent consistent with individual privacy and with the national interest."

SO SAID PRESIDENT Lyndon B. Johnson as he signed the Public Records Law on July 4, 1966.

Little more than three years later, let's take a look at what is happening, as reported by the Washington office of the University of Missouri's Freedom of Information Center:

The Navy refused transcripts of the court of inquiry into capture of the spy ship Pueblo on the basis of a 1946 statute which was specifically repealed by the Public Records Law.

The Air Force put back a requirement, specifically repealed by that law, that an applicant for information must prove his need for the records sought.

The Federal Trade Commission announced a new regulation requiring that any applicant for its records explain in writing why he wants them, and that if the records involve someone outside the FTC, they will not be released if he objects — both provisions being directly contrary to the Public Records Law.

These actions — and hundreds of similar actions by underlings in these and other federal agencies when specific public records are requested — put the federal government's bureaucracy itself in open disregard of the law which was enacted by Congress and signed, with such glowing praise, by a President of the United States.

THE PUBLIC RECORDS Law provides that federal agencies must make their records — except those falling into specified categories — promptly available to any citizen. If the person is refused, he may seek an injunction in a federal district court. The burden of proof that release of the record would damage the national interest then is placed on the agency which denied it.

These are plainly spelled-out steps to obtain access to a public record. But obviously, it is still possible for an agency that wants to flout the law's intent to delay release of a record for so long that it may be of no use for the purpose for which it was sought. And obviously a recalcitrant agency may put a citizen to an unreasonalbe amount of trouble and expense before letting him see a public record.

THE LAW PROBABLY goes as far as it can. But the people cannot rely solely on a law to assure that matters of public interest are not kept from the public.

It would be encouraging if the incumbent President would renew the instructions of his predecessor to "every official in this administratio " to abide by the letter and spirit of the law. It would be still more encouraging if each cabinet member would instruct those agencies in his department to fulfill their obligations to the public by making records available when requested.

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon Taking Tremendous Gamble In Vietnam Policy—But May Win

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

It is now clear that he is determined to avert what he deems a disastrous U.S. defeat, even if it means that the American people may turn and drive him from the presidency — as Lyndon Johnson was driven from even daring to seek re-election last year.

It is a tremendous gamble but it is evident that the President either is confident he can succeed in ending America's role in the war without throwing away the peace or disregards the political consequences — or both.

THERE IS EVIDENCE to support Mr. Nixon's conviction that he can hold the effective support of most Americans for withdrawing "all of our forces from Vietnam" at a pace that will enable the South Vietnamese to take over their own defense totally and successfully.

There can be no certainty but there are favorable signs.

In the wake of the Oct. 15 moratorium Mr. Nixon's approval rating in the Gallup Poll did not fall; it rose 6 points to 58 per cent.

Now that the President has begun to give the country a candid, credible, persuading statement of the consequences of precipitate withdrawal, we believe he will win increasing support and can isolate the escalate-the-war hawks and the lose-the-peace doves.

AS THE GOVERNMENTS and opinion leaders in non-Communist countries see that Mr. Nixon is genuinely seeking disengagement and a peace which will not leave the seeds of future war, criticism of U.S. policy is steadily receding.

Newspapers like the New York Times and the Washington Post, which have never erred on the side of being falsely optimistic about the state of the war, are now reporting that the Viet Cong forces are badly weakened, that pacification is making significant new gains and that VC defection — nearly 7,000 in six weeks — is at an all-time peak.

It may not be conclusively provable until events take shape over the coming weeks, but it our judgment that Mr. Nixon is winning the war for public support on the home front. His appeal was primarily to the American people for enough time and enough patience to withdraw at a pace equal to Saigon's mounting capacity to take the whole brunt of the fighting. The extremist hawks and the extremist doves will certainly keep up their conflicting demands. But now that Mr. Nixon is beginning to use the powerful forum of the presidency and is showing that he is determined to exert strong leadership, he has the momentum.

To Hanoi the essence of his message was that North Vietnam should realize that it is not dealing with France of 1954.

THE PRESIDENT is taking a big gamble — and he knows it. The rewards of success will be great but the consequences of failure will be total. He said it plainly:

"I have chosen a plan for peace. I believe it will succeed. If it does succeed, what the critics say now won't matter. If it does not succeed, anything I say then won't matter."

There is no other way to read these words than that he is prepared to encounter political disaster by sticking to a Vietnam policy he belives is right.

The gamble is that in the end — and the time is not unlimited — the success of Mr. Nixon's policy will hinge almost entirely on the ability of the South Vietnamese to defend themselves with declining U.S. support. It is a reasonable gamble but the outcome is uncertain.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Opinions In Letters Not Those Of I-J

The Independent - Journal wishes to express regret for any embarrassment that may have been caused Dr. Louis H. Herkenhoff, president of the College of Marin, by publication in "What Our Readers Say" on Oct. 21 of a letter signed by Edward R. and Nancy L. Bunting.

The Independent-Journal disclaims the opinions expressed in the letter concerning Dr. Herkenhoff's patriotism, loyalty, and public reputation. As with all letters in "What Our Readers Say," the opinions were those of the letter writers and in no way reflect the views of this newspaper.

Spaying Clinic Wins Endorsement

We agree with the party from Novato. We also would like to see a spaying clinic in the county. Surely the county could come up with a solution to this needy problem to alleviate the over-population of pupplies and kittens.

We fully realize the cost of spaying having paid the price for an adopted Humane Society Springer pup and a Boston mix. The Humane Society is doing the best job that it can in finding homes for the homeless and is being unjustly criticized. How many people hear about the many puppies and kittens that are bought by dealers from many sources and sold for a few pennies to the laboratories throughout the country for unnecessary scientific experimentation?

Watchdogs Needed At All Levels

Consider the conflict of interest stories we hear of our politicians being involved in, they who hold the highest offices in the land on down to the county level.

Then we have had a recent exposure of some of the highest "brass" in the Army guilty of Mafia-like tactics, being paid off by several NCOs who were engaged in every known "racket" including black marketing.

I am grateful to find we have so diligent and experienced a man as Bill Fusselman "minding the store" in Marin county. We should have more men like him at all levels of government to keep the tax paying voters informed!

Employment Office Needs To Employ

It seems ironical to me that an office for the purpose of finding jobs could be so understaffed and inefficient itself. I am referring, of course, to our own state Department of Employment.

What irks me is the fact that there are several seemingly functional windows, and only one or two is in use at any given time. One must still take a numbered blue card, sit, and sometimes wait an hour or two to be called. Extra time that could be used following up on a job referral. At the unemployment insurance window (s) it's the same story, only one must stand in line sometimes going halfway round the office. It would seem that the office of hiring could do a little hiring of its own.

Letters In Class Not Campaign

As editor of a newspaper, you are subject to a number of letter writing campaigns, some dealing with subjects appearing in your paper, others not. Many letters carry similar opinions, no matter what the subject is. I feel you've shown your general one-sided ness by not printing the letters you received from Redwood High School. Why do other people get their say, while those directly affected are silenced?

Please don't say these are products of an instigated letter-writing campaign, as that is not true. Our exposition class was discussing the hair policy. Everyone presented an opinion, and they varied so much that one boy left class for two days until we stopped referring to it. We then wrote down our thoughts, addressed them to whomever we wished. That was not an easy task. Once again we wrote letters containing our thought; this time, if we desired, they were mailed to you. No one did this unless they wanted to, and anyway, we would have sent them to you outside of class if it wasn't tended to in class . . .

(Seven letters received from Redwood High School students in two days, all expressing closely similar views on the hair cut regulation dispute, were eliminated as apparent results of a letter-writing campaign. INSIDE WASHINGTON

Navy, Air Force Renew Old Feud Over Planes

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Just like old times, the Navy and the Air Force are engaged in an outbreak of intra-Pentagon guerrilla warfare.

A new plane is involved, just as it was in the long controversy over the Air Force B-36 and in other fights of yesteryear. Congress is again the battleground.

There is a new strategy, however, in the fight for funds and authorizations in the Senate and House. Now the ploy is not just to shoot down the pet plane project of the other service — but to make the other service buy your plane.

ONE OF the Air Force pets in the big military money bill now under congressional scrutiny is the F-15. The F-15, a single-seat air-superiority fighter plane, is down from $175 million worth of development funds in the pending Pentagon budget.

Air Force experts see the F-15 as an air-to-air battle plane which will more than match the "Foxbat," "Flagon" and other fighter planes recently unveiled by the Russians.

Two contractors are working on a new engine for the F-15. Three other contractors are competing for a contract to build the airframe for the plane. New radar and weapons are being developed.

HOWEVER, the Navy also has a new fighter plane, the F-14, at a slightly more advanced stage of development.

Substituted by the Navy when Congress junked its version of the controversial TFX last year, the F-14 is a two-seat carrier fighter which is scheduled to join the fleet in 1973. Like the F-15 it is to have a new power plant in later models which will give it superior performance.

Small wonder, then, that an informal group of Navy officers, including at least one admiral, went to House and Senate military experts with a chart designed to show that the Navy's F-14, when it gets its new engine, could do the job of the Air Force F-15.

NOT ONLY would that substitution be another blow to the ego of the Air Force, which is currently using the Navy-designed F-4 as its basic fighter, but it would also mean additional purchases of the new Navy plane and thus cut the unit costs for Navy budgeting purposes.

When he heard about the Navy's end run, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former secretary of the Air Force, loudly blew the whistle. As a consequence, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the chief of naval operations, put an end to the informal Navy briefings.

Moorer, who has publicly testified that both new fighter planes are necessary, also called executives of Grumman Aircraft, the contractor for the Navy's new plane, and ordered that Grumman lobbyist stop touting the F-14 as a replacement for the cherished Air Force F-15.

Despite Moorer's directive, Air Force leaders are convinced that the lobbying campaign for the Navy plane has not been dropped.

CONTROVERSY over still another plane — the A-7 — has not helped to smooth relations between the Navy and the Air Force. The A-7 is a relatively slow, relatively cheap ground support plane used extensively by the Navy in Vietnam.

The Air Force has already received funds for 74 A-7s, and an additional $375 million, for another 128 A-7s, was budgeted this year.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS)—Let there be a bit of public money to spend, and it can be depended upon that there will be a few legislators with ideas, good or bad, for spending it.

Up comes the announcement that approximately 22.1 million of surplus money will be in the state's coffers this year, and almost before the mimeograph ink is dry on the announcement, at least three assemblymen have come up with ways of spending it.

SO URGENT is the need for getting rid of the money that Assemblywoman March K. Fong, D-Berkeley, wants Gov. Ronald Reagan to call a special session of the Legislature to put the surplus funds into special financing for urban schools.

Assemblyman George N. Zenovich, D-Fresno, chairman of the Democratic caucus, seeks to have the governor use the money for school aid.

And Assemblyman Jess Unruh, D-Los Angeles, speaker of the Assembly in bygone days, says he will support legislation in January to divert the surplus to the state's educational fund.

MUCH DISCUSSION was had during the last session of the Legislature over what to do if there happened to be any surplus left in the state treasury from the normal financing of the government's activities.

The governor virtually assured the proponents of education that if such funds were available, the money would be used for educational purposes. But just what type of educational purposes he did not specify.

Consequently, some assemblymen could not wait to get their hot little hands on the people's money to provide more funds for the urban schools which theoretically are in greater need than some of the rural schools.

THE FACT of the matter is that if there is a surplus in the state treasury, it would do no harm to keep it there, and determine if it is a real or phony surplus before going off half-cocked to give it away.

After all, the prospective surplus is money that at least theoretically belongs to the public, having been contributed by the taxpayers of the state to the general fund. As such, the first consideration should be as to whether retaining such funds in the state's general fund might effect a small reduction in taxes next year.

Obviously, there never can be a reduction in taxes if some assemblymen have enough potency to disburse every dollar paid into the state treasury over and above budget needs, and this seems to be the tendency.

If the people let the "spenders" get away with robbing the general fund of its surplus, they have no one else to blame.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JOANNE GRANT

McCown Choice Well Predicted, But Perhaps For Wrong Reason

The appointment of James H. McCown as city manager of San Rafael must go down as one of the most predicted actions a city council has ever taken.

The predictions began shortly after the death of Dan E. Andersen and continued all through the council's elaborate advertising, collecting and reading applications from 67 official candidates, and closed meetings to discuss the appointment.

MOST OF THE guesses were based on the same theory, even when they came from officials and residents of other Marin cities, as they frequently did:

The financially conservative council would select McCown because of $4,000 — the difference between the high and low ends of the starting salary.

They would be giving McCown a hefty raise ($5,000) to $20,000 and saving the $4,000 they might have had to pay a man with experience as a city manager.

THE COUNCIL itself hasn't mentioned that as a reason and perhaps all of the predictors are wrong.

It concentrated instead of McCown's familiarity with the city, his background as a military and municipal finance director, and the ability he showed as acting manager.

McCown, who also holds a master's degree in business administration, had all those qualifications but the proven ability before he became acting city manager. And his performance as city finance director should have been some indication of that.

IN ANOTHER VEIN another financially conservative city council seems to have gotten through to its police department.

It's Fairfax, where the council and the police regularly battle over payment for overtime. The council cuts the request at budget time, then has to go back later to figure out how to take care of the thousands of hours the men have worked without pay.

One of the time-consuming operations is arrests — taking people to the county jail in San Rafael and booking them.

So, apparently in the interest of economy, Fairfax now chases its criminals out of town and lets other departments handle them.

The last one was a man first pursued by San Anselmo police and later arrested in San Rafael. The one before that was first stopped by sheriff's deputies and later arrested in Petaluma.

Actually, Fairfax police have not any more control than other departments on where their criminals go, but it's working out nicely.

ITEM: One of Fairfax City Council's recent closed meetings was unusual to say the least. The council met to discuss promoting a fireman to captain when there wasn't a captain's position to promote him to. He got the promotion.

Item: In case you need any public information from Marin Municipal Water District, it now has a public information officer, according to a note at the end of a recent press release. The only hitch is that no one at the district office seems to know who the information officer is, so it may be difficult to reach him (her).

Fair Trade Laws Bite Liquor Buyer's Purse

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislative committee today was told that laws which prohibit liquor to be sold at discount prices cost Californians $200 million each year.

"Purely and solely and exclusively as the result of the fair trade law, the consumer in California pays $1 to $1.50 (per bottle) more than in states that don't have a fair trade law," former Municipal Court Judge Jacques Leslie told the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee.

Leslie said before the fair trade law was repealed in New York, it was estimated distillers made an extra $150 million each year because of uniform pricing.

"I would say the loss to consumers in this state is more likely $200 million," said Leslie.

The committee, chaired by Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, also considered possible changes in the laws governing transfer of liquor licenses.

Moretti said Wednesday he had "some concern" over exorbitant costs and profit-making in areas where the licenses are scarce.

To Avoid Shots Man Must Find Big Black Dog

An Inverness man is seeking a large black dog which bit him Wednesday noon so that he can avoid the painful anti-rabies treatment.

Dudley Dixon of Kenneth Way, Inverness, said he was opposite the Inverness Post Office when he was bitten by the mixed-breed male dog, black with buff-colored chest and belly.

Dixon said the dog wore a leather or fiber collar with blue tags and estimated it weighed 60 to 75 pounds and was 20 to 22 inches high at the shoulder.

He said he searched for the dog Wednesday and yesterday to no avail.

He asked anyone knowing of the dog to contact him or the Humane Society with a history of the dog's rabies shots. He said he is not interested in prosecuting the dog's owner, only in avoiding the shots.

County Official's Wife Stricken

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A family spokesman says a heart attack is blamed for the death of Margaret Coffey Watson, 47, the wife of Los Angeles County Assessor Philip Watson.

The body was discovered by her husband about 5:45 p.m. yesterday in their Hollywood home. Friends said she apparently was stricken while taking a nap.

Mrs. Watson was her husband's chief field deputy before their marriage Nov. 4, 1968. She retired after the marriage. Prior to joining Watson's office in 1963, she had been a newspaper and television writer.

Fired Profs Reinstated; No Back Pay

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Personnel Board today ordered the reinstatement without back pay of 122 employees of San Francisco and San Jose state colleges fired during last winter's teacher strike.

The board acted on recommendations of its hearing officer, Robert L. Hill, who had been considering the appeals of 313 San Francisco State employees and 27 San Jose State employees.

They were considered to have submitted automatic involuntary resignations when they rolled up five or more unexcused absences during a walkout sponsored by the American Federation of Teachers.

The fired employees, most of them instructors, appealed their dismissal to the state Personnel Board. Generally, their reinstatement was agreed to by attorneys for the state college system.

The board took no action on the appeals of 130 employees because they withdrew their cases. The board also dismissed the appeals of 83 persons because they had not actually been fired.

For three, the board ordered reinstatement with back pay because they were found not to be absent without leave. The board ordered the cases of two other appellants considered separately.

Hill heard the case on the basis of written statements filed by lawyers. There was no oral presentation.

Veterinary Medicine License Are Granted

Two men from Marin and Southern Sonoma counties have been licensed to practice veterinary medicine in California, according to the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards.

Bogus Renters Turn Robbers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two armed men blindfolded, gagged or tied up six apartment house residents and robbed them of $1,525 in cash and jewelry, police said.

The victims yesterday were the apartment manager and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon M. Bucklew; Oscar Galvin, 25; George Kovack Jr., 50; Roland Stahel, 73, and Patricia A. Woods, 23.

Bucklew, 73, told police the two men asked to rent a room, then pulled the gun, tying him up and putting a sweater over his head. He said his wife was allowed to remain in bed with a blanket covering her head.

Police said the men forced Bucklew to accompany them to other apartments whose occupants were hooded by sweaters or blankets while their rooms were ransacked.

Burglary Case To Juvenile Court

The case of Gregory Alan Pack, 18, of Santa Venetia, has been accepted by Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court.

Pack is accused of burglarizing a Novato residence Oct. 15 along with three younger teenage youths.

Liquor Watchdog Appeals Ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California Alcoholic Beverage Control Department is asking the state's Supreme Court to reconsider the high court's ruling prohibiting suspension or revocation of liquor licenses for selling at less than a minimum retail prize.

The petition, filed yesterday by the attorney general's office, asserts the court was guilty of "rewriting of a constitutional provision and redistribution of powers."

Involved are three firms the ABC said had sold liquor for less than the minimum prices. The department, as a result, suspended the license of Big Boy Liquors Co., Ltd. of San Francisco, and revoked the licenses of Richard Corsetti, a San Francisco food store owner, and Samson Market Co., Inc., of Los Angeles.

Supreme Court justices, in a 5-2 decision, had held the minimum price law section which provides only monetary penalties was constitutional.

A Mother With A Demanding Career

By BETH GAEDDERT

Mrs. Mary Ann Holman is a working mother with a calm, realistic point of view. While at work at the Ross Hospital psychiatric ward in Ross she supervises the daily care of 24 live-in patients. While at home in Santa Venetia she is mother to three small children.

MRS. MARY ANN HOLMAN

When she started working nights at the hospital four years ago her children were two months, one and two years old. She was away from home from 2:30 p.m. to midnight and did, she said, suffer from "a little lack of sleep." Now on the regular day shift, Mrs. Holman often works overtime attending evening meetings with patients and families. She feels lucky to have a neighbor who babysits because she found nursery school teachers reluctant to take three children from the same family.

Mrs. Holman works, she tells you directly, because she has to. Divorced, she is the supporter of Marie, 6, Michelle, 4, and Mark, 3.

And it is someone with this same directness and realistic view of things she looks for when hiring nurses for the psychiatric ward.

"I look for someone with common sense, with their feet on the ground," she said adding that she is more inclined to hire a nurse who admits she isn't always sure of herself when working with teen-agers in a psychiatric ward than one who breathlessly says she "loves working with children."

The nurses on the psychiatric wing at Ross wear street clothes if they prefer, so it's often hard at a glance to tell which are patients and which are staff. The clinic's basic purpose is to help patients find better ways to solve personal or family problems. Since it opened in 1962 about 3,000 Marin citizens have been treated there, usually on a short term basis and they come voluntarily, most always on the recommendation of their doctor. Patients who visit the day clinic often participate in the daytime activities of the live-in patients.

An integral part of treatment is occupational therapy and Mrs. Holman's children recently gave the therapist an idea for a project of burlap stitchery. And Mrs. Holman sometimes has her children do some of the projects the patients learn.

When she received the registered nursing degree after a three year program at St. Joseph's Creighton Memorial Hospital in Omaha, Neb., she had an interest in psychiatric nursing but didn't follow it until starting at Ross in 1966. In the meantime she had returned to Creighton to earn the B.S. in nursing. Then she moved to the Bay Area and taught at St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco for four years where she worked up to the day she had her first baby.

"I worked, went home, and went back to the same hospital and had my baby. It was kind of fun, I knew all the people," she said.

This week Mrs. Holman is attending the first of four one week conferences at the University of California at Los Angeles on community mental health nursing. Assistant nursing supervisor, Carol Kinney is also attending the conference designed to help practicing nurses learn to use the newest mental health concepts. The other three sessions will be held during the next two years.

Golden Wedding Pair Recall Farming, Railroading Days

Thirty-seven year residents of Marin, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ewing of Novato, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday, and they reminisced about their years of marriage.

Mrs. Ewing was born in the sod house in Alliance, Neb., that her father and grandfather lived in when they homesteaded property there. After they were married in Bridgeport, Neb. Mrs. Ewing inherited 440 acres of prairie land and Mr. Ewing decided to become a farmer.

"He plowed the entire acreage, using a team of six horses." Mrs. Ewing related.

"We farmed for 10 years," Mrs. Ewing said, but when they "went broke during the depression" they decided to leave the area. "Hogs were three cents a pound, wheat 30 cents a bushel and corn was so cheap we used it in place of coal for heat," he said.

He had quit "railroading" to farm and when they left Nebraska with their two children, "with no debts but only a car and clothes." They came west and Mr. Ewing returned to railroading.

He worked at the Tiburon railroad yards as a car inspector from 1941 to 1963. They lived on the hill overlooking the yards and Mr. Ewing would walk to and from work every day. He retired from the railroad following the tunnel fire at Puerto Suello Hill and then became a commercial fisherman for two years.

The Ewings now live in a mobile home in Novato where he does small maintenance jobs "just to keep busy."

Their formula for staying young— keep active.

"Women never retire they work longer, so they don't dwindle away," Mr. Ewing said. He asked "Why do you suppose women outlive men?" and answered, "It's because they keep working."

While Mr. Ewing keeps busy with his workshop, Mrs. Ewing enjoys sewing, crocheting, cooking and gardening.

They have one son and a daughter. Darrel Ewing lives in Greenbrae with his wife and three children, David, 17, Richard, 16 and Gioia 10 years old. Mrs. Arlis Sumpter lives in Penngrove. She is the mother of Michael West and Janelle Sumpter, who is 12 years old. The Ewings also have two great grandchildren in Novato, James and Robert West.

A reception honoring the couple was held in Greenbrae Sunday hosted by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Ewing of Novato, Mr. Ewings brother and wife assisted by Mrs. Sumpter.

A Hand-Knit Look Is Latest Fashion

By JANE ROGERS
London Express Service

Does the sweater that you're wearing have a home-spun look about it? Could it have been lovingly knitted for you by Auntie Lil? Believe it or not, the trend-setting style for knitwear now is the hand-knitted one.

To be right in fashion at the moment you need to have at least one thing knitted up with a slightly uneven, lumpy home-spun effect which is achieved with the aid of some very sophisticated machinery.

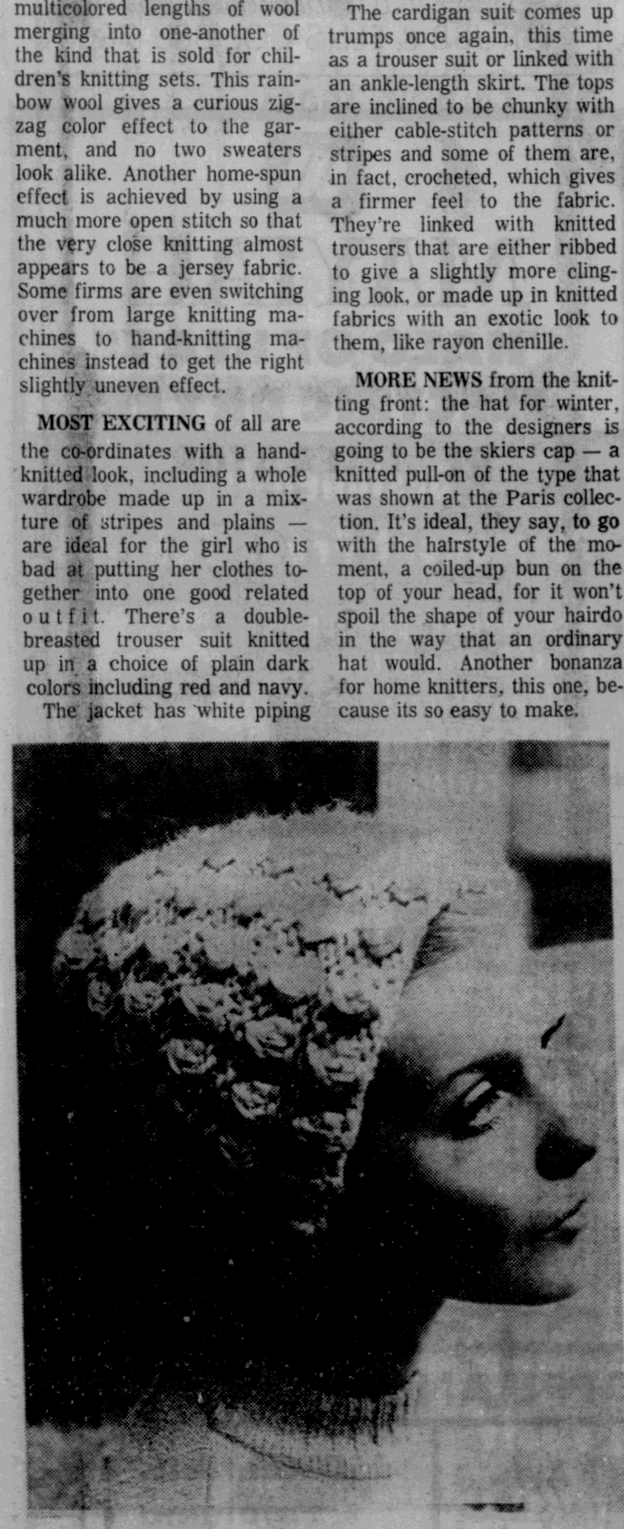

THE ARTY-crafty look in sweaters is done with the aid of knobbly looking wools like boucle yarns, or, as it's color you are after, by the use of 'rainbow' wools — balls of multicolored lengths of wool merging into one-another of the kind that is sold for children's knitting sets. This rainbow wool gives a curious zig-zag color effect to the garment, and no two sweaters look alike. Another home-spun effect is achieved by using a much more open stitch so that the very close knitting almost appears to be a jersey fabric. Some firms are even switching over from large knitting machines to hand-knitting machines instead to get the right slightly uneven effect.

MOST EXCITING of all are the co-ordinates with a hand-knitted look, including a whole wardrobe made up in a mixture of stripes and plains — are ideal for the girl who is bad at putting her clothes together into one good related outfit. There's a double-breasted trouser suit knitted up in a choice of plain dark colors including red and navy. The jacket has white piping to enliven it, but dry-cleaning is no problem as its made up in washable Dacron knit. If you don't want a blazer there is a less tailored, droopy collarless cardigan in a choice of light colors trimmed with dark and to go under either of them a choice of a sleeveless polo-necked sweater in a plain color or a gaily striped knitted shirt.

ANOTHER NEW way with knits is launched by Nicki Ferrari, a new designer on the fashion scene it's a range of knitted separates trimmed with what looks at first sight, like leather, used cowboy fashion on jackets and trousers, but is in fact polyutherene that has been sprayed onto the knitted fabric.

The cardigan suit comes up trumps once again, this time as a trouser suit or linked with an ankle-length skirt. The tops are inclined to be chunky with either cable-stitch patterns or stripes and some of them are, in fact, crocheted, which gives a firmer feel to the fabric. They're linked with knitted trousers that are either ribbed to give a slightly more clinging look, or made up in knitted fabrics with an exotic look to them, like rayon chenille.

MORE NEWS from the knitting front: the hat for winter, according to the designers is going to be the skiers cap — a knitted pull-on of the type that was shown at the Paris collection. It's ideal, they say, to go with the hairstyle of the moment, a coiled-up bun on the top of your head, for it won't spoil the shape of your hairdo in the way that an ordinary hat would. Another bonanza for home knitters, this one, because its so easy to make.

THIS PARIS style pull-on skiers cap comes ready-made in some shops, but the home knitter can make it herself to achieve that lumpy homespun effect that is fashionable.

MAKE WAY FOR that homemade look in sweaters and caps this year. This striped cardigan was crocheted to turn a pair of knitted slacks into a pants suit.

Art Show Preview Party Tonight At Marin Art And Garden Center

By MOLLY MARIN

An invitational party to preview the "People Who Need People" art show at the Caroline S. Livermore Room of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross will be held there tonight by Mary Prato and Jean Simmons, co-owners of a Fairfax art shop. The eight man show will be open to the public tomorrow and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The four Marin artists who will exhibit their works are Gwen Stone, abstracts and collages; Jeane Noble, old mission scenes in oils and acrylics; Marcella Winer, pastel still lifes; James E. Lannert Jr., oil portraits of children. Also, water colors by Nancy Tapscott Conzett, former Marinite now living in Kensington; two Mendocino artists, Dorothea Ridenour, batiks on chiffon; E. John Robinson, seascapes; and from San Francisco, Dennis Hodgson, camera still life studies in color.

Nancy Conzett's two sisters, Mrs. Gordon Leathers of Novato and Mrs. George Hancock of San Rafael will attend.

BRIG. GEN. RET. and Mrs. Jack Gibbs have returned to their Marin Country Club estates home in Novato following a six-weeks-fishing trip. They spent the time in their trailer, fishing for salmon and steelhead on the Klamath and Trinity Rivers. Friends from Southern California joined them for part of their vacation. Very successful catching fish, they brought home both canned and smoked fish.

THE STEPHEN R. Hammonds of Mill Valley, who will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Nov. 17, will be honored at a gathering Sunday and also on Nov. 21. Reverend Hammond is retired minister of the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley and the Church of the Redeemer in Glenwood, and the Mill Valley congregation will honor the couple at the church on Sunday.

Their son, the Rev. D. Murray Hammond, is currently minister of the Church of Our Saviour and the family will give a dinner at the rectory Nov. 21 to celebrate the senior Hammonds' anniversary. Attending will be another son, H.R. Hammond, Fairfax superintendent of schools, and his family and the Hammonds' other two sons and daughter. The couple have 20 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren, and some 40 family members are expected at the dinner celebration.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Has Men Sitting On Women's Laps Become Fashionable Or Just For TV

DEAR HELEN:

Is this some sort of trend? I mean men sitting on women's laps, instead of vice versa?

On almost all the interview shows I see stars like Johnny Carson, Merv Griffin, Mike Douglas, Jimmy Dean, etc. plopping down on the ladies' laps; but you almost never see this in reverse on television interviews.

I suppose it would be somewhat difficult to interview a gal objectively while she is resting on your knees but, on the other hand, if I sat on a girl's lap, I'd be afraid she would act motherly, which is the last thing I'd want.

Has lap-sitting for men become fashionable? — DISAPPROVING MAN

DEAR DIS:

I doubt it will ever really catch on. Babes in lap-land should be female. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I spent almost $3,000 on our daughter's wedding. Six months later they split up and a divorce is in the hopper. They don't seem very concerned or upset — "Just one of those things, so lots of luck — see you around sometime." They divided the loot and came out with enough to set up two apartments. Moreover, they got a south sea cruise as a wedding gift from us.

Luckily I could afford this, but I can't help thinking of other families who sunk most of their saving on a big send-off, only to have the marriage turn out a dud. Why doesn't Lloyds of London or some other insurance company insure the father of the bride, so if there's divorce action in less than a year, he gets back a large percentage of what he spent? —ROOKED DAD

DEAR DAD:

In this era of the fast exit, what insurance agency would dare insure marriages?

Here's another suggestion:

DEAR HELEN:

Our daughter wants a big wedding. I told her on one condition: If she and her husband-to-be would sign a legal note promising to repay all costs should the marriage fizzle within five years. This should keep them together.—SMART FATHER

DEAR HELEN:

I am 23 and was married when I was 17. I lost my wife through childbirth, but our daughter lived. In 1968, my sister-in-law was bringing my three children to see me in jail, when she had a wreck and she and all the children were killed.

It was in December, 1966, not long after my wife died, that I was taken to jail on a kidnapping charge, but I did not do it.

If I could get in touch with certain friends, they could prove I am innocent, but they moved away and I can't find out where.

DEAR INNOCCNT:

If your warden believes your story, he will help you trace these friends. They might be located through a forwarding address at the post office, or with the aid of a lawyer or newspaper reporter, should either become interested in your case. Talk to the prison chaplain first, and perhaps he'll get you an audience with the warden—H.

Number Of Women Drivers Has Grown

In 1950, only 15 million women held driver's licenses in the United States. The figure today is an estimated 43 million women.

That's in addition to 60 million male drivers, according to the National Automobile Club.

HAPPINESS

'What Do You Want From Life?—Cash? Love? Work?

By JOHN MASON
London Express Service

Love and marriage go together like a horse and carriage, runs the song. Well, the horse has finally bolted.

In a social survey, thousands of couples were asked: "What is the vital ingredient for a happy marriage?"

Love came limping in well down the list.

And the women listed "good pay," "faithfulness and steadiness," and "kindness and consideration" as the most ideal characteristics in a husband.

Only a tiny minority gave love the number one priority. Usually it ranked as an "also ran" — along with "intelligence and common sense."

The survey to find out what most people want from life was made in America.

WHAT DO MARRIED people want from life? It can be summed up in one simple word: happiness. But one man's idea of happiness can be another man's purgatory.

As far as the Americans are concerned, happiness equals money. Cash in the bank means instant bliss.

Asked to define what constituted "happiness," 99 out of 100 Americans answered: "Plenty of money." Peace of mind and contentment came in a poor second. And, after that, the favorites were given as good family life, reliable friends, and a satisfying job.

That dear old answer "good health" — which most people used to put above everything else — came fourth in the list, to the astonishment of the researchers.

IT WASN'T surprising that the pollsters came to the conclusion that "most people overestimate the power of money to bring happiness."

But just how would the 16,000 guinea-pigs questioned have set about buying happiness with a check-book and a ballpoint pen?

More than 5,000 of them plumped for a "let's-get-away-from-it-all" holiday. But not one could say what he would do when he got back.

Another 5,000 said they would buy "something practical" — like new furniture, a new car, or a new lick of paint for the house.

Only 13 per cent thought of luxuries — fur coats, diamond rings, hi-fi sets or a nurse for the children.

MOST PEOPLE were nervous of the idea of a lifetime of leisure. Only one in four dreamed of spending the rest of his years sitting by the sea in a deck-chair, a drink in one hand and a book in the other.

In fact, most of them said they would hang on to their jobs once the novelty of a big-money windfall had worn off.

And 75 per cent went further. They said they would continue working beyond retirement age.

Let's say you won $2,500 on a lottery. You would certainly correspond to the results of the survey if you decided to save the lot for a rainy day, invest it or put the cash down as a deposit on a house.

So much for the cash-in-hand side of happiness.

Now for the question of a long life. According to the figures, the thought of living to 100 appeals to only half the population.

The other half would definitely not want to live that long.

BUT IT WAS when the researchers questioned women that some of the oddest facts appeared.

An enormous lot of women said they would be a lot happier if they could "wear the pants" in the household.

The Canadian Institute of Public Opinion — which tackled this aspect of the survey — discovered that most women secretly envy men.

They think they lead "more interesting" lives.

Twenty-nine per cent said they would change places, given the chance. But only six per cent of the men envied their wives' lot.

As a sidelight, the interviewers asked all their subjects: "What is the biggest mistake you've ever made in your life?"

Nearly everyone answered: "Not getting enough education."

Judging by all the answers, it looks as though the ideal "happy person" is a young, male egg-head with a fortune in the bank, a regular job, and a wife who keeps the house spick-and-span and is a dab hand at crepe suzettes.

Wood Floors

Avoid using water or water-based products whenever possible in cleaning wood floors. Experts say that water can seep down into the tight boards, causing warping or swelling. Over a period of time, this can mar the appearance of the floor and require costly refinishing.

New Careers Coordinator Had To Learn Hard Way

By WAT TAKESHITA

A former trouble-maker, who made a successful comeback from prison life to positions of leadership and respect, took over this week as coordinator of New Careers for Marin.

Michael Richard James, 28, was program specialist for the New Careers Development Organization in Oakland when tapped for the Marin job.

The New Careers program in Marin is to select and bring into county employment about 10 new careerists to fill vacancies as they occur.

"The idea is to screen people in — people who have traditionally been screened out because of lack of education or experience," said James, who knows from personal experience what it means to be given another opportunity when the outlook is bleak.

At John Marshall High School in Los Angeles, he was a three-year letterman in sports, gymnastics in particular. Because of his size, (150 pounds, 5 feet 9-and-one-half inches tall), he was better in gymnastics and tumbling than in sports such as football and track.

His father is Dick James, now retired, who was a member of a musical trio called the Playmates, which performed in Reno, Tahoe, Las Vegas and Southern California.

Michael James has three brothers and three sisters..

"I turned out to be the black sheep of the family," admitted James. "I was always getting into trouble. All the fellas I hung around with were always up to mischief. We tought we were smarter than the rest of the world."

NEW CAREERIST — Michael R. James, a graduate of the New Careers program and of the "school of hard knocks," holds a resume of the program he will coordinate in Marin. It will be his job to guide those, who would not have the chance otherwise, into career positions in county administration. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

In 1958 he was held for petty burglary by the California Youth Authority in the Soledad training facility near Salinas. "That's when I began reading," recalled James. "They had quite a library on religion and I exhausted those. Then I started on sociology and psychology. Through these I became aware of the many problems in society but couldn't do anything about them until Doug Grant came through and gave us a chance to do something about it."

J. Douglas Grant was New Careers recruiter for the California Medical Facility at Vacaville, who met James at Camp Don Lugo, a forest camp near Chino.

"He came to camp recruiting," recalled James. "He wanted to test out the concept of using the products of social problems in coping with the problems themselves."

James was one of eight picked to be guinea pigs in the first program of New Careers at Vacaville. The first eight then became the cadre for the second group of eight from the forestry camp.

Since graduating from the New Careers project at Vacaville, James's rise has been rapid. He became training coordinator for the Sacramento Community Welfare Council job development project. He helped write the program for job training, placement and counseling. He was then beckoned to Southern Illinois University's experiment in higher education in 1966. By 1968, he was helping to plan and draw up a New Careers program for the university's center for the study of crime, delinquency and corrections. In July 1968, James came to Oakland to continue his work in New Careers development. He was program specialist for the Oakland New Careers organization, drawing $12,000 per year before he took the Marin job at $984 per month.

James has written a series of papers used in the training of New Careerists. While at Southern Illinois University, he took courses toward his college degree and also studied at Merritt College in Oakland. He has almost enough credits for an Associate of Arts degree, equivalent to a junior college diploma.

James is soft-spoken, but intense and articulate. He talks like a college professor about group dynamics and discrepancies in opportunities.

Will he have any trouble communicating with youth or the unskilled and uneducated?

"None at all," said James. "I grew up in a Mexican-American neighborhood and was about the only white guy around. I had to learn how to fight. and get along. I'll have no problem communicating."

He said much of his work in Oakland and in Illinois was concerned with the blacks and their problems.

James and his wife Virginia, now living in Oakland, plan to find a home near San Rafael sometime this week. "I guess I'll read the papers and start beating the bushes," said James.

Novato Area Garbage Bills Boost Granted

The Novato Sanitary District board gave preliminary approval last night to across-the-board rate increases in garbage collection to go into effect. Dec. 1.

After a three-hour public hearing, the board voted unanimously to grant Novato Disposal Service a 25-cent increase to $2.15 in the basic monthly rate for single family homes, according to Charles A. Joseph, district engineer-manager.

The board also agreed to "proportionate" increases in pickups from commercial buildings and multiple family dwellings. Rates will depend upon the size of the box and frequency of pickup, Joseph said.

For example, the monthly rate for weekly pickup from a two-yard bin will go from $18 to $19.75 and from $22.75 to $24.85 for weekly pickup of a three-yard debris box.

Joseph said the rate for pickup of additional cans from single-family dwellings will rise from $1.25 to $1.35 per can. The basic monthly rate is for weekly pickup from a 35-gallon can or smaller.

In response to concern expressed by members of the audience last night, Joseph said, the rates will be reviewed in a year. He said spectators wondered whether the increases had been justified and foresaw benefits to the disposal service from the pending backyard burning ban without an increase.

The disposal service submitted a request in July to boost the basic residential rate to $2.75, but a special district committee recommended a hike to only $2.20.

Joseph said the increases tentatively approved last night will provide revenue equal to that proposed under the committee's recommendations.

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A permit to fill eight-tenths of an acre of the bay in Sausalito for a parking lot to serve a future marina yesterday was approved, 20-1, by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The JHM Corp. plans a marina for 184 boats outboard of the 63-car parking lot, which will cost about $40,000 to fill. The applicant agreed to set aside 20 per cent of the lot for landscaping and a public walkway.

The only dissenter was Commissioner Hans A. Feibusch of San Francisco, who said the lot could be developed on pilings instead of fill.

Joseph E. Bodovitz of Mill Valley, BCDC executive director, recommended approval of the application. He reported that the commission's ecological consultant, Dr. Thomas Harvey, a biologist at San Jose State College, "after four years finally has found an area in the bay of no ecological value — this site."

Commissioners also heard proposals to fill for two projects elsewhere in Richardson Bay, and set votes on them for Nov. 20.

One was an application by Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere for apartments extending 30 feet out over Strawberry Cove on pilings, the other by Donlon J. Arques to fill four-tenths of an acre just north of Sausalito. The fill would be for a 60-car parking lot to serve a 600-foot pier for 50 houseboats.

Fleischman termed his project "tidying up the shoreline," but several conservationists objected that it would block views from Strawberry Drive and did not provide public access to the open water.

Mrs. P. K. Gilman of Larkspur, vice president of the Marin Conservation League, urged commissioners to withhold approval until a unified plan for the entire cove can be presented.

Dwight Steele of Tiburon, speaking for the Sierra Club, said the Fleischman project violated the BCDC's plan for the bay because it failed to provide any "substantial public benefit."

Fleischman's architect, Allan Steinau of Belvedere, objected that his client could not give public access to the bay because the tidelands outboard of his property were held by other property owners. But Fleischman did guarantee public access across his own property in the hope similar guarantees would be made by the other property owners, Steinau said.

The only speaker favoring the permit was James K. Garner, secretary of the Strawberry Recreation District, who said the district's board of directors approved it as "a positive use of the land."

Arques's attorney, Hugh G. Lawrence of Sausalito, said the new 600-foot pier would "create a home" for houseboats that could meet the county's upgraded standards for safety.

Alameda County Supervisor Emanuel P. Razeto, a commissioner, asked, "Why tolerate houseboats in any condition? I'm surprised at Marin County."

But Lawrence said there were "a great many values" to houseboat living, adding "most of you would give your eye teeth to live on some of them."

Also favoring the permit was Marin Supervisor Michael Wornum, who said he was surprised to find himself "favoring bay fill." He is a former member of the BCDC.

Years of injunctions and law suits by the county to clean up the nautical slum in Richardson Bay had failed to get results, Wornum said, but the proposed dock would give Arques "an incentive to clean up."

The area to be filled "now is a murky soup, with bodies of dogs floating about in it," Wornum said.

The dock would help solve "social problems" ans sewage problems in the area, he added. Almost 300 houseboats in Richardson Bay now discharge sewage waste into the bay, but those attached to the dock would connect to shore sewage treatment facilities.

Steele, again speaking for the Sierra Club, was the only other person to speak on the permit. He urged that the public be permitted access to the pier, which Arques intends to maintain as a private way for houseboat owners.

In other action, commissioners voted, 17-6, to approve construction of the $412 million Southern Crossing Bridge between San Francisco and Alameda. Conservationists objected it will mar the bay, interfere with recreation and compete unnecessarily with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District transbay line.

Chairman Melvin B. Lane, who voted for the bridge, said, "We are not authorized by the state to be transportation experts." The 15-mile-long bridge will have a seven-acre toll plaza, all on piles over the bay.

Minorities Trainee Plan To Be Drawn

A four-man committee to draft final plans for a county-wide drive to recruit minority workers into construction trades was appointed last night by the Bay Area Construction Opportunities Program's Marin advisory board.

Named to the committee were: Charles E. Stokle of San Francisco, a plumber's union representative; N C. Green, San Rafael, business agent for the cement plaster's union; Rev. Samuel L. Banks Jr., pastor of the Village Baptist Church in Marin City, and Monico C. Amador, BACOP director.

The drive, scheduled to begin in December, is an effort to provide temporary jobs for interested youth to fill until apprenticeship slots open up in the various trades, according to Sam de Lisle, local management advisor to the program.

De Lisle said classes for would-be apprentices are being held nightly, Monday through Friday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Village Baptist Church. The classes include mathematics, reading and writing, as well as preparation for apprenticeship tests.

Drug Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of offering to transport and sell marijuana to a narcotics agent was dismissed yesterday against Edward Thomas Vrable, 19, of Lucas Valley, during a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court.

The district attorney's office said there was not sufficient evidence to proceed with the case.

Vrable was arrested July 23 in a narcotics raid in San Rafael.

Veterans Day Will Be A Day Off For Many

Students and most government employees will have a holiday Tuesday for Veterans Day, but most businesses throughout the county will remain open.

City offices in Marin and Southern Sonoma will be closed except in San Anselmo and Petaluma. Federal, state and county offices will be closed, including the courts, and Marin supervisors have canceled Tuesday's meeting.

All Marin and Southern Sonoma schools will close Tuesday, and the Reed, San Rafael and Shoreline districts and College of Marin will close Monday as well.

Several government bodies have canceled or postponed meetings normally scheduled for Tuesday, including Marin supervisors, the Novato and San Anselmo city councils, Larkspur and San Rafael planning commissions, and Petaluma and Lincoln school district boards.

Many groceries will be closed for the holiday but most other businesses will be open, including banks. Parking meters will be in operation in Mill Valley and Sausalito, but not in San Rafael.

Observances of the holiday are scheduled in southern Marin and southern Sonoma. At 8:30 p.m. Monday, W. P. Duhamel will address American Legion Post 284 of Mill Valley on "The First Armistice Day — Nov. 11, 1918," telling of his experiences with the 91st Division during World War I in the Argonne and Meuse offensives. Duhamel is a retired Marin County veterans service officer, and a director of Fair-Marin.

On Tuesday, Muir Woods Post 6741, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will lay a commemorative wreath on the memorial rock at Mill Valley city hall, with post commander Theodore Greubel direction the 11 a.m. ceremony.

In Petaluma, the American Legion plans a flag-burning ceremony at 7:30 p.m. in front of the Veternas Memorial building. Citizens with old or torn flags may bring them to be destroyed.

At 8 p.m., the Petaluma Veterans Council will hear Mayor Helen Putnam speak at the memorial building.

The Independent-Journal will publish as usual and its business offices will be open.

Bay Conservation Committee Protests End Of Proxy System

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission members, many of them voting for the last time because the Legislature killed their proxy system, balloted unanimously yesterday to ask the 1970 Legislature to restore the system.

Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, authored the change in commission rules during the past session of the Legislature.

The motion was made by Commissioner Melville Owen of Kentfield, prominent in Marin GOP circles. An appointee of Gov. Ronald Reagan to BCDC, Owen was not affected by the McCarthy amendment.

Owen noted that the proxy system, which allowed many of the 27 voting members to appoint a proxy to represent them at commission meetings they were unable to attend, "worked for four years and ensured continuity."

One victim of McCarthy's amendment was the Marin County Board of Supervisors' representative on the BCDC, Dr. William F. Upton of San Rafael. The amendment is effective on Monday, so he will have to be replaced by a supervisor whose district touches the bay, which in Marin rules out only Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

Another change, learned yesterday, was appointment to the commission of Belvedere Mayor Thomas S. Price by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter. He will represent the Senate Rules Committee, chaired by Way.

Price replaced Edward J. Slevin of Terra Linda, who had been appointed by McCarthy. The Marin senator, however, was bounced from the rules committee last year by Way.

Way's office has reported that McCarthy's own appointment to the BCDC as the Senate representative may be rescinded.

In other business, commissioners confirmed chairman Melvin B. Lane's appointment of Owen to the advisory committee to the new Joint Committee on Seismic Safety, a statewide committee recently set up by the Legislature.

Girl, 9, Hurt In Bike-Car Accident

Debbie Jean Stranton, 9, of 66 Elm Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises yesterday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael after her bicycle and a car collided in San Anselmo, police reported.

Police daid she rode her bicycle from behind a parked truck into the path of a car driven by Joan C. Daane, 35, of 7 Melville Avenue, San Anselmo, at 8:40 a.m. on Saunders Avenue.

War Protest Parade Request Is Under Study

A war protest parade request from Sonoma State College students was received without comment last night by the Cotati City Council and the decision left to the police chief and city manager.

The letter from the Student Mobilization Against the War in Vietnam asked that students be permitted to parade on East Cotati Avenue from the college to the Cotati Plaza Park on Nov. 14 from noon to 12:30 p.m.

Not wishing to discuss the merits of the Moratorium Day march, the council asked Police Chief Anthony Locarini and City Mgr. Gordon C Howe to make the decision.

The council signed an agreement with Paul Schoch of Hogan, Schoch and Associates of Sebastopol to serve as city engineer at a monthly salary of $100.

A resolution changing the names of East Cotati and West Sierra avenues to the Sonoma State Boulevard was tabled until the Dec. 4 meeting to seek opinions from the Rohnert Park City Council and the Sonoma County Planning Commission.

Fairfax Schools Survey Outlined

A committee studying goals and objectives for the Fairfax School District met for the first time last night and agreed it should start with what kinds of attitudes, abilities and skills people need when they get out into the world.

Supt. H. Reginal Hammond reported the committee plans to take a new look at the district, rather than studying what is being done and coming up with objectives to fit that.

After an hour of getting acquainted and discussing where to start, the committee attended a Parent-Teacher Association meeting to acquaint it with the study.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Nov. 20 at White Hill School.

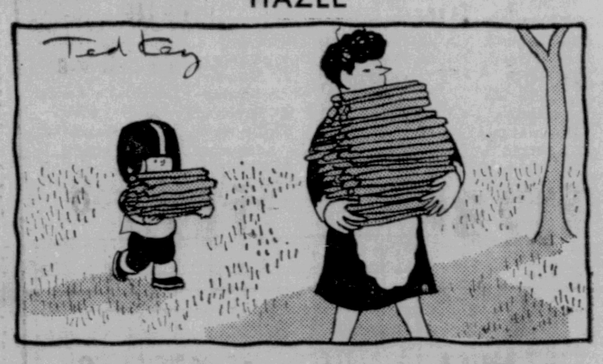

Chain Saw Case To Upper Court

Kenneth James Hough, 22, of Novato, was bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on a charge of burglarizing a San Rafael landscaping firm Oct. 23 after a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

He is to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

Police said they arrested Hough and a 16-year-old companion after they were found near the Turf and Tree firm at 625 Grand Avenue. They are accused of taking seven chain saws valued at $2,200.

Today is Friday, Nov. 7 the 311th day of 1569 with 54 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1874, Harper's Weekly ran the first cartoon depicting the elephant as the symbol of the Republican party.

In 1916, Republican Jeanette Rankin of Montana became the first woman elected to the House of Representatives.

A thought for the day: Irish poet Oscar O'Flahertie Wills Wiloe said, "Experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes."

First State Road Built In Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—The first state-built road in the country was constructed in 1795 with $6,500 in funds appropriated by the Kentucky legislature.

Don't Call Maria

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Historians say that of the first settlers of the small community along the Los Angeles River in 1781, which later became the West's greatest city, only five were women—and four of them were named Maria.

HOW TO PLAY BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes Any Swindle Is Better Than An Honest Play

Everybody knows that honesty is the best policy: I tell it to all of my opponents. If you can keep a secret, however, pull the paper closer and promise to keep it just between us: In some bridge hands, any swindle at all is better than an honest play.

Clubs, Diamonds

South won the first trick with the queen of hearts and saw that he needed four tricks in clubs and diamonds combined. If South made an "honest" play, such as the queen of diamonds or the king of clubs, the defenders would take the ace at once and return a heart, setting up the rest of that suit. They would get in with their other ace to cash the hearts.

South's best chance is to "steal" one trick in clubs or diamonds. That is, South must try to win the first club or the first diamond.

TWO POSSIBILITIES

If West has the ace of clubs, South may steal a trick by leading the ten of clubs at the second trick. West may play low on the mistaken assumption that East has the jack and that South is planning to let the ten of clubs ride as a finesse.

South has an even better chance if he leads the ten of diamonds. West may play low on the mistaken assumption that East has the queen and that South is planning to let the ten of diamonds ride as a finesse.

If the ten of diamonds wins, South takes off the mask and abandons the suit. He switches to clubs, developing three clubs to add to the stolen diamond and the five sure tricks in spades and hearts.

Ace of Diamonds

"Your plan shouldn't work," you object. "South should step up with the ace of diamonds at once even if you try that silly swindle of leading the ten."

You are perfectly correct. If your opponents always defend correctly, you can play like an honest man and it won't cost you a single trick.

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. You would bid one heart if your jack were in hearts instead of in spades, since a jack tends to be worth more when accompanied by higher honors. You might even bid one heart if your suit were headed by K-10-9 instead of by just K-9.

CREAMPUFF BUICK RIVIERAS

Since the new 1970 Buick has arrived on the scene we have taken in some of the nicest and closest-to-new late model Buick Rivieras that we've ever been able to offer on the used car lot.

All of these Rivieras were sold new by us and have been serviced since new in our shop. All are one-owner Buick Rivieras and all have been owned by Marin County residents.

'69 Riviera $4350

Here's an olive beige Riviera with custom matching vinyl top and interior. This GS Riviera looks like the ones on our showroom floor. Fully equiped including power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seats, air conditioning, AM-FM, chrome wheels and every Riviera extra made. XPG 541.

'68 Riviera $3750

All white with contrasting black vinyl top and all-black vinyl interior. Another fully equipped, low mileage, Riviera. Air conditioning, power steering, power brake, power seat and power windows. VLZ 702

'68 Riviera $3650

'67 Riviera $2750

A beautiful all-gold Riviera with saddle leather bucket seats and console. Fully equipped with power steering, power brakes, power seat and power windows. TJR 165

'66 Riviera $2650

Retired Ross Valley couple traded this close-to-new all-white Riviera back on another new Riviera. Every conceivable extra including power steering, power brakes, power seat, power windows, air conditioning, and chrome wheels. SGR 105

'64 Riviera $1550

Here's an older Riviera yet in top condition. All Copper-Mist with matching custom interior and all the Riviera luxury extras like power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seat and air conditioning. BTY 918

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the City and County of San Francisco.

Notice is hereby given that on or after the first publication, the undersigned executor of the last will and testament of said above named deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest bidder for cash subject to confirmation by the above entitled court all of the right, title and interest and estate of decedent at the time of her death, and all the right, title and interest of the estate that the deceased acquired and owned at the time of her death in and to that certain real property located in the County of Marin, and in the City of Sausalito, and located at 54 Spencer Avenue in said City.

All that certain real property situate in the City of Sausalito, County of Marin, particularly bounded and described as follows, to wit:

All of Lot Number 2, in Block 31, as shown on the Official Map of the lands of the Sausalito Land and Ferry Company, filed in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin on the 26th day of April, 1869, and, also, the northeasterly 50 feet of Lot Number 1, in Block 31, as laid down and designated and described on the said Official Map of the Sausalito Land and Ferry Company.

Excepting that portion thereon described as follows:

Commencing at a point on the westerly side of Spencer Avenue where the same is intersected by the westerly line of the lands conveyed by Frederick W. Russell to Florimel Russell by deed dated January 11, 1884, and recorded January 11, 1884, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, in Book "Z" of Deeds, at page 419; thence northerly along the said westerly line herein referred to, 38 feet, 10 inches, more or less, to the angle of the fence as it stood upon the ground on May 31, 1892; thence easterly nearly at right angles but following the said line of the said fence, 19 feet, 8 inches, more or less, to the westerly side of Spencer Avenue; thence southwesterly along the said westerly line of Spencer Avenue, 39 feet, more or less, to the point of commencement.

The land or piece of land so excepted from this grant is a part of Lot 1, in Block 31, as laid down and described and designated on said map and is the same piece of land conveyed by deed of grant by John E. Shoobert to O. C. Miller, dated May 31, 1892, and recorded June 17, 1892, in the office of the County Recorder of said Marin County, in Book "20" of Deeds, at page 233.

This is all subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights of way.

Said bids and offers are invited for said property and must be in writing and may be delivered at the office of Joseph A. Brown, Suite 715, 690 Market Street, San Francisco, California, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of this notice.

Terms and conditions of sale: Said terms as are approved by the above entitled Court and according to said terms as fixed by the above entitled Court.

With reference to the real property the examination of the title, recording of conveyance and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

Bids must be sealed and will be opened at the office of Joseph A. Brown at said above mentioned address at the hour of 1:00 o'clock p.m. of said first day of publication, and thereafter until sold.

The real property herein described is commonly known as 54 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito, California, and may be seen at any day of the week except Sunday or Thursday, and anyone who wishes to make a complete examination of said real property may telephone for an appointment at 332-2869.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids with reference to the real property.

Apollo 12 Begins Flight Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Electrical power surged into a giant Saturn 5 rocket today as the launch team began the week-long countdown for Apollo 12, man's second moon-landing mission.

The countdown clock started right on schedule at noon (EST) 167 hours 38 minutes from scheduled liftoff at 11:22 a.m. next Friday.

In addition to 98 hours of countdown, four automatic holds totaling more than 69 hours were programmed for rest by the launch team and for dealing with possible problems.

As the countdown started, launch director Walter Kapryan reported all launch preparations were proceeding smoothly.

The three astronauts, Charles Conrad Jr., Richard F. Gordon Jr. and Alan L. Bean, planned several hours today in command ship and lunar lander simulators, rehearsing key steps in the 10-day flight.

Also on their schedule was a briefing on lunar topography.

Conrad, Gordon and Bean first climb into the command ship trainer to practice procedures for the rocket burn that will propel them out of earth orbit and onto the quarter-million-mile translunar trail.

That ignition occurs over the Pacific Ocean after the astronauts have circled the globe one and a half times to make certain the spaceship's systems are working.

Later, Conrad and Bean are to enter the landing simulator to practice descent to the moon and liftoff for return to the orbiting command craft.

They are to land on the moon's Ocean of Storms early Nov. 19 for a 31 and one-half-hour stay. They are to make two excursions outside totaling seven hours to carry out the first detailed exploration of the lunar surface.

Impeachment Of Douglas House Rumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of Republican House members are considering bringing impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., said today.

Ford, leader of his party in the House, said no decision has yet been reached whether to offer an impeachment resolution.

"It would be premature," Ford said, replying to questions relayed through his office.

"At this stage it is a preliminary staff operation . . . We are reviewing all the facts in the case."

A spokesman for Douglas said he would have no comment at all.

Ford said that, so far as he is concerned, the decision should not depend on whether the Senate confirms or rejects President Richard M. Nixon's nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the Supreme Court.

But he added that if Haynsworth is rejected on ethical standards, "then the same standards should be applied to all members of the Supreme Court."

Douglas has been under fire because of his service, which he ended this year, as a salaried officer of the Parvin Foundation of Los Angeles, which received some funds from gambling interests.

One Republican Congress member who has been a consistent critic of Douglas said it appeared to him that the issue appears to be: "If Haynsworth is not confirmed, we'll go after Douglas." This member declined to be quoted by name.

Ford said recent additional disclosures about the foundation and businesses associated with it inspired the new Republican effort.

Ford said it is inaccurate to describe him as the prime mover, but that a number of Republican members whom he described as serious and responsible, but declined to name, had consulted him about the effort and that he is keeping in touch with them.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

MONIES spent for oceanographic research is only a third of what we spend for our outer space projects. This may not be wise because there is a good possibility that our seas will bring more benefits.

Medicines will be one of the fruits of this research. According to Joan Lynn Arehart, the oceanic drug chest already includes agar, cod liver oil, iodine, crude cholesterol, protamine sulfate, and ichthammol (icthyol).

An intensive search is also being made to find marine materials that act as antibiotics or bacteriophages which destroy bacteria and viruses.

SOME MAY prove useful in certain heart and circulatory problems. Eptatretin, for example, is promising in being able to correct heart beat irregularities. This pacesetting product from the hagfish was discovered by Dr. David Jense, Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The eel-like animal has three independent hearts, the third of which is not governed by the nervous system. Dr. Jensen found that the beat was controlled by eptatreton which he isolated and used on laboratory animals.

ELECTRIC EELS can produce voltage strong enough to kill a man. They also produce pralidoxime chloride, a good antidote for certain insecticides and poisons produced by the ciguatera fish. The chemical also shows potential promise in epilepsy, muscular dystrophy, and emotional illness.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelop accompanies request to the I-J.

BOUTS OF ANGINA

I.M.E. writes: Can angina pectoris be cured or will the attacks of pain continue to occur at intervals.

REPLY

Anginal attacks usually return but are less likely to occur after the coronary circulation improves. This, however, takes time. Surgery is advised if anginal pain becomes progressively worse and if it comes on for no apparent reason, such as when resting.

A LONG ILLNESS

T.A. writes: Some obituaries mention that a person died after a long illness. What is the difference in time between a long and a short illness?

REPLY

The best example of a short illness is a sudden, fatal heart attack. The majority of prolonged illnesses are caused by cancer, dropsy, and certain neurological diseases, such as paralysis; the patient lingers for months or years.

ENLARGED HEART

REPLY

Yes, because the organ enlarged to overcome a handicap. Overexertion increases this handicap, and to compensate, the heart gets bigger and bigger. Obviously, there is a limit to the reserve power of the old ticker.

COFFEE-SOAKED CRACKERS

Mrs. C.D. writes: My 10-month-old baby likes soda crackers soaked in coffee or tea. Will this harm her in any way?

REPLY

Your little girl is too young for coffee or tea because of its caffeine content. Let her dunk the crackers in milk.

SPREAD TO KIDNEYS

REPLY

This is an uncommon complication. On the other hand, the same organisms (beta hemolytic streptococci) are capable of producing both diseases. It is not known why some develop nephritis and others rheumatic fever.

INHERITED PRESSURE

REPLY

CLAMMY CHILD

B. B. writes: I have a 2-year-old son, and every time he plays or uses any kind of energy, he breaks out in a cold sweat. I think the word to describe it would be clammy. What causes this and is it harmful?

REPLY

If the child is otherwise healthy, I can assume that this is a normal reaction to exertion.

INFLAMED EYELIDS

A. P. writes: What kind of a specialist do I consult for an eye infection called blepharitis? My eyelids are swollen and flame red, and to further complicate matters they are very itchy.

REPLY

You ought to consult an ophthalmologist who will pinpoint the cause and prescribe the proper treatment. There are many possible causes of this unsightly affliction, among which are poor health, visual impairments, malnutrition, infection, and allergy.

NOSE 'JOB'

J. S. writes: I am interested in rhinoplasty. No operation has a guarantee, but how successful is this procedure?

REPLY

Plastic surgery on the nose is so successful that we continue to recommend the technic. There are, however, complications to every procedure. Best results are obtained when the individual is emotionally mature and does not expect his new nose to make him more popular or successful.

Today's Health Hint—Surgical risks are increased when the individual is overweight.

October Employment Up To 70.6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's total employment edged up in October to an all-time high of 70.6 million, on a seasonally adjusted basis, and unemployment declined slightly following the big jump of a month before, the government said today.

But the average work week, overtime work and average pay all declined, signaling a possible economic turndown later, said Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The total number of unemployed last month dropped about 119,000 and the national jobless rate dropped from 4 per cent to 3.9 per cent of the civilian labor force. The bureau adjust the figures in line with usual seasonal employment changes.

The jobless total in October included 906,000 men for a 2.4 per cent unemployment rate, 1.1 million women for a 4 per cent rate and 836,000 teen-agers for a 13 per cent rate.

Goldstein said the significance of the figures was the increase of 525,000 unemployed since last December, when the jobless rate was at a post-Korean War low of 3.3 per cent.

The jobless rate jumped from 3.5 per cent to 4 per cent in September for the biggest single monthly increase since the Eisenhower administration in the early 1950s.

Some question about the accuracy of those figures was raised because the survey was made by mid-September, before many college students had returned to their classes.

Although the October rate fell slightly, Goldstein said: "What we are getting is a confirmation that unemployment has indeed gone up substantially."

He declined to predict whether the trend indicated another possible sharp jump in unemployment this month, but said it usually rises slightly in November.

Nixon's Airport Program Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved the Nixon administration's plan for vast expansion of the nation's air system over the next 10 years, with airline passengers and other users footing much of the bill.

The program calls for 800 new airports of varying sizes and $12 billion worth of radar, automatic landing equipment and other navigational facilities.

The bill would create a commission to map future air expansion and calls for $2.5 billion in federal matching grants for airport construction and $2.5 billion for new navigational aids.

Higher fees for tickets, freight and fuel would finance much of the rest of the program, in the House bill. The Senate is expected to consider an airport expansion bill next week.

Juvenile Authorities Take Youth's Case

The case of Steven Charles Kelly ,18, of St. Vincent's School for Boys, was referred yesterday to juvenile probation officers for possible transferral to Marin Juvenile Court.

Kelly, who is accused of robbing a 14-year-old boy of about $2 at knifepoint and assaulting another person with a knife last Saturday in San Rafael, was told to return to municipal court Nov. 20.

Yo-Yo Capital

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Within five years the capital of California was moved from San Jose to Vallejo, back to San Jose, back to Vallejo, to Sacramento, back to Vallejo, to Benicia, and at last in 1854 established permanently in Sacramento.

BEST SHOWS FOR TONIGHT

Best bets on television tonight:

KQED (9), 8 p.m. — "The President's Men" presents Robert Finch, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. It is the fourth in a series of programs about the key men surrounding President Richard M. Nixon and the jobs they perform.

KQED (9), 8:30 p.m. — "NET Playhouse" offers "Heimskringla!, or The Stoned Angels," Paul Foster's "videotheater" piece dealing with the Viking discovery of North America. The drama is done in a technique called "videospace" and performed by Ellen Stewart's La Mama Troupe.

KPIX (5), 11:30 p.m. — Marcello Mastroianni and Anita Ekberg star in the movie, "La Dolce Vita." Federico Fellini directed this film, a portrayal of the decadence and hopelessness of the lives of the idle wealthy in Rome.

Whale Reverses Course In Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A mixed-up California whale, which made a wrong turn into San Francisco Bay and bumped a barge, probably is back in the Pacific Ocean, the Coast Guard says.

Officials earlier thought the 30-foot-long mammal might have headed up the Sacramento River.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the whale was presumed to be back in the ocean and "headed on the right track again".

Rainy-Day Crash Kills State Aide

The victim was Fred Herschel Montank, 33, of San Luis Obispo.

Montank died at the scene and Eikel was brought to Ventura County Hospital suffering fractures and cuts.

Partial Inventory

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A partial inventory of Dwight D. Eisenhower's estate has listed assets valued at $278,363, consisting mainly of stock investments and 243 head of cattle.

State Negotiates For Space Station

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Negotiations are under way by the state with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for possible use of a space satellite to handle the state's massive radio and microwave communications network.

The Department of General Services has made a tentative proposal to NASA to conduct experiments with an Applications Technology Satellite (ATS) that NASA hopes to launch in 1974. The department has begun an in-depth study of many other possible telecommunication applications.

Ringo To Make A Solo Record

LONDON (AP) — Ringo Starr, the Beatles' drummer, is turning singer on a solo record of his favorite standards, including such old hits as "Night and Day."

John Lennon, Paul McCartney and George Harrison also plan individual albums, or are thinking about it. But Mavis Smith of Apple, the Beatles' company, gave this assurance to any anxious fans:

"It doesn't mean the Beatles are breaking up or anything like that. It's just that they like to do some things on their own."

Ringo said the songs he's recording "are songs that I associate with nice things, and that is why I chose them."

Space Spending Bill To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has approved and sent to the Senate a $3.7 billion authorizaton bill for space expenditures in the year ending next June 30.

The bulk of the funds in the bill would be used for the Apollo man-to-the-moon program and is designed to help finance three manned moon shots in the next nine months.

The amount approved yesterday was equal to that requested by President Richard M. Nixon for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Redwood, Terra Linda A Contrast Of Styles

By GARY TISCHLER

One of the classic Marin County Athletic League football dramas will unfold at San Rafael High School tomorrow night when Terra Linda High School and Redwood High lay the title on the line at 8 o'clock.

A lot is at stake here. The winner, if there is one, will assure itself of at least a tie for the league crown, and a good chance for the whole thing, barring a big upset on the final day of play.

But there's a lot more to it than a title. It's a contest of old and new traditions, big and little, pass and run, pitting two schools and teams that in many ways are similar, but distinctly different.

Both teams carry perfect 4-0 won-lost league records into the contest. In Terra Linda's case, this comes as a surprise to nobody. But Redwood was not supposed to go this far when people talked about who's going to win what at the start of the season. The Giants with some veteran and big linemen and an inexperienced backfield, had been shorn of most of its big names off an outstanding 1968 team that, ironically enough, upset Terra Linda, 25-10, on the last game of the season, marring the Trojans' bid for a perfect season and an outright title.

That game will be around to haunt a lot to the participants tomorrow night. For the Trojans, it still rankles, and they don't intend to let it happen again. For the Giants, it's a matter of thinking that they did it once and can do it again.

The Giants, now 5-2 on the season with losses to Riordan of San Francisco and Eureka, operate with a huge line, swift and big backs, the versatility of quarterback Pete Cooney and a smothering defense against which it is difficult to run wide or short and pass long.

Cooney, generally not considered a great passes, will throw. He threw for three touchdowns against San Rafael and clicked on the rollout option. He likes to pass to his two big ends—6 foot 5, 229-pound Ross Gondak and 6-1, 180-pound Steve Fleishman.

The running attack, behind the blocking of 245-pound Tom Wickert and all-league center Phil Simon, is centered around at least four good backs—halfback Mike Farley, fullback Bob Fox, halfback Bob Piper and super-soph Jay Lehman, a solid 6-3, 190 pounds.

Lehman and Fox also are the defensive ends who flank a line that consists of Gondak, Wickert and Simon. The linebacking is excellent, headed by Andy Anixter.

"They do a lot of things well," Terra Linda coach Don Lucas said. "They have a lot of tools, good running, a sound defense, I really didn't think they'd do that well this year. But they can be beaten, and I think we'll do it."

The Trojans are gunning for a fourth straight share of the title, are preferably the whole bag of beans. That's incentive enough, and so is the sour memory of last year's game.

They're a radically different team, although both squads are sound defensively. The Trojans rely heavily on speed and quickness and on the passing of Tom Jackson.

Jackson has thrown for 11 touchdowns and 931 yards this season. He is by far the best pure passer in the league, although Redwood coach Bob Troppmann contends that Cooney is just as good, a fact that remains to be seen.

The Trojans will be hurt by the possible absence of Bob Daniele, an offensive halfback, defensive back and kicker. Daniele, ailing with a bad knee and a ruptured blood vessel, is the league's top scorer and the

Pushing Panic Button A Little Too Soon

The committeemen who have spent some 18 months studying the feasibility of a municipally-owned golf course for San Rafael are understandably a bit miffed at some of the adverse publicity their pet project received this week in the monarch of Marin's dailies.

If after you devoured every word on the sports pages Tuesday and happened to run across page one of the main news section, you probably saw the story labeled, "Golf Course Expert Hits Proposed Municipal Layout."

The story struck me as a scare campaign designed to send taxpayers into fits. It identified the questionable "expert" as a Mr. Norman P. Higby who argued that the course, which would be located on filled land of the Smith Brothers Ranch, would be a financial sand trap. I think I read between the lines (I'm pretty thick) that the taxpayers were going to get a royal con job, contrary to published preliminary reports. Were a group of greedy rats trying to pull a fast one?

Businessmen Are Incensed

In the first place, each committeeman on the non-profit corporation appointed to study the course feasibility is a member of a private club and has a place to play his pasture pool. All upstanding citizens, none stands to profit directly by the course and all share the common belief that a muni course would generally benefit the community, not just a select few. They certainly don't want to stick their neighbors with a white elephant and have taken all precautions against such a mistake.

The committee leaders — Buick baron Don Collins, furniture tycoon Milton Schwartz and shoe merchant Irving Chapman — have enlisted the professional services of a reputable management consulting firm and a golf course specialist to show the way.

'Expert' Is Wrong Label

It was this expert guidance that Mr. Higby challenged. He is said to have operated a golf course in Illinois several years ago and thus is labeled an expert.

Anyway, I think he has pushed the panic button prematurely, causing undue alarm.

The committee has merely been authorized to proceed with further study on costs of the course. They haven't committeee the city to a nickel's worth of manure and will not form an opinion until all costs are in.

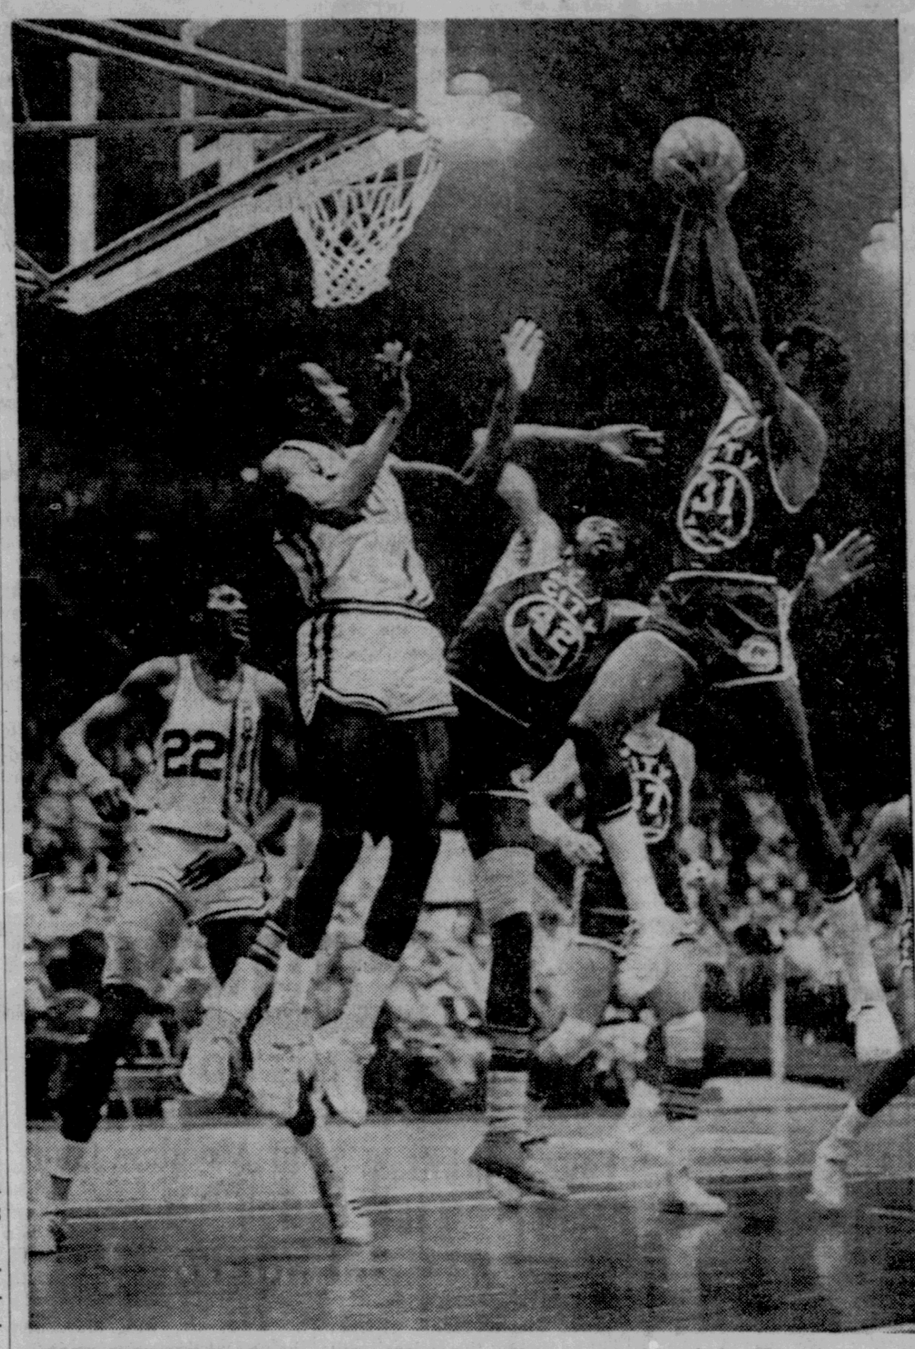

Then the matter will be placed in the hands of the city council to make a decision. Then, not now, is the time for all the Mr. Higbys to express their opinions.

We All Want More Facts

It's just too early now to say if the thing will fly until they affix the wings.

Why shoot it down before all the facts are at hand? We'd all like to know if San Rafael can operate a muni course without sending the taxpayers to the poor farm.

The men in charge of the project are sincere citizens trying to improve their community. Too bad a panicky individual can tarnish an honorable effort by sounding a premature alarm. All the facts aren't in. The alarmist, who was rather loosely identified as an expert, I thought, should sit tight.

NBA TO ADD TWO TEAMS NEXT YEAR

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association will expand to 16 teams next year with the addition of two franchises, Commissioner Walter Kennedy said today.

Kennedy called a meeting of his expansion committee for Dec. 8 at which final plans will be made before the owners decide on the two cities. The site of the meeting is expected to be Chicago. The new franchises are expected to be named before Jan. 20.

"We have firm committments for franchises from at least one group in six different cities," Kennedy said

The interested groups include Portland, Ore.; Cleveland; Buffalo, N.Y.; Memphis, Tenn.; Kansas City, and Minneapolis.

Warriors Whip Royals; Take On Celts Tonight

BOSTON (UPI)—It just won't seem the same for Nate Thurmond and his San Francisco Warrior teammates tonight when they meet the Boston Celtics for the first time this season.

Instead of facing the menacing shadow of Bill Russell, Thurmond will be stacked against seven-footer Henry Finkel. Gone also are Sam Jones and K.C. Jones who, with Russell, used to give the Warriors fits.

STRUGGLING

The Celtics are struggling with a 3-5 record in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association. San Francisco toppled the Cincinnati Royals 130-109 last night to improve its record to 5-3 for a second-place tie in the West.

Thurmond scored 25 points and grabbed 20 rebounds to pace the Warrior attack. The Warriors had a 76-49 rebounding edge and led 65-40 at the half.

FAMILIAR

Jerry Lucas, playing in Cincinnati for the first time since being traded to the Warriors by the Royals, scored 19 points and had 11 rebounds.

Jeff Mullins of San Francisco topped all scorers with 26 points in 23 minutes of play, including 13 points at the beginning of the second half to put the game out of reach.

Nicklaus Shooting Unbelievable Golf

HONOLULU (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, threatening to make the fall tour his personal showcase, carried a whopping four-stroke lead into the second round of the $125,000 Hawaiian Open Golf tournament today.

Big Jack, who has won both of the fall tournaments he has entered, established a course record with a blistering 63 on the 7,020-yard, par 72 Waialae Country Club layout yesterday.

TRADE WINDS

It was accomplished in the face of blustery trade winds that reached gusts of more than 40 miles an hour and sent most of the rest of first round scores soaring.

His leading margin was the biggest of the season after 18 holes and had his fellow pros talking to themselves.

"If he keeps on putting like that, you just can't beat him," said Billy Casper, one of the pre-tourney favorites who had an opening 73, 10 shots back.

Ken Still and Dave Stockton were tied for second with 67s, while Jack McGowan and John Schroeder had 68s. The group at 69 included Bill Johnson, Grier Jones, Randy Wolff and Larry Ziegler.

Arnold Palmer was in a large group at 70. Leading money winner Frank Beard and masters champion George Archer each had a 71. Lee Trevino and U.S. Open champion Orville Moody posted 74s and PGA titleholder Ray Floyd had a 75.

Nicklaus, who has won $48,000 in his last two starts, the Sanara and the Kaiser, was grim-faced, tight-lipped and in deep concentration on his morning round.

"You concentrate more in the wind," Nicklaus said. "If the wind hadn't blown, I'd have been closer to the hole. But from where I was, I couldn't possibly have scored better."

After each shot, however, he was a relaxed and smiling man, talking with the galleries, gesturing and joking.

EMBARRASSED

"Unbelievable," he said after running in a 45 foot putt on the 15th hole. On the next one, he sank a 50-footer and looked positively embarrassed.

"Isn't this fun?" he asked the gallery.

Big Jack—slimmed down to 190 pounds on a two-month diet and now big in ability more than size—didn't miss a green, didn't make a bogey and didn't miss a putt more than 15 feet.

"This is probably the best putting round I've ever had," said Nicklaus, one of the three men to win three tournaments this year. "I can't recall when I putted this well.

Starting on the 10th tee, Jack birdied three of his first four holes, once reaching a par 5 in two and canning putts of 25 and 10 feet on the others.

He later ran off a string of four birds, on putts ranging from 6 to 20 feet, then closed with the two fantastic efforts of more than 15 yards.

Redwood Runners Win Championship

To nobody's surprise, Redwood High School's powerful and deep cross-country team won the Marin County Athletic League title yesterday, even though Kevin Pusser, the Giants' top runner, didn't compete.

Pusser was preparing for the MCAL meet but the Giants really didn't need him as five of them tied for first place in whipping Terra Linda, 15-43, at Terra Linda. Pusser obtained permission from coach Doug Basham to skip the meet, and worked out on his own.

Lee Hotchkin, Jay Neuhaus, Dick Stoltz, Steve Levintow and Tim Taylor all came in first for the Giants. Now they'll have to do it all over again in the league meet Monday at Lagunitas Lake in which Pusser, Ron Elijah of Novato, and Vian Collier and Mike Arago of Tamalpais are favored for individual honors. The junior varisty meet is for 3:30 p.m., to be followed by the varisty meet at 3:55 and the frosh-soph meet at 4:20.

The Giants finished unbeaten in dual-meet competition, both in league (7-0) and on the season (10-0).

In other meets yesterday, Tamalpais nailed down second place by downing San Rafael, 23-33, at San Rafael, with Collier, Arago and Lowery McFerrin nailing down first, second and third. The Indians wound up 6-1 in league competition.

Novato won third place by thumping San Marin, 18-41, as Elijah finished first in 17:17 at Novato's course, breaking Don Makela's old record of 17:58. The Hornets are 5-2.

Drake won its first meet in a battle of winless teams as the Pirates downed Marin Catholic 21-40 at San Geronimo National Golf Course.

Nolan Waiting For Last Minute To Name His QB

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers worked out under drizzling skies yesterday with quarterback John Brodie taking the kinks out of his stiff arm. The 49ers meet the Los Angeles Rams Sunday in Los Angeles.

Forty-Niner Coach Dick Nolan said Brodie's arm seems to be in better shape but that he'll wait until the last minute before naming Sunday's quarterback.

Steve Spurrier seems to be favored as the starter but Nolan would not leave out the possibility that Brodie may take the reins.

"I want to look at it right down to the wire," he said.

NO MORE BUTTERFINGERS

Marin Tars To Host Contra Costa

The glue won't be to sniff, just to help his receivers hang onto the ball, something they didn't do against DeAnza J.C. of Cupertino last week, and it cost them dearly.

Marin has one win and a pair of losses in Camino Norte Conference action, its last loss coming last Friday, 28-20 to DeAnza.

"This is my ninth year at Marin," moaned Read, "and I can't recall when we, as a team, dropped as many passes," he said about last week's game. "We counted a total of eight dropped passes which would have been caught. Two of them were inside the five-yard line and another was inside the 10."

Read realizes he's got a tough job ahead in facing the Comets who are fresh off a 26-8 triumph over Santa Rosa Junior College. Leading the Contra Costans is tailback Herb Phillips, a former All-Alameda County Athletic League performer out of Richmond High. He's big and fast -- 6-foot-2 and 208 pounds, runs the 100-yead dash in 9.9.

Noting that each Marin game this year has been decided by one touchdown, Read sounds like a very frustrated coach.

Marin has lost the services of offensive guard Tom O'Donnell, out for the rest of the season

DEVELOPMENT OF A GENERATION

With their amused partners looking on, a group of students at San Rafael's Davidson Junior High School grunts through sit-up exercises—only a part of physical fitness tests administered to more than 800 students to the school yesterday. The fitness program, conducted at junior high and elementary schools around the county, were developed by the President's Council on Physical Fitness and the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation under the Kennedy Administration. Rams Go After Kramer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The undefeated Los Angeles Rams always aim high when they seek a replacement and today were reported negotiating with retired All-Pro guard Jerry Kramer of the Green Bay Packers.

Kramer announced his retirement at the end of last season and accepted a job as a television football commentator. But Rams coach George Allen turned to Kramer as his top choice after Joe Scibelli was lost for the season with a knee injury suffered last Sunday against Atlanta.

And sources close to the Rams, said Kramer showed interest in returning to pro football for at least the balance of the season when contacted by Allen.

"When we lost Scibelli," Allen admitted, "the first man I thought about was Kramer."

Officially the Rams refused to comment or confirm they had started negotiations to obtain Kramer by having the other 15 clubs in the league waive their rights to bid for him.

But it was learned Allen obtained permission from Green Bay coach Phil Bengtson to negotiate with Kramer. With the official trading deadline past, the only way the Rams could obtain a player was on waivers.

Kramer was reported in Los Angeles last night in seclusion while awaiting the outcome of the waiver negotiations. He underwent an examination and was reported in top physical condition.

The veteran guard won fame as an author with his book, "Instant Replay," recounting a season with the Packers. He played 11 seasons with the Packers.

LIMPING BEAVERS

Cal Vs. Oregon St.

BERKELEY — With its top offensive threat sitting home in Corvallis, Oregon State's injury-riddled football team faces California's rebounding Bears in Berkeley tomorrow in a Pacific-8 Conference games starting at 1:30.

Billy Main, the Beavers' top pass receiver and second-leading ground gainer, missed last week's game against Stanford, and Coach Dee Andros had hoped Main's injured knee would come around enough so he could play against the Bears.

STILL HURTING

But late word was that Main was still hurting and would not make the trip. The same was true of starting guard Dan Zellick. Tackle Chris Haig, another first stringer, is also doubtful.

Oregon State is 3-4 and in danger of suffering its first losing season in five years. The Beavers' last victory was a 10-6 triumph over winless Washinton three weeks ago. They are 1-3 in the Pac—8.

The Bears, who suffered a 14-9 last-minute defeat to Southern Cal last week after nearly pulling off a major upset, are 4-2 on the season and 2-2 in the Pac—8.

OFFENSE

Though it was an inspired defensive effort by Ray Willsey's team that led the way in the strong performance against the Trojans, Cal has hopes that its offense may now be able to carry some of the weight.

Dave Penhall, the third quarterback the Bears have used this year, had trouble moving the ball in the first half last week, but he seemed to gain confidence as the game moved along. He has now completed more than half the passes he has thrown.

INTERCEPTIONS

Penhall has been intercepted four times, however, and has yet to throw a touchdown pass. Gary Fowler and Bob Darby lead Cal in rushing.

Steve Endicott is the Oregon State quarterback and Cal scouts consider him a dangerous passer. He, too, suffers from interception trouble, having had 16 passes picked off this year.

In other Pacific-8 battles, Stanford is at Washington, Washington State is at Southern Cal, and Oregon hosts Army in non-conference play. UCLA draws a bye.

Drake Falls Out Of Hot Cage Race

Drake High School's Class C basketball team, after leading the Marin County Athletic League race for most of the season, is quite suddenly out of it altogether.

The Pirates were whipped by Marin Catholic, 41-26, yesterday in Kentfield, finishing their season with an 8-4 record with no possibility of even tying for the lead.

The win gave Marin Catholic an 8-3 record, same as Redwood, which ripped Terra Linda, 67-33 at Terra Linda yesterday. The two teams battle it out for the title at Marin Catholic Thursday at 4 p.m.

SUSPENSIONS

Owens Huddles With Players

SEATTLE (UPI)—University of Washington football coach Jim Owens met individually with four black suspended players today to reconsider their suspensions and their commitment to the football program.

"My reason for this action is the indication that there was a misunderstanding as to my intent in seeking a 100 per cent commitment on the part of all players, but which apparently was misinterpreted by the four athletes involved," Owens said.

AFTER TALKS

He explained he had been informed of meetings of black players who had discussed the possibility of boycotting the UCLA game, and if not that one, a later game.

He said other members of the squad knew of the meetings and "there was a decided atmosphere of uncertainty prevailing within the entire squad and staff."

He said prior to the Oct. 30 practice session, he announced that if anyone had any criticism to discuss they were to stay in the squad meeting room and the others would go to practice.

"To my surprise, everyone stood up and moved out the door, including those who had attended the meeting the previous evening," Owens said.

Owens said when he went out on the practice field he pointed out that as head coach he was in an intolerable position and that he then decided to talk with each player personally about his commitment to the team.

REFUSE

Following the suspensions, eight other black players refused to travel to Los Angeles where the Huskies were downed 57-14 by UCLA. However, those eight resumed practice this week for Saturday's home game with Stanford.

"I will review the events before and after the suspensions with the four players and determine if they can abide by the principles that the other players have accepted," said Owens, whose team is winless in seven starts this season.

"I want to make clear that the philosophy of our program has been, and will continue to be, one that relies on the loyalty, determination, self sacrifice and dedication of all those participating," he said.

Hawks Edge Chicago But Bulls Protest

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlanta Hawks nipped the Bulls 124-122 in a National Basketball Association game in Chicago last night but most of the action came after the game.

A wild flurry of arguments erupted on whether the game-ending buzzer had sounded and Pat Williams, general manager of the Bulls, said he will file an official protest with NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Lou Hudson of Atlanta tied the score 122-all in the last 15 seconds and then hit two free throws on a foul called against Chet Walker to make the score 124-122.

With five seconds left, Chicago took the ball out of bounds and Clem Haskins fired a shot at the basket. Tom Boerwinkle leaped into the air and tapped the ball through the hoop with the clock showing one second to play.

Referee Bob Rakel ruled the basket didn't count because of the league rule stating no player other than the shooter can touch the ball if the final buzzer has sounded when the shot was made.

Rakel said he heard the final buzzer when Haskins let go. Jack Madden, the other official, said he didn't. Timekeeper James Seery said he told the referees the buzzer had not sounded and there was one second remaining and added he would repeat his contention to Kennedy if he's asked.

Henry Cooper Still Talks Comeback

LONDON (AP) — Henry Cooper, recovering from a knee cartilage operation at 35, trained with the Arsenal soccer team today and said he still hopes to fight Jimmy Ellis, the World Boxing Association heavyweight champion.

The former British heavyweight champion said: "I've thrown away my crutches now and my knee feels marvelous. But my muscles are a bit stiff."

Jim Wicks, Cooper's manager, said, "Henry will be ready to fight again by January or February. We would like a warm-up fight before tackling Ellis sometime next summer."

Tennis

LONDON — Organizers of the British Open-covered Court Tennis Championship said Pancho Gonzales has changed his mind about retiring and will compete in the tournament at Wembley starting Nov. 17.

Redwood, Terra Linda To Meet In Key Game

Dewey Forry, an all-around athlete, has perked up the Terra Linda ground-game considerably after a 156-yard performance against San Marin. The receivers are headed by Dan Trondsen, Bill Sherbert and Larry Mandin. The line is not nearly as big as Redwood's, but is traditionally quick and hard-hitting. Best of this year's edition of the Terra Linda "Rock of the Marne" are tackle Bruce Little, a 212-pound junior who will be nose-to-nose opposite the giant Wickert, centers Mitch Lange and Rick Payne, guard Chris Fenton, also a fine linebacker along with Forry, guard Steve Cupples, 208-pound tackle Jim Barker and tackle Mark Hebel.

Redwood came into its own against San Rafael after struggling past the three league doormats. Terra Linda has not peaked to an emotional high since the Drake game Oct. 10, but the Trojans have nevertheless waltzed to their four league wins.

When all is said and done, the whole thing probably will come down to intangibles, because in this particular game, there are other things at work besides cross patterns, draw plays and poundage. Desire, highs and lows, and tradition will have a lot to say tomorrow night.

Consider that Terra Linda is the current football king of the league, a position once held by the Giants. In the past three years, the Trojans have tied for the title and, in two and one half years under Lucas, their record is 29-5-1. The two teams in six meetings are dead even, each having won three and tied one.

Redwood still yearns for its past glory and quite suddenly finds itself in a position to recapture it. In a year when athletic grooming rules are under attack at school, the football team, whether it likes it or not, is in the role of defenders of the status quo. How much the hair hassle has had to do with the team's success is unmeasurable, but it has had its effect. No Redwood team of recent years has ever been as united or played as well together.

At Terra Linda, they've played that way for a long time. Hair is no problem. The rules are there and nobody thinks twice about it. Football is undisputed king.

The two schools, so very much alike and so different, are nevertheless heated rivals. So it may be a matter of who wants it the most, which team is the highest, without benefit of drugs, that will put it all together tomorrow night.

Fullback Mike Fowler continues to be the Tars' top runner, now with 226 yards in 53 carries in conference play, an average of 4.3 per carry. Top pass receiver is Mike Biber, 13 catches for 165 yards. Halfback Jim Finnegan has gained 121 yards (5.4 average) and has caught six passes for 92 yards. Halfback Keith Stirling has gained 90 yards (4.1 average) and has 11 catches for another 133 yards.

Quarterback Jim Peters has connected on 34 of 67 passes for 421 yards in the three conference games.

Revamped Seals Host N.Y. Rangers Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — The New York Rangers, one of the hottest teams in the National Hockey League, make their first appearance in the Oakland Arena this season when they take on the Oakland Seals tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Rangers have only lost two of nine games and are currently just one point off the lead in the NHL's eastern Division.

The Seals have suffered two straight losses against Eastern Division teams at home, losing 3-1 to Detroit and 5-2 to Toronto.

In addition, the Seals yesterday sent veteran left winger Gene Ubriaco down to their Providence farm club for a minimum of 14 days, saying they wanted to give him more playing time so he could get in top shape.

A big factor in the Rangers' success contains Walt Tkaczuk, Bill Fairbairn and Dave Balon. In their last six games, this trio has scored eight goals and registered 12 assists.

Look Out For Mussels, They Can Be Poisonous

I received a notice from the State Department of Public Health in which an extension of the mussel quarantine is ordered.

Said the notice:

"During September, two outbreaks of mussel poisoning involving 15 persons occurred following ingestion of toxic mussels taken at Shelter Cove, Humboldt County, and Mendocino Bay, Mendocino County. Surveillance during October has shown continuing and unusually high toxin levels in mussels from points along the northern and central California coast.

"To date, only mussels have yielded increased toxin levels; however, few claims or oyster samples have been submitted for testing. Because of the high toxin levels in mussels, the annual state-wide mussel quarantine is being extended beyond the usual termination date of Oct. 31 for an indefinite period. Termination of the quarantine will be determined by results of subsequent sampling and testing of shellfish."

IN HOLMES BAY and Drake's Bay, oyster checks showed no toxin detected. Shelter Cove and the Fort Bragg areas showed high toxin levels on mussels.

From this report, it is dangerous to eat any mussels at all; clams should be cleaned, with the black parts discarded.

The market crab season opens Tuesday. I know of no particular worry about toxin affecting crabs, and crabs are considered safe for human consumption. The limit on crabs for sportsmen is 10 per person with a minimum size of 6¼ inches, measured by the shortest distance through the body from edge of the shell to edge of shell directly from the front of the points (lateral spines). Only males may be taken. Tomales market crabs are illegal to take.

A SWELL SERIES of late afternoon abalone tides begins tomorrow. The shellfish quarantine does not apply to abalones, as only the white muscle meat is eaten, which is not toxic.

Snipe hunting — the type that's done with a shotgun rather than a flashlight and gunnysack — opens its California season tomorrow. The season will continue through Saturday, Dec. 27, with a daily bag limit of eight jacksnipe, and a possession limit of 16.

WEDNESDAY, Norm Qladros of Mill Valley and I went to Grey Lodge near Yuba City, one of the state's public shooting areas for waterfowl. Norm had put in an application for the area and was lucky enough to have his name drawn.

We left Tuesday evening in the station wagon, taking sleeping bags, etc. for a night of waiting in the car. An application, if drawn, permits two hunters to get into the area, so I was invited to go along.

At 4:09 a.m., two hours before shooting time, one of the game managers of the area woke us up. We each paid our $3.50 fee, then drove out to one of the parking lots in the area. It was raining, so we stayed in the car until 5:30 a.m., instead of trying to locate a pond for our decoys in the dark. Just before shooting time, we located a pond, put the decoys out and waited.

SHOOTING TIME came and went, with just one teal hitting the decoys. I knocked down the teal but was unable to find it.

The cover is so dense with tules that marking a downed bird is most essential or it will be lost. A good retriever is a great help. After an hour or so we moved to a new location, but with the same results, no birds. A few flew by, but were much too high. I did nail a mallard that fell at my feet, and that was our bird for the day! Norm fired three shots, I fired seven, and we stayed until 2 p.m.

The birds per hunter average for last Sunday was 1.1 bird per hunter. Two-hundred-and-five hunters took 232 birds, which is a pretty sad average. If you do decide to try one of the waterfowl areas, take a folding camp chair because standing in six inches of water sure gets tiresome, and if you have a dog, take him too.

And if you don't skyscrape, (shooting at ducks too high), maybe the guy next to you won't either — it's a tough game! We figured the one mallard cost us $18; maybe we should have it mounted.

Sonoma State Grid Shakeup

There will be some new faces in the Sonoma State College Football lineup tomorrow when the Cossacks tangle with the Chico State College junior varsity team at Chico.

After looking at the game films of last Friday's 28-6 loss to the University of Santa Clara J. V. team, Sonoma State head coach Lloyd Helgeson did some shaking up of his offensive team.

SEARS PRAISED

Bob Sears, former prepster at Novato High, drew high praise from Helgeson for his interception of two passes in last Friday's game, running one of them back for a touchdown. "And he's only a freshman," noted Helgeson.

The Sonoma State coaching staff knows little about the Chico junior varsity team, but knows the varsity team at Chico State is very tough, the best team that school has had in 10 years.

Chico State's varsity win-loss record is 6-2, including a 20-10 upset of Humboldt State, which was ranked fifth small college team in the country at the time.

San Marin Fights To Stay Alive In Marin Grid Race

Two teams, one out of the running, the other just barely hanging on, will meet in a Marin County Athletic League football tussle at San Rafael High School tonight at 8 o'clock.

That's when San Rafael High which was knocked out of the MCAL title race by Redwood last week, and San Marin, which received a severe jolt at the hands of Terra Linda last Saturday, get together.

San Rafael's 25-7 loss to Redwood was its second league defeat and eliminated the Bulldogs. The Mustangs' 22-6 loss to Terra Linda was their first of the season. Another loss would finish them off.

The Mustangs are still licking their wounds. Guard George Franklin is out with a severely twisted ankle, fullback-linebacker Jack Burnam has a broken finger and reserve tackle Marshall Lee is out for the year with torn ligaments. Defensive backs Mike Kassenbrock and Mike Van Horn are doubtful with pull muscles, same as guard Bill Eckoff.

San Rafael is healthy, but subdued.

Tomales '11' Eyes League Grid Title

Tomales High School's once-beaten football team tries to clinch at least a tie for its third straight North Central League football title when it visits Upper Lake at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Coach Jim Kovalick's squad has won six in a row, including two league games, since losing its season opener to El Molino of Forestville.

Elsewhere, Tamalpais High School, after tasting a league victory for the first time last week, steps out of Marin County Athletic League action with a game against Balboa at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium at 8 o'clock tonight; Marin Catholic tries to even its record against generally tough St. Elizabeth's of Oakland at Oakland tomorrow at 2 p.m.; San Rafael Military Academy was to host Emery in a Bay Counties League tussle at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon.

End Of A Long Year For Drake Gridders

Drake High School's once-victorious football team will end a long, long season tomorrow at 2 p.m. when it visits the Hornets, at Novato High School in a battle of Marin County Athletic League also-rans.

Both teams have a marked inability to score, but Novato's defense, headed by linebacker Dave Perron, has been tougher. Drake's defense has been porous more than once.

INSTANT FAMILY

Lebanese Girls, 5, Become Citizens

Two five-year-old Lebanese girls, who once faced a bleak childhood in a Beirut orphanage, have become American citizens in U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

The dark-eyed little girls, who look like twins, were adopted by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Robert B. Rankin of Mill Valley in November 1964 while the colonel was stationed in Ankara, Turkey with the U.S. Army.

The Rankins chose their daughters, then 4 and 8 months old, from 70 children at the Creche of St. Vincent de Paul Orphanage. Mrs. Rankin, a former major in the Woman's Army Corps, recalls she was enchanted by the babies' "wonderful smiles."

The adoption was a speedy affair, requiring only five days, since adoptions in Lebanon are legalized by church authorities and red tape is at a minimum.

When the adoption was final, the Rankins returned to Ankara with their "instant family," to spend two more years in Turkey. The girls were admitted to the U.S. outside of normal immigration quotas, when the family returned to this country in 1967.

The family settled in Mill Valley, at 44 Millay Place, after Rankin's retirement from the Army at Fort Monroe, Va. The two little girls, kindergarten students at Alto School, delight in showing their parents the work and pictures they have done in school.

Rankin summed up his feelings by saying he and his wife are "so very happy to have them; they are our own."

BELVEDERE — Chantal Pearlman, 35 Cove Road.

KENTFIELD — Johanna J. Blok, 36 Rosebank Avenue.

MILL VALLEY — Mrs. Anne M. Dowley, 162 Lark Lane; Marie J. Rudd, 210 Manor Drive; Luis A. Uriarte, 100 Kipling Drive.

SAUSALITO — Mrs. Kathe I.I. Thayer, 804 Spring Street.

TIBURON — Mrs. Bernadette M. O'Malley, 529 Comstock Drive.

St. Vincent's Yule Art Show Planned

The annual Christmas Art Show at St. Vincent's School for Boys will be held Nov. 22 and 23 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Most of the art work exhibited at the school north of San Rafael will be for sale with all proceeds going to the student artists to use for Christmas, the school announced today.

College Classes At Air Base Set

Four courses for three units of college credit will be offered at Hamilton Air Force Base by the Golden Gate College from Nov. 17 through Jan. 23 at the base education center.

They are: business law II with Donald Weight, instructor, and college algebra with Donald Duncan, instructor, both on Mondays and Wednesdays; marketing with Frank Gonchar, instructor and American politics with Michael Stublarec, instructor on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

All classes will be from 6:30 to 9 p.m., except marketing which will be from 7 to 9:30 p.m. There is a tuition fee for each course.

Rev. Redeker Appointed To College Board

The Rev. Norman M. Redeker of Napa has been appointed to the Sonoma State College advisory board, college president Ambrose R. Nichols has announced.

Each of the state colleges, by action of the legislature, has an advisory board composed of citizens representing the areas served by the college. Napa had not been represented on the board prior to Reverend Redeker's appointment by the state college trustees.

The father of two, he is pastor at St. John's Lutheran Church, Napa. Rev. Redeker received his bachelor's degree in 1957 from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo.

Other members of the advisory board are chairman Peter H. Behr of Mill Valley, Mrs. E. W. Hartzell of Sonoma, Nathan C. Thompson of Petaluma, Edwin V. Grundstrom of Novato, W. Baird Anton of Lakeport, Judge A. B. Broaddus of Ukiah, Dr. Edward G. Lopez and Richard L. Payne of Vallejo, Dr. Bradford W. Lundborg and Judge John H. Moskowitz of Santa Rosa.

Subdivision Planned Near Tomales Park

The 316-acre parcel of land, one mile north of the park and about six miles north of Inverness, would be sliced into 63 separate lots, of a minimum two acres, according to James B. McKenney, of Kentfield, associated in the project.

The land is owned by Robert D. Marshall, a San Rafael attorney, who also owns the Laguna Ranch near Point Reyes Station. Both holdings are within the proposed Point Reyes National Seashore.

The proposed subdivision would be provided with a private marina and riding stable, McKenney explained and would be a recreation-oriented development.

Even though the land is within the park boundary, McKenney commented that it would be the last piece the government would buy because of its location.

This week McKenney, Joy R. Cail and Bruce W. Stilson, both of San Rafael applied to the secretary of state for the incorporation of a water company to service the subdivision. The three were named as directors of the Laird's Landing Mutual Water Company.

Plans for the subdivision should be presented to the Marin County Planning Commission in two weeks, McKenney said.

Novato Car Body Shop Approved

The Novato Plan Review Committee yesterday approved plans to alter an existing building at 1012 First Street for an automobile body shop.

Anthony Valim had submitted the plans to alter the back portion of the Viking Bar into an automobile body shop. The building originally had been a commercial garage

The committee approved three signs for Novato Toyota, at the Northwest corner of Highway 101 and Olive Avenue, according to planning director Brian W. Mattson.

The committee approved plans of the City of Novato to construct offices between the two houses that now comprise the Novato Police Station.

Vineyard Capital

ST. HELENA (UPI) — The community is considered the vineyard capital of California with 14 wineries within the city limits and 26 more within a radius of six miles.

Volkswagen Medi-car:

When you bring home a new baby, you take him back for a series of check-ups: To spot any problems before they can become big problems.
We call our plan Medi-car.
When a check-up itself comes due, you can get it wherever you happen to be.
Because every Volkswagen Dealer has the special equipment.
But now there's Medi-car.
Taken as directed, it can help your VW live to 100,000.
